Remembering A Daily Visit With Florence:

Thomas Hardy Remembered Martin Ray, 2017-03-02 Thomas Hardy Remembered assembles some 150 annotated interviews and recollections of Hardy most of which are being reprinted for the first time They range from close personal reflections by old friends such as Sir George Douglas J M Barrie and Edmund Gosse to fleeting glimpses by strangers who saw Hardy at a London party or at his club Martin Ray has selected items having the greatest literary or biographical significance and annotated them with meticulous accuracy and a keen eye for the telling detail As a result the volume will be an invaluable resource to scholars who are interested not only in what concerned Hardy personally and professionally but also in how he was perceived by others Having these items collected in one volume reveals Hardy's contemporaneous opinions about his own writings and also makes it possible to trace the marked recurrence over time of certain preoccupations ancient families Hardy's hostility to reviewers architecture Roman relics Wessex folklore and dialect animal welfare Napoleon and hangings With regard to his literary career a portrait emerges of Hardy as the scrupulous professional properly aware of his commercial rights while at the same time appearing to some who met him unconscious of his own genius As I Remember Gladys Mullet Kauffman, 2006 More stories of Montana's pioneers from the days of the first

Stephens, 2012-08 Born in the last decade of the nineteenth century in rural Bladen County North Carolina Georgia was the typical child whose two great loves were being outdoors and spending time with her father However the presentation of her story is unique in that the first part is autobiographical in nature She started writing what she called a few things that happened in my life on January 1 1952 when she was 57 years old Her childhood and early adulthood experiences reflect the customs of the times as she describes how her family survived floods fire illness and extreme weather conditions On her first day of school she really did walk two miles to the one room schoolhouse Since her father disapproved of her choice for a husband at 17 she eloped to marry Judd Ezzell She and the groom drove away in a horse and buggy to start a new life in neighboring Sampson County Georgia always maintained that Judd was the love of her life and 10 children later they were still together The account of her later years is provided by four of her granddaughters This phase of her life begins during the Great Depression when events occurred that made recovery from the devastation of the depression very difficult The family's responses to life's challenges make an interesting narrative that ranges from inspirational to religious to comical Remembered Yesterdays Robert Underwood Johnson, 1923 A Senator's Wife Remembers Henrietta McCormick Hill, 2010-01-01 The remembrances of Henrietta McCormick Hill compiled by her daughter Henrietta Hill Hubbard give insight into the political career of Alabama senator Joseph Lister Hill and into the courtship marriage and later life of the couple Among topics covered are Senator Hill's work for health legislation including
