Rains Model Of Acidification:

The RAINS Model of Acidification Joseph Alcamo,1991 The RAINS Model of Acidification J. Alcamo,R. Shaw,L. Hordijk,1990-07-31 Regional Acidification Models Juha Kämäri,David F. Brakke,Alan Jenkins,Stephen A. Norton,Richard F. Wright,2012-12-06 In order to provide meaningful information for evaluating environmental consequences of alternative control strategies of air pollutant emissions scientists have recently initiated numerous studies aiming at collecting and making use of regional data New kinds of mathematical models have been developed that no longer are calibrated just for individual stands or catchments but can be applied on a large regional scale Such regional models and data were reviewed at a meeting Models to describe the geographic extent and time evolution of acidification and air pollution damage organized by the Finnish Research Project on Acidification HAPRO and held in Aulanko Hiimeenlinna Finland July 5 8 1988 This volume is based on the outcome of that meeting The chapters of the volume are written by leading scientists in the field The main objective of this volume is to discuss the potential of regional models to analyze the geographic extent of acidification as well as the environmental damage and the time evolution of the responses of the environment First in Part I of the volume sensitivity distributions of ecosystems forest soils and surface waters are described The focus of interest is therefore extended from the most sensitive ecosystems to sensitive and moderately sensitive parts of the environment When formulating national and international targets it is of crucial importance to know the whole distribution of critical loads within the area and not only the level the most sensitive ecosystem can tolerate Integrated Global Models of Sustainable Development - Volume III Akira Onishi,2009-08-18 Integrated Global Models of Sustainable Development is a component of Encyclopedia of Technology Information and Systems Management Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias In the 21st century the human society is facing the challenge of sustainable development with constraints of global environmental changes In order to cope with poverty and international per capita income disparity IPCID there should be further needs for economic development to provide employment opportunities against Terrorism and refugees The coverage in three volumes tries to show a possibility of sustainable development from a global viewpoint by using alternative policy simulations The chapters are organized so that the readers might understand archived historical trends in global modeling for sustainable development Starting from global models in the 1970s 1980s 1990s the updated latest modeling works are also included as far as possible The chapters deal with roles of integrated global models scope and methodologies and policy implications These three volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs

Acidification and its Policy Implications T. Schneider,1986-11-01 Providing a wealth of reference material for research scientists and policy makers these proceedings address the extremely complex problem of acidification a phenomenon which is causing serious deterioration of natural environments in Europe and North America Papers review the effects of acidification on the aquatic environment flora fauna and vegetation and materials and also review cultural properties the ecology as a whole and the economic impact of acidification The papers on forest dieback cover potential stress factors and the effects on materials and cultural properties Scientific research results are presented which deal with models as tools for abatement strategies and underline the application of models in policy making The review papers of scientific research on acidification are followed by the official report of the conference and presentations by representatives of the EEC member countries giving an overview of national research programmes and policies regarding acidification

Acid Deposition James W.S. Longhurst, 2012-12-06 The subject of acid deposition remains one of the most urgent of our contemporary environmental problems Research programmes are continually redefining our understanding of cause and effect and hence the continuing need for a timely and authoritative series addressing these issues This volume seeks to review and define our contemporary understanding of acid deposition by reference to new international data and as a consequence assist the definition of our future research requirements and policy developments International contributions to the volume are drawn from the Federal Republic of Germany the U S A Canada Brazil Switzerland Austria Israel France and the United Kingdom Some of these nations have experienced acid deposition on a regional scale for considerable periods of time for others the phenomenon is an emerging problem This collection of papers has been compiled by invitation to eminent members of the acid deposition research community and by selection from a carefully targeted call for papers It is primarily designed to meet the needs of researchers lecturers and postgraduate students in environmental disciplines and for environmental policy makers It is of interest to professionals in related disciplines and essential as a reference text for libraries The volume is divided into four broad themes Emissions chemistry and deposition Ecosystem effects freshwater soils and forest systems Effects on structural materials Mitigation control and management Each of these sections provides an overview of contemporary understanding presents new experimental or field evidence and provides guidance for our future research agenda

The Regional Acidification Information and Simulation (RAINS) Model of Acidification - Science and Strategies in Europe Alcamo J Ed, 1990 Regional Approaches to Water Pollution in the Environment P.E. Rijtema, V. Eliás, 2012-12-06 Regional Approaches to Water Pollution in the Environment integrates knowledge and experience on pollution problems related to industrial agricultural and municipal activities and former military sites with special emphasis on the Black Triangle the region situated at the borders between North Bohemia Polish Lower Silesia and South Saxony Here some five million inhabitants live in an area of brown coal basins having the highest emissions of sulphuric and nitrogen emission in the whole of Europe The large scale damage in this region is due to obsolete technology and insufficient equipment for monitoring emissions Health effects are severe and controlling the pollution can only be done at high cost There is thus a need to exchange knowledge and experience on methods for evaluating the expected effects of measures and purification techniques to remedy ground and surface water pollution Earthly Politics

Sheila Jasanoff, Marybeth Martello, 2004-03-19 Globalization today is as much a problem for international harmony as it is a necessary condition of living together on our planet Increasing interconnectedness in ecology economy technology and politics has brought nations and societies into even closer contact creating acute demands for cooperation Earthly Politics argues that in the coming decades global governance will have to accommodate differences even as it obliterates distance and will have to respect many aspects of the local while developing institutions that transcend localism This book analyzes a variety of environmental governance approaches that balance the local and the global in order to encourage new more flexible frameworks of global governance On the theoretical level it draws on insights from the field of science and technology studies to enrich our understanding of environmental development politics On the pragmatic level it discusses the design of institutions and processes to address problems of environmental governance that increasingly refuse to remain within national boundaries The cases in the book display the crucial relationship between knowledge and power the links between the ways we understand environmental problems and the ways we manage them and illustrate the different paths by which knowledge power formations are arrived at contested defended or set aside By examining how local and global actors ranging from the World Bank to the Makah tribe in the Pacific Northwest respond to the contradictions of globalization the authors identify some of the conditions for creating more effective engagement between the global and the local in environmental governance
