Rickford, 2016-01-14 During the height of the Black Power movement of the late 1960s and 1970s dozens of Pan African nationalist private schools from preschools to post secondary ventures appeared in urban settings across the United States The small independent enterprises were often accused of teaching hate and were routinely harassed by authorities Yet these institutions served as critical mechanisms for transmitting black consciousness Founded by activist intellectuals and other radicalized veterans of the civil rights movement the schools strove not simply to bolster the academic skills and self esteem of inner city African American youth but also to decolonize minds and foster a vigorous and regenerative sense of African identity In We Are An African People historian Russell Rickford traces the intellectual lives of these autonomous black institutions established dedicated to pursuing the self determination that the integrationist civil rights movement had failed to provide Influenced by Third World theorists and anticolonial campaigns organizers of the schools saw formal education as a means of creating a vanguard of young activists devoted to the struggle for black political sovereignty throughout the world Most of the institutions were short lived and they offered only modest numbers of children a genuine alternative to substandard inner city public schools Yet their stories reveal much about Pan Africanism as a social and intellectual movement and as a key part of an indigenous black nationalism Rickford uses this largely forgotten movement to explore a particularly fertile period of political cultural and social revitalization that strove to revolutionize African American life and envision an alternate society Reframing the post civil rights era as a period of innovative organizing he depicts the prelude to the modern Afrocentric movement and contributes to the ongoing conversation about urban educational reform race and identity

On the Eve of the Cybercultural Revolution Brian Bartell, 2025-10-28 Uncovering the Black Power movement s contributions to theorizing the politics of automation On the Eve of the Cybercultural Revolution offers a comprehensive look at the Black Power movement s theoretical work and insights into the entanglement of capitalism technology and racism Drawing upon James and Grace Lee Boggs s expanded notion of the cybercultural era Brian Bartell demonstrates how a range of artists writers and activists from the 1960s prefigured the wider discourse around automation and made it a central concern of their politics Rather than reducing automation to an isolated technical phenomenon theorists of the Black radical tradition identified its important historical antecedents in colonialism and plantation slavery emphasizing how the emerging cyberculture joined with issues such as the reorganization of labor ecological harm and racial inequality Examining the work of Martin Luther King Jr Noah Purifoy the Black Panthers and others On the Eve of the Cybercultural Revolution outlines the new forms of social reproduction conceived outside of the dominant structures of racial capitalism Bartell synthesizes a wide range of source texts including political speeches literature and activist archives to show how the Black Power movement sought to create a postscarcity more than capitalist economy By shedding light on the movement s underexplored engagement with theories of technology he provides a crucial key to understanding the historical dynamics responsible for

It embraces topics ranging from Walt Whitman's interest in phrenology to the marginalization of African American experimental writing from Kamau Brathwaite's calibanistic language practices to Federico García Lorca's flamenco aesthetic of duende and its continuing repercussions from H.D.'s desert measure and coastal way of knowing to the altered spatial disposition of Miles Davis's trumpet sound from Robert Duncan's serial poetics to diasporic syncretism from the lyric poem's present-day predicaments to gnosticism. Offering illuminating commentary on these and other artists including Amiri Baraka, Mississippi Fred McDowell, Wilson Harris, Jack Spicer, John Coltrane, Jay Wright, and Bob Kaufman, Paracritical Hinge also sheds light on Mackey's own work as a poet, fiction writer, and editor. New Day in Babylon William L. Van Deburg, 1993-09-01 The most comprehensive account available of the rise and fall of the Black Power Movement and of its dramatic transformation of both African American and larger American culture. With a gift for storytelling and an ear for street talk, William Van Deburg chronicles a decade of deep change from the armed struggles of the Black Panther party to the cultural nationalism of artists and writers creating a new aesthetic. Van Deburg contends that although its tactical gains were sometimes short-lived, the Black Power movement did succeed in making a revolution one in culture and consciousness that has changed the context of race in America. New Day in Babylon is an extremely intelligent synthesis, a densely textured evocation of one of American history's most revolutionary transformations in ethnic group consciousness. Bob Blauner, New York Times Winner of the Gustavus Myers Center Outstanding Book Award 1993
