

REMAAPPING EAST ASIA

The Construction of a Region

Edited by T. J. Pempel

Remapping East Asia

Tanja A. Börzel, Thomas Risse

Remapping East Asia:

Remapping East Asia T. J. Pempel, 2005 An overarching ambiguity characterizes East Asia today The region has at least a century long history of internal divisiveness war and conflict and it remains the site of several nettlesome territorial disputes However a mixture of complex and often competing agents and processes has been knitting together various segments of East Asia In Remapping East Asia T J Pempel suggests that the region is ripe for cooperation rather than rivalry and that recent region building developments in East Asia have had a substantial cumulative effect on the broader canvas of international politics This collection is about the people processes and institutions behind that region building In it experts on the area take a broad approach to the dynamics and implications of regionalism Instead of limiting their focus to security matters they extend their discussions to topics as diverse as the mercurial nature of Japan s leadership role in the region Southeast Asian business networks the war on terrorism in Asia and the political economy of environmental regionalism Throughout they show how nation states corporations and problem specific coalitions have furthered regional cohesion not only by establishing formal institutions but also by operating informally semiformally or even secretly

The Contested Rescaling of Economic Governance in East Asia Shahar Hameiri, Jeffrey Wilson, 2017-10-02 One of the apparent contradictions which has puzzled observers of East Asian politics is why despite the region s considerable economic integration economic governance institutions remain largely underdeveloped This book stems from the observation that the study of actual forms of economic governance in Asia has been impeded by the dominance of a regionalism problematique Scholars have focused on the emergence or not of regional multilateral institutions seeking to evaluate these institutions capacities to enforce disciplines on Asian states However they have also neglected prior and more pertinent questions regarding the causal determinants of regional economic governance which animate the contributions to this collection What factors shape the scale and instruments of economic governance in Asia and how and why is economic governance being rescaled between the sub national national and regional levels In the chapters of this book the contributors explore the social and political struggles over the scale and instruments of economic governance They identify and explain the emergence of a wide variety of regional modes of economic governance explain the factors shaping the spatial scale of economic governance in Asia and discern the patterns of regional integration to which they give rise This book was originally published as a special issue of the Australian Journal of International Affairs

Asia's New Regionalism Ellen L. Frost, 2008 The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism Tanja A. Börzel, Thomas Risse, 2016-02-04 The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism the first of its kind offers a systematic and wide ranging survey of the scholarship on regionalism regionalization and regional governance Unpacking the major debates leading authors of the field synthesize the state of the art provide a guide to the comparative study of regionalism and identify future avenues of research Twenty seven chapters review the theoretical and empirical scholarship with regard to the emergence of regionalism the institutional design of regional organizations and issue specific governance as well as the effects of regionalism and its relationship with processes of regionalization The authors explore theories of cooperation integration and diffusion explaining the rise and the different forms of regionalism The handbook also discusses the state of the art on the world regions North America Latin America Europe Eurasia Asia North Africa and the Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa Various chapters survey the literature on regional governance in major issue areas such as security and peace trade and finance environment migration social and gender policies as well as democracy and human rights Finally the handbook engages in cross regional comparisons with regard to institutional design dispute settlement identities and communities legitimacy and democracy as well as inter and transregionalism

Institutions of the Asia-Pacific Mark Beeson, 2008-08-18 The Asia Pacific is arguably the most important but also the most complex and contested region on the planet Containing three of the world's largest economies and some of its most important strategic relationships the region's capacity of regional elites to promote continuing economic development whilst simultaneously maintaining peace and stability will be one of the defining challenges of the twenty first century international order Intuitively we might expect regional institutions to play a major role in achieving this Yet one of the most widely noted characteristics of the Asia Pacific region has been its relatively modest levels of institutional development thus far However things are changing as individual economies in the Asia Pacific become more deeply integrated there is a growing interest in developing and adding to the institutions that already exist Institutions of the Asia Pacific examines how this region is developing and what role established organisations like APEC and new bodies like ASEAN Plus Three are playing in this process An expert in the field Mark Beeson introduces the contested nature of the very region itself should it be the Asia Pacific or East Asia to which we pay most attention and expect to see most institutional development By placing these developments in historical context he reveals why the very definition of the region remains unsettled and why the political economic and strategic relations of this remarkably diverse region remain fraught and difficult to manage

