Polar Icebreaker Roles and U.S. Future Needs National Research Council, Transportation Research Board, Marine Board, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Polar Research Board, Committee on the Assessment of U.S. Coast Guard Polar Icebreaker Roles and Future Needs, 2006-01-08 The age and condition of the U S Coast Guard s polar icebreakers are jeopardizing national security and scientific research in the Arctic and Antarctic according to an interim report from the National Academies Because of a shortfall in funding for U S polar icebreaking activities long term maintenance on these icebreakers has been deferred over the past several years making the ships inefficient to operate and their technological systems outdated Congress asked the National Academies to provide a comprehensive assessment of the current and future roles of U S Coast Guard polar icebreakers in supporting U S operations in the Antarctic and the Arctic including scenarios for continuing those operations and alternative approaches the changes in roles and missions of polar icebreakers in the support of all national priorities in the polar regions and potential changes in the roles of U S Coast Guard icebreakers in the Arctic that may develop due to environmental change This brief interim report highlights the most urgent and time dependent issues and a final report expected to be released next summer will examine the type and number of icebreaking ships that the U S requires in the long term and other issues Polar Icebreakers in a Changing World National Research Council, Transportation Research Board, Marine Board, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Polar Research Board, Committee on the Assessment of U.S. Coast Guard Polar Icebreaker Roles and Future Needs, 2007-03-14 The United States has enduring national and strategic interests in the polar regions including citizens living above the Arctic circle and three year round scientific stations in the Antarctic Polar icebreaking ships are needed to access both regions Over the past several decades the U S government has supported a fleet of four icebreakers three multi mission U S Coast Guard ships the POLAR SEA POLAR STAR and HEALY and the National Science Foundation s PALMER which is dedicated solely to scientific research Today the POLAR STAR and the POLAR SEA are at the end of their service lives and a lack of funds and no plans for an extension of the program has put U S icebreaking capability at risk This report concludes that the United States should continue to support its interests in the Arctic and Antarctic for multiple missions including maintaining leadership in polar science The report recommends that the United States immediately program budget design and construct two new polar icebreakers to be operated by the U S Coast Guard The POLAR SEA should remain mission capable and the POLAR STAR should remain available for reactivation until the new polar icebreakers enter service The U S Coast Guard should be provided sufficient operations and maintenance budget to support an increased regular and influential presence in the Arctic with support from other agencies The report also calls for a Presidential Decision Directive to clearly align agency responsibilities and budgetary authorities National Academy of Science [sic] icebreaker report : hearing ,

Polar Star and Polar Sea have exceeded their intended 30 year service lives Potential policy issues for Congress regarding CG polar icebreaker modernization include the numbers and capabilities of polar icebreakers the CG will need in the future whether to provide these icebreakers through construction of new ships or service life extensions of Polar Star and or Polar Sea whether new ships should be funded entirely in the Coast Guard budget or partly or entirely in some other part of the fed budget and whether the Polar Star should be repaired and placed back into service Charts and tables
