Religions Of The Ancient East 1st Edition:

Socio-Anthropological Approaches to Religion David W. Kim, Duncan Wright, 2024-02-14 Socio Anthropological Approaches to Religion Environmental Hope interprets the fundamental functions of spirituality through the theories and practices of hope and understanding the futuristic aspiration of new religious movements The book portrays a neutral notion of hope that can be either religious or humanistic in the face of the suffering or despair of present reality The concept of hope or hopelessness is demonstrated in each chapter under the global circumstance of health risk Part One represents the various theories of hope in Christian history ecology and climate the Sabbath and surveillance and the triune God The insecure situation that creates the expectation of hope is demonstrated in Part Two where the case studies of terrorist attacks immigration volunteering behavior religious education and medieval Islamic tradition indicate social unbalance The last section illustrates the cultural anthropology of hope through the activities of different native new religious movements including the Moonies Unification movement Yoruba Nigerian indigenous spirituality and Cosmovisions of Sepik New Guinea This book examines hope as a crucial element of human s internal healing beyond medical technology

Magic in the Ancient Eastern Mediterranean Nina Nikki, Kirsi M.J. Valkama, 2020-12-14 Magic in the Ancient Eastern Mediterranean Cognitive Historical and Material Perspectives brings together articles with the shared conviction that the category of magic remains useful in religious studies and provides new insights to biblical and related texts and artifacts Historically magic has been considered in both scholarly and popular discourse to be questionable obscure and potentially subversive 19th century scholars of religion viewed magical beliefs and practices as primitive and inferior compared to Judeo Christian forms of worship which were considered true religion More recently the category has been defended especially by scholars of the cognitive science of religion who find it useful for delineating a set of beliefs and practices fundamental to all forms of religion The volume joins current scholarship in refraining from using the concept as an othering device and in arguing that it can still serve as a helpful analytical tool In addition to analyzing the discourse on magic in both ancient literature and modern scholarship the articles provide individual examples of how literary and material culture attest to the existence of magical beliefs and practices in sources from the Ancient Near East to the Byzantine Period The book is divided into three parts The contributions in the first part approach magic from the theoretical perspective of cognitive studies ritual studies and cultural evolution while the rest of the book focuses on how magic and magicians are understood in ancient sources The second part discusses a specific set of textual material dealing with blessings and curses The third part of the volume discusses the world of various destructive celestial beings from which one and one s loved ones had to be defended as well as the multitude of protective beings such as angels

Resources for the Teaching of Anthropology David Goodman Mandelbaum, Gabriel Ward Lasker, Ethel M. Albert, 1963

Aššur is King! Aššur is King! Steven Winford Holloway, 2002 Through sustained analysis of texts and visual sources this volume traces the checkered career of Neo Assyrian religious interaction with subject polities of Western Asia through both punitive measures and calculated diplomatic patronage

Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 2008-03-12

Here at last is the massively updated and augmented second edition of this landmark encyclopedia. It contains approximately 1000 entries dealing in depth with the history of the scientific, technological, and medical accomplishments of cultures outside of the United States and Europe. The entries consist of fully updated articles together with hundreds of entirely new topics. This unique reference work includes intercultural articles on broad topics such as mathematics and astronomy as well as thoughtful philosophical articles on concepts and ideas related to the study of non-Western Science such as rationality, objectivity, and method. You'll also find material on religion and science, East and West, and magic and science. The First

Book of Samuel David Toshio Tsumura, 2007-03-15. David and Goliath, the call of Samuel, the witch of Endor, David and Bathsheba: such biblical stories are well known. But the books of 1 and 2 Samuel, where they are recorded, are among the most difficult books in the Bible. The Hebrew text is widely considered corrupt and sometimes even unintelligible. The social and religious customs are strange and seem to diverge from the tradition of Moses. In this first part of an ambitious two-volume commentary on the books of Samuel, David Toshio Tsumura sheds considerable light on the background of 1 Samuel, looking carefully at the Philistine and Canaanite cultures as he untangles the difficult Hebrew text. Love and Poetry in the Middle East Atef Alshaer, 2021-12-30. Love has been an important trope in the literature of the region we now call the Middle East from ancient times to modern. This book analyses love poetry in various ancient and contemporary languages of the Middle East, including Akkadian, ancient Egyptian, Classical and Modern Standard Arabic, Persian, Hebrew, Turkish, and Kurdish, including literary materials that have been discovered and highlighted for the first time. Together, the chapters reflect and explore the discursive evolution of the theme of love and the sensibilities, styles, and techniques used to convey it. They chart the way in which poems in ancient poetry give way to complex and varied reflections of human sentiments in the medieval languages and on to the modern period, which in turn reflects the complexities and nuances of present times. Offering a snapshot of the diverse literary languages and their relationship to the theme of love, the book will be of interest to scholars of Near and Middle Eastern Literature and Culture. YHWH in the Wind(s) Violet Chiswa Gandiya, 2025-01-31. From interdisciplinary, intertextual, and comparative analytical perspectives, this book engages with the epistemologies of the Global South and Global North to reveal a fresh insight into the image of YHWH in the guise of the phenomenal wind(s) and the purpose of this image in the biblical Hebrew tradition. Therefore, this book showcases YHWH appearing with the potent wind(s) to create and transform chaos into cosmic order at primal creation. Likewise, this discourse presents YHWH breaking into the historical and social realm in his various sociopolitical roles to destroy all forms of chaotic force by his bluster of wind(s) and to establish, maintain, or restore world social order founded on his rule of justice and righteousness. This accounts for the view that all creation and order originate from YHWH and are maintained by YHWH's innate rules of ethical governance. This fresh insight into the sights and sounds of YHWH asserting his rule in the dramaturgical world not only renders new meaning to biblical texts within their contexts but also offers a persuasive message and alluring theological reflections that can shape new discourses to engage and address contemporary theological and social issues of equity justice and harmony within YHWH's intended design of world and social order Religion , The Bookseller ,1913