Asia's New Multilateralism Michael J. Green, Bates Gill, 2009-02-25 Traditionally stability in Asia has relied on America's bilateral alliances with Japan Australia and the Republic of Korea Yet in recent years emergent and more active multilateral forums such as the Six Party Talks on North Korea and the East Asia Summit have taken precedence engendering both cooperation and competition while reflecting the local concerns of the region Some are concerned that this process is moving toward less inclusive bloc based talking shops and that the future direction and success of these arrangements along with their implications for global and regional security and prosperity remain unclear The fifteen contributors to this volume all leading scholars in the field provide national perspectives on regional institutional architecture and their functional challenges They illuminate areas of cooperation that will move the region toward substantive collaboration convergence of norms and strengthened domestic institutions They also highlight the degree to which institution building in Asia a region composed of liberal democracies authoritarian regimes and anachronistic dictatorships has become an arena for competition among major powers and conflicting norms and assess the future shape of Asian security architecture

East Asian Regionalism from a Legal Perspective Tamio Nakamura, 2009-06-08 Plenty has been written about the political and economical aspects of regionalism but the legal perspective has been neglected East Asian Regionalism From a Legal Perspective is unique in synthesizing legal economic and political analyses In the first part the book investigates the current features of regionalism from a comparative perspective looking at economic and currency cooperation and comparing Asian regionalism with Europe and Latin America In the second part the contributors go on to look at the present legal features of regionalism covering institutional frameworks trade diversity and regional integration The third part of the book is truly unique in proposing an essential groundwork for the institutionalisation of an East Asian Community It conceives a draft East Asian Charter an essential document that distils what East Asian nations have achieved and also includes integral principles and fundamental rules for future cooperation among countries and peoples in the region This book will be of interest to graduates and academics interested in regionalism international relations international law and Asian studies

Asia's New Institutional Architecture Vinod K. Aggarwal, Min Gyo Koo, 2008-02-04 Can regional and interregional mechanisms better institutionalize the creasing complexity of economic and security ties among states in Nor east Southeast and South Asia As the international state system und goes dramatic changes in both security and trade relations in the wake of the Cold War s end the Asian financial crisis and the attacks of Sept ber 11 2001 this question is now of critical importance to both academics and policymakers Still little research has been done to integrate the ana sis of both regional security and economic dynamics within a broader c text that will give us theoretically informed policy insights Indeed when we began our background research on the origin and e lution of Asia s institutional architecture in trade and security we found that many scholars had focused on individual subregions whether Nor east Southeast or South Asia In some cases scholars examined links tween Northeast and Southeast Asia and the literature often refers to these two subregions collectively as Asia artificially bracketing South Asia Of course we are aware that as products of culture economics history and politics the boundaries of geographic regions change over time Yet the rapid rise of India and its increasing links to East Asia especially those formed in the early 1990s suggest that it would be fruitful to examine both developments within each subregion as well as links across subregions

Decoding Boundaries in Contemporary Japan Glenn Hook, 2010-12-21 The purpose of this book is to illuminate the changing nature of contemporary Japan by decoding a range of political economic and social boundaries with a focus on the period following the inauguration of Prime Minister Koizumi Junichir s administration 2001 6 A rapid turnover of prime ministers followed Koizumi Abe Shinz 2006 7 Fukuda Yasuo 2007 8 and As Tar 2008 but the transformation set in motion through his promotion of a more proactive role for Japan internationally and the implementation of structural reforms domestically set the direction for future administrations The central argument of the book is that in order to achieve the twin goals of greater international proactivity and domestic reform the government and other actors supporting the new direction for Japan pushed forward by the Koizumi administration needed to take action in order to destabilize and reformulate a range of extant boundaries This task was achieved by deploying material as well as normative resources including the production of new discourses about the way these resources should be deployed

The 3rd ASEAN Reader Ooi Kee Beng, 2015-08-24 Over the past two decades ISEAS has compiled abridged articles that analyse key aspects of Southeast Asia's development and the ASEAN process The ASEAN Reader was published in 1992 just as the Cold War ended while The Second ASEAN Reader came in 2003 in the wake of the 1997 Asian crisis and the September 11 attacks in 2001 The past decade has not been spared its share of intense changes with the rise of China and India bringing new challenges to the region's power equation and the impact of the 2008 global financial crisis Despite this the momentum towards an integrated ASEAN community has been maintained The articles in The Third ASEAN Reader study the trends and events of recent years and discuss the immediate future of Southeast Asia
