ABSTRACT

The West Bengal government passed amendment to the panchayat law introducing one third reservations for women, including Schedule Cast/Schedule Tribe (SC/ST) women, at all three tiers of the panchayati raj system. The first election with such reservation was held in year 1993. The present paper is an attempt to look into the women's participation in Panchayati Raj Institution. The main objective is to study how women members are able to and to what extent occupy seats of Panchayat Raj Institution. It also examines the position of lower class women in Panchayat Raj Institution. The study is based on results of various panchayati level elections in West Bengal and primary evidences collected from women pradhans and deputy pradhans in various gram panchayats of Haldibari block of Coochbehar district (as per 2008 election). The study reveals that political participation of women has increased in village panchayat level and extent of participation of SC women has been more than 33%. Out of 62 gram panchayats seats, 24 (38.70%) are won by female members. Out of 24 female members 18 members (75 %) come from SC community. In Permeckligarj and Uttar Bara Haldibari gram panchayat all women members are from SC community. So the study revealed that women belong to lower class community have greater chance in decision making process.

INTRODUCTION

Panchayats have been the backbone of the Indian villages since the beginning of recorded history. In 1946 Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, the father of the India nation had aptly remarked that the Indian independence must begin at the bottom and every village ought to be a republic or Panchayat having powers. Gandhiji's dream has been translated into reality with the introduction of the three-tier Panchayati Raj system to ensure people's participation in rural reconstruction. For the interest of the weaker sections of the population including women, SCs, and STs, an amendment in the constitution of India took place in the year 1992. This 73rd amendment act marks a new era in the federal democratic set up of the country and provides constitutional status to the Panchayati Raj Institutions (PRIs). The main features of the act are (i) A 3-tier system of Panchayati Raj for all states having population of over 20 lakh. (ii) Panchayat elections regularly in every 5 years. (iii) Reservation of seats for SC, ST and women (not less than 33% of seats). (iv) Appointment of state Finance Commission to make recommendations as regards the financial powers of the Panchayats and (v) Constitution of districts planning committees to prepare development plans for the district as a whole (Anonymous, 2002 and Ganguly, 2003).

The 73rd and 74th Amendments of the Constitution have impacted nearly 600 million Indian people in 500,000 villages. Interestingly the percentage of women at various levels of political activity has risen from 4-5% to 25-40%. Both nationally as well as at the state and local levels women in elected bodies have been very few and even those who have been elected when observed from closer quarters present a complex picture (Chandra, 2007). Empowerment of women is essentially the process of up-liftment of economic, social and political status of women who are traditionally underprivileged ones in the society. It involves the building up of a
