and Careers throughout Academic Life Jesús F Galaz-Fontes, Akira Arimoto, Ulrich Teichler, John Brennan, 2016-06-01 The book draws on the 2007 Changing Academic Profession international survey in order to document the personal characteristics career trajectories sense of identity commitment and job satisfaction of academics in 14 countries with different levels of economic and social development and different higher education systems With nearly 26 000 academics surveyed in 19 countries of which 14 are reporting their results in this volume the empirical basis of the book is the most up to date and far reaching in the area With major changes taking place both in the local and global contexts of higher education and in the working conditions within individual universities as exemplified by increasing managerialism and performance based funding it is important to consider the impact of these changes on the profiles and working lives of the academic profession across different countries But it is also important to look at the ways in which the faculty s changing profile impacts on the organisation and management of universities and on the delivery of their central functions Although not always obvious in the short term academic work and its conditions attract incorporate and promote different types of individuals who in turn exert considerable influence on the nature of academic work higher education institutions and potentially society As faculty members are central to the teaching research and service enterprise activities of higher education it is important to understand their personal characteristics career trajectories sense of identity and commitment and job satisfaction These are central for understanding the academic profession in general and in particular the factors affecting their involvement and productivity in the work of their institutions These are a complex result of a mixture of contextual factors e g the status and regulatory framework of the higher education system the features and atmosphere of the particular institution and personal factors e.g. gender, educational attainment, family background, attitudes to work and broader social values. This book examines the different situations facing the academic profession in individual countries and provides comparative studies of country differences.

Film Propaganda and American Politics James Combs, Sara T. Combs, 2013-12-17. Originally published in 1994, this important book traces the rise of film propaganda in the 20th Century, discussing specifically how film can be used to manipulate public perception and opinions. Two distinct areas are covered: war propaganda, including feature and documentary films regarding warfare; and civilian propaganda, including films that address a variety of political subjects. Although the focus is American film and American politics, this book offers insights for all those interested in the effect of film on the minds of citizens of any country or state. Catalogue of the Kentucky State Library, 1891. From Kosovo to Kabul and Beyond David Chandler, 2005-12-20. This new and updated edition of David Chandler's acclaimed book takes a critical look at the way in which human rights issues have been brought to the fore in international affairs. The UN and NATO's new policy of interventionism, as shown in Iraq, Somalia, Bosnia, Kosovo, and East Timor, has been hailed as part of a new ethical approach to foreign policy. David Chandler offers a rigorous critique of this apparently benign shift in international relations to reveal the worrying political implications of a new human rights discourse. He asks why the West can now prioritise the rights of individuals over the traditional rights of state sovereignty and why this shift has happened so quickly. Charting the development of a human rights-based foreign policy, he considers the theoretical problems of defining human rights and sets this within the changing framework of international law. Meticulous and compelling, From Kosovo to Kabul and Beyond offers a disturbing insight into the political implications of a human rights-led foreign policy and the covert agenda that it conceals.
