Ferguson, 1996-02-15 The work of the linguist Charles A Ferguson spans more than three decades and is remarkable for having been consistently at the forefront of scholarship on the relationship between language and society This volume collects his most influential and seminal papers each having expanded the parameters of sociolinguistics and the sociology of language Taken together they cover a wide range of topics and issues and more importantly reflect the intellectual progress of a founder of the sociolinguistic field The volume is divided thematically into four sections and an introduction by Thom Huebner outlines the evolution of Ferguson's ideas and the impact they have had on other scholars This book is essential reading for everyone interested in the field of sociolinguistics Agency and Impersonality Mutsumi Yamamoto, 2006-01-01 In this monograph the author probes the fundamental nature of the concept of agency and its importance to human language and cognition Whereas previous studies focused on grammatical manifestations this original work addresses such issues as the strong relationship between agency and responsibility a philosophical interpretation of the concept of agency and a variety of epistemic attitudes towards agency that strongly influence our view of the world Different cultures and languages process and express agency differently To illustrate the co relation between the linguistic expressions of agency and cultural stereotypes that lurk behind individual natural languages the author analyses Japanese and English parallel corpora It is shown that English tends to highlight agency in expressing actions and events whereas Japanese largely obfuscates agency through impersonalising potential agents Through the case studies on these languages this book sheds light on the close connection between language thought and culture and contributes to the resurging interest in linguistic relativity
