Political Discourse and Conflict Resolution Katy Hayward, Catherine O'Donnell, 2010-10-04 This book offers new insights into the close relationship between political discourses and conflict resolution through critical analysis of the role of discursive change in a peace process Just as a peace process has many dimensions and stakeholders so the discourses considered here come from a wide range of sources and actors The book contains in depth analyses of official discourses used to present the peace process the discourses of political party leaders engaging or otherwise with it the discourses of community level activists responding to it and the discourses of the media and the academy commenting on it These discourses reflect varying levels of support for the peace process from obstruction to promotion and the role of language in moving across this spectrum according to issue and occasion Common to all these analyses is the conviction that the language used by political protagonists and cultural stakeholders has a profound effect on progression towards peace Bringing together leading experts on Northern Ireland's peace process from a range of academic disciplines including political science sociology linguistics history geography law and peace studies this book offers new insights into the discursive dynamics of violent political conflict and its resolution

The Healing of Nations Mark R. Amstutz, 2005 How does one forgive an international political transgression as deep as genocide or apartheid Forgiveness is often conceived of as an element of personal morality and even at that it is difficult This book argues that it is also an essential part of political ethics especially when dealing with collective wrongdoing by political regimes In the past a retributive justice demanding prosecution and punishment of all past offenses has kept the international community away from moving on to the next step in regime change Here Mark R Amstutz takes a restorative justice approach calling for nations to account for crimes through truth commissions public apology and repentance reparations and ultimately forgiveness and the lifting of deserved penalties The distinctive feature of forgiveness is the balance it strikes between backward looking accountability and forward looking reconciliation The Healing of Nations combines a theory of the role of forgiveness in public life with four key case studies that test this ethic Argentina Chile Northern Ireland and South Africa Amstutz uses the hard cases to illustrate the promise and limits of forgiving without forgetting

The Politics of Trauma and Peace-Building Cillian McGrattan, 2015-10-23 In marked contrast to literary historical and cultural studies there has been a limited engagement with the concepts and politics of trauma by political science and peacebuilding research This book explores the debate on trauma and peacebuilding and presents the challenges for democratization that the politics of trauma present in transitional periods It demonstrates how ideas about reconciliation are filtered through ideological lenses and become new ways of articulating communal and ethno nationalist sentiments Drawing on the work of Jacques Rancière and Iris Marion Young and with specific reference to the Northern Irish transition it argues for a shift in focus from the representation of trauma towards its reception and calls for a more substantive approach to the study of democracy and post conflict peacebuilding This text will be of interest to scholars and students of peace and conflict studies ethnic and nationalism studies transitional justice studies gender studies Irish politics nationalism and ethnicity
