Politica Y Sociedad Entre Dos Epocas:

Política y sociedad entre dos épocas Manuel Antonio Garretón Merino, 2000 Sociólogo formado en la Universidad Católica de Santiago y Doctorado en la B4Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales Paris Sus temas principales de trabajo académico han sido sociología política democratizaciones y transiciones Estado y sociedad regímenes autoritarios partidos políticos universidad y educación superior opinión pública y demandas sociales teoría sociológica política públicas Fue Profesor de la Facultad latinoamericana de Ciencias Sociales FLACSO Chile 1975 1995 Decano de Sociología de la Universidad Academia de Humanismo Cristiano 1990 1992 Asesor Jefe del Ministro de Educación 1990 1994 y Director del Departamento de Sociología de la Facultad de Ciencias Sociales Universidad de Chile 1994 1996 El fenómeno principal que atraviesa América latina hoy día y que afecta diferencialmente a los países que la integran es la desarticulación de las relaciones entre Estado y sociedad que la caracterizaron desde los años treinta con lo que ello implica de cambio en el modo de inserción en el mundo y en el modelo de desarrollo Esta descomposición puede ser permanente o puede dar lugar a recomposiciones y se realiza a través de cuatro procesos interrelacionados pero autónomos y a la política corresponde su coordinación la democratización política la superación de las desigualdades y las exclusiones la reinserción no dependiente en la economía globalizada y la construcción de un modelo de modernidad que combine la racionalidad la subjetividad y la memoria histórica El estudio de las transformaciones del sistema político y sus relaciones con el conjunto de la sociedad en América latina en este contexto constituyen los temas centrales de este libro Estos trabajos son herederos de una tradición intelectual la sociología latinoamericana y el pensamiento social chileno y por lo tanto de su trayectoria A su vez son un intento de escapar del ideologismo y de los determinismos que los atravesaron Son una búsqueda a la vez compro

Evaluation Voices from Latin America Saville Kushner, Emma Rotondo, 2012-06-14 Hear from evaluation practitioners throughout Latin America In this region program evaluation is an emergent practice one that is shaped by distinctive geopolitical and social contexts and has its own intellectual biography Through a selection of writings and cases this issue provides a window on program evaluation in this region The articles indicate a range of experiences and concerns that respond to the countries unique histories and cultures Articles by evaluators from Argentina Brazil Chile Colombia Costa Rica and Peru illustrate new directions and are grouped around the following themes Strategic use of evaluation in public policies and active citizenship Innovative project evaluation examples Evaluation capacity building and institutionalization The widespread development of participatory or actor oriented approaches based on qualitative methodologies that have a particularly Latin American stamp are emphasized in this issue This is the 134th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation an official publication of the American Evaluation Association Democracy, Agency, and the State Guillermo O'Donnell, 2010-06-24 Democracy Agency and the State aims to contribute to a comparatively informed theory of democracy Professor O'Donnell begins by arguing that conceptions of the state and democracy and their respective defining features significantly influence each other Using an approach that is both historical and analytical he traces this relationship through the idea of legally sanctioned and backed agency which grounds democratic citizenship From this standpoint he explores several aspects of the democratic regime and of the state distinguishing four constitutive dimensions bureaucracy legality focus of collective identity and filter He goes on to examine the role played by the idea of the nation or the people and the ways in which the state represents itself to different sections of society especially in countries marred by deep inequality and pervasive poverty Drawing on the examples of democratic and non democratic regime he discusses the dialogical spaces congenial to democracy as well as examining the options that may or may not enable agency and the complex comparative and ethical issues raised by the intersection of agency with globalization and legal pluralism Throughout these discussions several comparative vistas are opened especially but not exclusively toward Latin America The book concludes by offering a justification of democracy even of the flawed democracies that nowadays abound Oxford Studies in Democratization is a series for scholars and students of comparative politics and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on the comparative study of the democratization process that accompanied the decline and termination of the cold war The geographical focus of the series is primarily Latin America the Caribbean Southern and Eastern Europe and relevant experiences in Africa and Asia The series editor is Laurence Whitehead Official Fellow Nuffield College University of Oxford

