Religion And Social Transformations Religion Today V :

Transformations of the Inner Self in Ancient Religions Jan Assmann, Guy Stroumsa, 2018-11-13 This collection of papers from two workshops held in Heidelberg Germany in July 1996 and Jerusalem Israel in October 1997 is concerned with anthropological rather than theological aspects of the Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions ranging from the primary religions of the archaic period and their complex developments in Egypt and Mesopotamia to the soteriological movements and secondary religions that emerged in Late Antiquity The first part of the book focuses on Confession and Conversion while the second part is devoted to the topic of Guilt Sin and Rituals of Purification The primary purpose of this volume is to convey a sense of the dynamics and dialectical relationships between the various Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions from the archaic period to Late Antiquity

Religion in Today's World Melissa M. Wilcox, 2013-12-19 Religion is a major force in contemporary society It is also one of the least understood social and political influences on individuals and communities In this innovative collection of original essays and classic readings experts explore the significance of contemporary religiosity as a source of meaning and motivation how it unites and divides us and how it is used politically and culturally Readers will be introduced to the broad debates in ways that will equip them to analyze discuss and make their own judgments about religion and society This book should be read by anyone interested in understanding religion as a central source of meaning and politics and is ideally suited for undergraduate teaching on religion and social issues and from a global perspective

Religion and Modernity Detlef Pollack, Gergely Rosta, 2017-12-08 This is not a book that provides a new integrated theory of religious change in modern societies but rather one that develops theoretical elements that contribute to the understanding of some contemporary religious developments Most of the approaches in sociology of religion are prone to emphasise either processes of religious decline or of religious upswing For example secularization theory usually includes a couple of relevant factors such as functional differentiation economic affluence or social equality in order to account for religious change However the result of such a theory's empirical analyses seems to be certain in advance namely that the social relevance of religion is decreasing In contrast the religious market model devised by sociologists of religion in the US is inclined to detect everywhere processes of religious upsurge Religion and Modernity An International Comparison avoids a purely theoretically based perspective on religious changes For this reason Detlef Pollack and Gergely Rosta do not begin with theoretical propositions but with questions The authors raise the question of how the social significance of religion in its various facets has changed in modern societies and explain what factors and conditions have contributed to these changes

Religion and Society in Sub-Saharan Africa and Southern Asia Carole Rakodi, 2019-03-18 This book analyses how religion is entangled in people's lives in Sub-Saharan Africa and southern Asia It provides an introduction to the teachings practices and values promoted by the main religious traditions in these regions and an overview of the evidence on what religion means to people in terms of their beliefs and religious practices and how it influences their values attitudes and day to day relationships with others especially their families Over the course of the book Carole Rakodi explores similarities and differences between and within religious traditions and identifies some of the key factors that influence and explain the roles played by religion in people's personal lives and social relationships A separate companion volume will go on to focus on the social and political roles and relationships of religious groups and organisations This book will be of great interest to academics and students working in a range of disciplines especially sociology religious studies and development studies but also anthropology geography and area studies

Religion, Transformation and Gender Kurt Appel, Isabella Guanzini, 2017-10-02 The fifth issue of the Interdisciplinary Journal for Religion and Transformation in Contemporary Society J RaT centers on the topic of religion transformation and sex gender The focal point will be on religious and cultural transformation processes and their repercussions on gender roles constructs and representations on the one hand and on sex and or gender transformations which are embedded in the context of specific religious traditions on the other Transformation is understood here as change alteration and reformatting The multifaceted connections between religion transformation and sex gender are concretized in an abundance of material and symbolic phenomena and are examined starting from different subject specific and methodical approaches

Hunt, 2017-03-14 This book offers a comprehensive account of the nature and expression of contemporary forms of religion in Western societies Drawing both on recent original work and classical and contemporary conceptual frameworks it examines the beliefs practices patterns of organisation and significant trends in both mainstream and fringe religions including cults and quasi religions Competing arguments and theories about key developments are treated fully and fairly and there is a clear sense throughout of the social context The approach is broadly sociological and the well paced jargon free writing style and clearly sectioned chapters make this an ideal text for teaching and study purposes both in sociology and religious studies Amongst the themes and concerns covered are What we mean in the first place by religion Secularisation and new expressions of religiosity The effect of religion on society and the relationship between religion and social change The links between belief belonging and social identity Contemporary Christianity and the religions of ethnic minorities in the West Globalisation religious pluralism and postmodernity STEPHEN J HUNT is Senior Lecturer in Sociology at the University of West of England Bristol He has written widely on contemporary Christianity and new religious movements

Pluralism: The Future of Religion Kenneth Rose, 2013-03-28 Theology of religions has defaulted in the last two decades to an epicyclic inclusivism which seeks to undermine pluralism with claims that it is covertly triumphalistic and that it mirrors the logic of exclusivism With the exception of pioneers in the field such as John Hick and Paul Knitter most major figures in this theological field have retreated from pluralism and promote versions of particularism and inclusivism Pluralism The Future of Religion argues for an apophatic pluralism that is motivated by the insight that it is impossible to secure universal assent for changeable bodies of religious teachings This insight implies the non finality and consequent depicularization of all religious teachings and their inclusivistic defenses These conclusions point us inevitably toward pluralism and lead us out of the inclusivistic impasse of contemporary theology in religions
