Political Partnerships Neighborhood Residents And Their Council Members:

Political Partnerships Jeffrey L. Davidson, 1979-07 With the neighbourhood as his basic unit of analysis Davidson examines the type of issue that is likely to lead to mobilization and discovers that the issues are highly proximate ones with strong effects on the daily lives of people in the immediate locale but with little significance for the city as a whole His focus is on how people mobilize on the process by which apolitical people acquire and use political resources and on the lasting political relationships that result

The Unseen Politics of Public Housing Tiffany Gayle Chenault, 2015-08-15 The Department of Housing and Urban Development HUD emphasizes the word community for building economic development citizen participations and revitalization of facilities and services in urban and rural areas Resident Councils are one way to develop and build community among residents of public housing Despite HUD stressing community building in public housing and investing money and policies around it there are some resident councils that are not fulfilling the expectations of HUD This book is my attempt to describe and explain HUD s expectations for the resident council as an active agent for community building and the actual practices of the resident council I argue that policies and regulations of resident councils which exist to support the effectiveness of the resident council in creating and implementing community building self sufficiency and empowerment activities and goals in a public housing community may do more harm than good The Department of Housing and Urban Development invests and spends billions on Public Housing Programs 6.6 billion in 2013 The majority of the 12 million people who live in public housing do not live in large urban areas with thousands of people confined to a certain space The majority of public housing units 90% have fewer than 500 units These smaller units and the people that live in them tend to go unnoticed This ethnographic case study focuses on explaining and understanding the factors and constraints that exist between HUD s expectations for the resident council as an active agent for community building and the actual practices of the resident council To explain the disjunction in fact to determine if such disjunctions identified by Rivertown council members are real Using the tenets of Critical Race Theory allows us to understand what forces either real or imagined structural or cultural prevent the resident council from being an effective agent for change in the public housing community

Community Builders Gordana Rabrenovic, 2010-04-20 Addressing relevant urban issues a careful look at the relationships between neighborhood associations and development Holding Bureaucrats Accountable Lana Stein,1991 Lana Stein looks at the taxing question of how to make bureaucracies responsible to elected officials Stein carefully scrutinizes St Louis bureaucracy distinguishing those agencies that are responsive to elected officials from those that are not On the responsive side for example she cites the Traffic Division of the Department of Streets which has erected about 1 000 four way stop signs compared to 34 in Kansas City because the aldermen responding to parents concerned about the safety of their street crossing kids demanded them Similarly she finds that building inspectors are responsive to aldermen s requests that individual buildings receive priority attention To tenants worried about unsafe living conditions that s an important and meaningful gesture