Incomplete Democracy Manuel Antonio Garretón, 2004-07-21 One of Latin America's leading sociologists Manuel Antonio Garretón explores contemporary challenges to democratization in Latin America in this work originally published in Spanish in 1995 He pays particular attention to the example of Chile analyzing the country's return to democracy and its hopes for continued prosperity following the 1973 coup that overthrew democratically elected president Salvador Allende Garretón contends that the period of democratic crisis and authoritarian rule that characterized much of Latin America in the 1960s and 1970s was symptomatic of a larger breakdown in the way society and government worked A new era emerged in Chile at the end of the twentieth century Garretón argues an era that partakes of the great changes afoot in the larger world This edition updates Garretón's analysis of developments in Chile considering the administration of current president Ricardo Lagos The author concludes with an exploration of future prospects for democracy in Latin America

Latin America after the Neoliberal Debacle Ximena de la Barra, Richard A. Dello Buono, 2009-01-16 Latin America after the Neoliberal Debacle studies the crippling problems that plague civilian democracies in the region Ximena de la Barra and Richard Dello Buono draw on their extensive first hand knowledge of Latin America to provide a rich analysis of why the needs of the region are too often put second to powerful foreign interests In particular they look at the shortcomings of the neoliberal development model combining a broad historical overview with analysis of critical issues today In a region that displays some of the worst social disparities in the world popular movements have begun to confront the forces of domination Their struggles for social justice have proposed new political agendas that in some cases dovetail with the new generation of progressive leaders fueling important social changes The authors argue that genuine development free of dependency can only be achieved in the context of a more profound democratization and new forms of regional integration This interdisciplinary study will be useful for students scholars and general readers concerned with the past present and particularly the future of this important region

Sociology of Constitutions Alberto Febbrajo, Giancarlo Corsi, 2016-05-05 This collection brings together some of the most influential sociologists of law to confront the challenges of current transnational constitutionalism It shows the constitution appearing in a new light no longer as an essential factor of unity and stabilisation but as a potential defence of pluralism and innovation The first part of the book is devoted to the analysis of the concept of constitution highlighting the elements that can contribute from a socio legal perspective to clarifying the principle meanings attributed to the constitution The study goes on to analyse some concrete aspects of the functioning of constitutions in contemporary society In applying Luhmann s General Systems Theory to a comparative analysis of the concept of constitution the work contributes to a better understanding of this traditional concept in both its institutionalised and functional aspects Defining the constitution s contents and functions both at the conceptual level and by taking empirical issues of particular comparative interest into account this study will be of importance to scholars and students of sociology of law sociology of politics and comparative public law

Assessing Judicial Reforms in Developing Countries Juan Carlos Oyanedel, 2019-04-23 This book examines how judicial reform can be effectively assessed through a procedural justice approach It provides a practical framework for assessment of judicial reform examining a successful reform in Chile through large scale surveys and longitudinal research Judicial reform is a key element to democratization and modernization processes in the developing world Practitioners have struggled with ways to analyze the effects of judicial reform and to define success Procedural justice theorists propose that people will obey the law if they consider it fair this affects willingness to collaborate with the police and the courts and the general approach that the public has towards social regulations Judicial reforms such as criminal procedure reforms which explicitly guarantee the development of a fairer judicial process represent a scenario that puts these theoretical assumptions to the test With policy recommendations and applications for international judicial reform this book tests the real conditions of a procedural justice approach with empirical assessment and analysis With implications for Latin America and countries undergoing judicial or political reforms worldwide this book will be an important resource for researchers policy makers and all those interested in the analysis of judicial reforms democratization processes and the psychology of justice
