Routledge History of World Philosophies Seyyed Hossein Nasr, 1996 Islamic Philosophy has often been treated as mainly of historical interest belonging to the history of ideas rather than to philosophy This volume challenges this belief The Routledge History of Philosophy is made up entirely of essays by a distinguished list of writers They provide detailed discussions of the most important thinkers and the key concepts in Islamic philosophy from earliest times to the present day

Philo and the Church Fathers Douwe (David) Runia, 2015-12-22 The extensive writings of the Jewish philosopher and exegete Philo of Alexandria 15 BCE to 50 CE were preserved through the efforts of early Christians who decided that these works could assist them in developing their own distinctive kind of thought The present collection of papers written from 1989 to 1994 is published as a companion volume to the author's monograph Philo in Early Christian Literature A Survey 1993 The papers deal with various aspects of the process of reception that Philo received at the hands of the Church Fathers Authors who are given particular attention are Athenagoras Clement Origen Basil Gregory of Nyssa Isidore of Pelusium and Augustine The papers also include a hitherto unpublished English translation of the author's inaugural lecture held at Utrecht in April 1992

Knowledge and Cosmos Robert K.

DeKosky, 2023-10-10 In Knowledge and Cosmos Development and Decline of the Medieval Perspective 2nd Edition Robert K. DeKosky focuses on issues in astronomy cosmology physics matter theory philosophy and theology vital to the Copernican Revolution This book describes efforts among individuals advocating different world views to fit new ideas compatibly into broad perspectives reflecting four traditional patterns of interpretation teleological mechanical occultist and mathematico descriptive These four modes had guided medieval accounts of heavenly phenomena material process and motion The teleological explanation prevalent in Aristotle's natural philosophy posited final causes ends or goals toward which objects strove or attempted to become Ancient classical atomists had emphasized strictly mechanical explanations invoking direct material contact and collision of moving matter as agents of physical change Traditions of astrology magic and alchemy embraced an occultist pattern of interpretation citing hidden forces opaque to both sensual detection and rational understanding as explanations of various phenomena Finally the mathematico descriptive approach interpreted natural phenomena according to geometric or arithmetic relationships unlike the other three this did not involve causal explanation of a process Part I discusses development of the four patterns in the ancient period and their uneasy medieval relationships with each other and with basic Judaeo Muslim Christian exigencies of faith Theory of the heavens follows including the mathematico descriptive approach of Ptolemaic astronomy the teleological and mechanical cosmology of Aristotle and occultist interpretations of astrologers and magicians Part I then turns to matter and materiality discussing differences among the mechanical philosophy of classical atomism teleological emphases in Aristotle's material theory and occultist assumptions of some alchemists Finally Part I analyzes conceptions of motion focusing on Aristotelian interpretations and critical commentaries thereon during the Middle Ages Part II relates struggles of leading early modern figures to adapt new concepts e.g. Copernicus heliocentric astronomy cosmology Galileo's inertial theories of motion and Kepler's elliptical planetary orbit to an allegiance to two or more of the four patterns of interpretation By this approach it identifies decreasing dependence on teleological explanation of physical phenomena as crucial to decline of medieval interpretations of those phenomena followed by rejection of teleology in the natural philosophy of Descartes and subsequent fruitful confluence of the mechanical mathematico descriptive and occultist patterns in the physics and cosmology of Isaac Newton

The Jewish Intellectual Tradition Alan Kadish, Michael A. Shmidman, Simcha Fishbane, 2021-01-19 The Jewish intellectual tradition has a long and complex history that has resulted in significant and influential works of scholarship In this book the authors suggest that there is a series of common principles that can be extracted from the Jewish intellectual tradition that have broad even life changing implications for individual and societal achievement These principles include respect for tradition while encouraging independent often disruptive thinking a precise system of logical reasoning in pursuit of the truth universal education continuing through adulthood and living a purposeful life The main objective of this book is to understand the historical development of these principles and to demonstrate how applying them judiciously can lead to greater intellectual productivity a more fulfilling existence and a more advanced society Saints' Lives and the Rhetoric of Gender John Kitchen, 1998-08-13 Medieval lives of female saints have attracted wide attention in recent years Some scholars have argued that such texts reveal a distinctive form of female sanctity which only female hagiographers managed to properly articulate and important writings have been attributed to female authors on that assumption In this revisionist work John Kitchen tests such claims through a close examination of several texts lives of both male and female saints by authors of both sexes from sixth century France He argues that sometimes the authentic voice of the female writer or saint sounds emphatically male This study gives examples of how both male and female authors sometimes depicted holy women talking acting or even dressing like their male counterparts Ultimately the author aims to cast doubt on the assumption that male authors were ignorant of or hostile toward certain specifically female concerns By the same token Kitchen's work raises serious methodological problems with the gender approach to the hagiographic literature of the early Middle Ages The Footprints of God Stephen D. Benin, 2012-02-01 This book traces one exegetical interpretative principal divine accommodation in Jewish and Christian thought from the first to the nineteenth century The focus is upon major figures and the place of accommodation in their work Divine accommodation the idea that divine revelation had to be attuned to the human condition is a vital interpretive device in the history of both Judaism and Christianity Accommodation is present not only in the language style and tone of Scripture but in all of human history This is the first systematic study of the concept of accommodation and shows how both religions employed the same interpretative tool for different purposes and to different ends
