Poison Poker Pistols:

Poison, Poker and Pistols Elisabet M. Stone, 2014-08-18 Margaret Slone doesn't like being called Maggie so that's exactly what her city editor calls her. Wise cracking quick tempered Maggie has a nose for news and a finely developed faculty for finding trouble which begin to operate simultaneously when Ned McGowan a brilliant physician and notorious philanderer is found dead in his hotel room. The medico claimed that the victim had been dead for at least fifteen hours as rigor mortis was advanced. But Maggie knows differently she had talked to Ned a mere seven hours before. This strange unsolved murder catapults Maggie off on a round of combined news hawking and detection that takes her all over New Orleans and deep into the bayous. There is a great maze of mystery surrounding Ned McGowan's life further complicated by his many women: enigmatic Lili Cheng, wealthy Marta Dellman, Lucille the nurse, and Olivette not to mention Maggie's own sister Vangie who becomes so suspect she's jailed by the fumbling Detective Beton. In her quest to get to the bottom of the mystery, Maggie stumbles across the body of a beautiful young woman in the gloom of an old French Quarter house. Close on the heels of this gruesome discovery she is more perplexed than ever by the sudden disappearance of a second young woman and the shooting of a man seemingly as far removed from the case as he is from the moon. Peppery Maggie Slone must talk her way into trouble and out again to clear her sister's name and get the real story behind a completely baffling murder case.

Mystery Women, Volume One (Revised) Colleen Barnett, 2011-12-31 Many bibliographers focus on women who write. Lawyer Barnett looks at women who detect, at women as sleuths, and at the evolving roles of women in professions and in society. Excellent for all women's studies programs as well as for the mystery hound. Mystery Women Colleen A. Barnett, 1997 Murder at the Mardi Gras Elisabet M. Stone, 2014-06-16 Maggie Slone, fast talking newspaper reporter, covered a special assignment in Gaston Villiere's renowned caf Le Coq d'Or on Mardi Gras night. Along with a good meal she got an earful of a melodramatic conversation at a nearby table. At the table were two couples. One pair, a blond young man and a green eyed glamour girl, have a row and break up the party. The next day Maggie is assigned to cover a suicide: the blond young man of the night before. Odd circumstances shroud his death and even as the reporter tries to fit the puzzle together, the green eyed Nita is found garroted in a patio in the French Quarter just behind the home of the Pacellis, a poor Italian family. Maggie's attempts to solve the murder carry her into strange situations including a powwow with a group of people which includes one man who seems determined to imprison her. When little Tina Pacelli is kidnapped, Maggie gets down to brass tacks and walks smack into trouble and more murder. The riotous color of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, the fast paced excitement of the newspaper office, and Maggie's talent for trouble are all come together in this thrilling novel. Events move with lightning speed striking into the heart of a man where hate born of hurt has smoldered for years, finally breaking out in a flame of murder.
