Political Economy Of African Famine:

The Political Economy of African Famine R. E. Downs, Donna O. Kerner, Stephen P. Reyna, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1991 This volume explores the combination of political and economic forces that influence different levels of food supply The book begins with a discussion of famine theories ranging from cultural ecology to neo Marxism Following this survey is a series of essays by anthropologists geographers economists and development practitioners that explores the role of Western institutions in African famine analyzes famine in particular countries and documents the relationship between famine and gender This book takes an unusually broad look at famine by including analyses of countries where hunger has rarely been studied and by examining African famine from both African and Western perspectives Its concluding proposals for eradicating famine make innovative and provocative contributions to current global debates on food and nutrition

The Political Economy of African Famine R. E. Downs, Donna O. Kerner, Stephen P. Reyna, 1991 Political Economy of Hunger Jean Drèze, Amartya Sen, 1991-02-21 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 3.0 IGO licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations WIDER The World Institute for Development Economics Research established in 1984 started work in Helsinki in 1985 with the financial support of the Government of Finland The principal purpose of the Institute is to help identify and meet the need for policy oriented socio economic research on pressing global and development problems and their inter relationships WIDER's research projects are grouped into three main themes hunger and poverty money finance and trade and development and technological transformation Volume II deals with famine prevention paying particular attention to sub Saharan Africa The topics covered include the problems of early warning and early action the politics of famine prevention the influence of market responses the role of cash support and employment provision in protecting threatened food entitlements and long term issues of reduction of famine vulnerability In addition to general analyses the book contains a number of case studies of failures and successes in famine prevention both in South Asia and in sub Saharan Africa

The Political Economy of Hunger: Volume 2: Famine Prevention Jean Drèze, Amartya Sen, 1990 Part of a major report on world hunger instigated by the World Institute for Development Economics Research this volume deals with possible solutions to the problem of regular outbreaks of famine in various parts of the world Famine in Africa von Braun, Joachim, Teklu, Tesfaye, Webb, Patrick, 1999-01-01 Though famine has affected many parts of the world in the twentieth century the conditions that produce famine extreme poverty armed conflict economic and political turmoil and climate shocks are now most prevalent in Africa Researchers differ on how to address this problem effectively but their arguments are often not informed by empirical analysis from a famine context Broadening current theories and models of development for conquering famine Famine in Africa grounds its findings in long term empirical research especially on the impact of famine on households and markets The authors present the results of field work and other research from numerous parts of Africa with a particular focus on Botswana Ethiopia Niger Rwanda Sudan and Zimbabwe With these data the authors explain the factors that cause famines and assess efforts to mitigate and prevent them Famine in Africa is an important resource for international development specialists students and policymakers Political Economy of Hunger Jean Drèze, Amartya Sen, 1991-10-17 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 3.0 IGO licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations WIDER The World Institute for Development Economics Research established in 1984 started work in Helsinki in 1985 with the financial support of the Government of Finland The principal purpose of the Institute is to help identify and meet the need for policy oriented socio economic research on pressing global and development problems and their inter relationships WIDER's research projects are grouped into three main themes hunger and poverty money finance and trade and development and technological transformation Volume III deals with the strategic options for the elimination of endemic hunger The topics covered include the comparative extent of hunger and deprivation in different parts of the world the influence of food production the interconnections between economic growth and public support the role of economic diversification in reducing vulnerability the potential impact of direct public provisioning on living standards and the politics of public action In addition to general analyses the book examines the international relevance of a number of specific country experiences in Asia Africa and Latin America including those of China India Sri Lanka Brazil Kenya Bangladesh and Nigeria The Political Economy of Hunger: Volume 3: Endemic Hunger Jean Drèze, Amartya Sen, 1990 Part of a major report on world hunger instigated by the World Institute for Development Economics Research this volume deals with possible solutions to the problem of regular outbreaks of famine in various parts of the world The Benefits of Famine David Keen, 2008 Who benefits from famine When is famine part of a national strategy David Keen's pioneering study revealed how a network of government officials merchants transport owners and militia members profited from the Sudan's famine of the late 1980s The 1988 famine was a dress rehearsal for Darfur A similar network of beneficiaries operates in Darfur today BOOK JACKET Targeting hunger or votes? The political economy of humanitarian transfers in Malawi Duchoslav, Jan, Kenamu, Edwin, Thunde, Jack, 2022-10-07 Do electoral considerations play a role in the targeting of humanitarian transfers We analyze the targeting of direct cash and food transfers distributed in Malawi in response to an exceptionally poor harvest following a late and erratic rainy season of 2015/16 Combining household survey data on transfers with a remotely sensed measure of drought and with the results of the 2014 and 2019 parliamentary elections we show that transfers were disproportionately targeted at marginal constituencies Rather than distributing the transfers based solely on need or mobilizing its tribal base the government attempted to persuade swing voters to support its candidates in the next elections We find no evidence that this strategy was successful at increasing the vote of ruling party candidates in subsequent elections Famine and Survival Strategies Dessalegn Rahmato, 1991 What do peasants do in the face of severe food crisis and ecological stress and how do they manage to survive on their own This study revolves around a case study conducted by the author in the awraja district in the Ambassel Wollo province in northeastern Ethiopia This is in the region that was hit hardest by the 1984 85 famine which Rahmato calls the worst tragedy rural Ethiopia had ever experienced The author also critically examines other literature on famine response The focus of this study is on what happens before famine comes and how the peasants prepare for it From a wealth of evidence the author concludes that the seeds of famine are sown during the years of recovery
