Macmillan English Tina Thoburn,1987      Dimensions of Thinking and Cognitive Instruction Beau Fly Jones,Lorna Idol,2013-05-13 By establishing a conceptual framework and a common language for educators to work together this volume attempts to answer the challenge facing all teachers how can students improve the quality of their thinking Methods of strengthening the thought process include helping students learn to monitor their attention and commitments asking questions that require students to organize analyze and integrate information setting tasks that involve complex processes such as problem solving and research and modeling and reinforcing fair mindedness      Macmillan English ,1988      Cognitive Processes in Writing Lee W. Gregg,Erwin R. Steinberg,2016-07-15 Originally published in 1980 this title began as a set of questions posed by faculty on the campus of Carnegie Mellon University What do we know about how people write What do we need to know to help people write better This resulted in an interdisciplinary symposium on Cognitive Processes in Writing and subsequently this book which includes the papers from the symposium as well as further contributions from several of the attendees It presents a good picture of what research had shown about how people write of what people were trying to find out at the time and what needed to be done      Specialised English Ken Hyland,Lillian L C Wong,2019-03-28 Specialised English New Directions in ESP and EAP Research and Practice provides an authoritative and cutting edge account of the latest avenues of research and practice in the dynamic field of Specialised English Ken Hyland and Lillian Wong present 17 specially commissioned chapters by some of the world s leading experts to offer discussions of key topics in research theory and pedagogy from a variety of international perspectives Divided into three sections which focus on conceptual issues text and classroom practice this book Offers a clear and accessible introduction to current issues in EAP and ESP including academic interaction academic lingua franca second language publishing workplace talk practitioner identity data driven learning and critical thinking Includes studies of a range of genres such as research articles and student reports student spontaneous speech personal statements builders diaries and university tutorials Presents links between theory and practice with a sampling of different research methodologies practical applications and theoretical approaches Specialised English is essential reading for upper level undergraduate and postgraduate students and researchers in EAP ESP and applied linguistics as well as pre and in service teachers and teacher educators      The Macmillan Guide to Correspondence Study Modoc Press,1996      Resources in Education ,1994      Critical Thinking in Academic Writing Shi PU,2021-08-30 The book inquires into critical thinking through a cultural approach Based on an ethnographic study it compares Chinese postgraduate students conceptualisations and applications of critical thinking in three different settings in China and the UK From an insider s perspective it analyses the intricate interplay of multiple cultural and individual factors that conditions students critical thinking development as they learn to write an academic thesis and to manage postgraduate learning The book offers insights into the nature of problems that Chinese students encounter with critical thinking and envisions possibilities for the ideas for critical thinking to have a transformative power in an intercultural space The book will primarily be of interest to academics and educators who work on critical thinking and academic writing especially those who work with Chinese students Scholars interested in intercultural issues in higher education may also find it relevant Thinking and Learning Skills S. F. Chipman,J. W. Segal,R.

Glaser,2013-09-05 First Published in 1985 Currently two streams of endeavor offer promise for improving school effectiveness in developing students higher cognitive capacities One of these is represented by the increased interest of school districts colleges and universities in identifying ways to help their students build the cognitive skills that enable them to learn and think effectively What can be done they ask beyond teaching the fundamentals of reading writing arithmetic and subject matter knowledge to enable students to use their skills and knowledge for effective problem solving reasoning and comprehension The second stream is apparent in recent scientific advances in the study of intelligence human development problem solving the structure of acquired knowledge and the skills of learning This is volume two of a collection of conference papers based on this topic Handbook for Planning an Effective Writing Program, K-12 DIANE

Publishing Company,1996-02 This popular handbook is designed to provide teachers curriculum specialists school administrators parents and students with a standard for assessing existing writing programs and a tool for helping them design new programs It includes information to help them identify the strengths and weaknesses of existing or proposed writing programs and to select strategies for change Addresses both the content and teaching methodology of a writing program that is what ought to be taught and how it should be taught Award Winner Illustrated Argumentative Writing in a Second Language Alan R. Hirvela,Diane Belcher,2021-12-13 Argumentative Writing in a Second Language is a collection on teaching argumentative writing offering multiple vantage points drawn from the contributors own teaching and research experiences The value of learning how to compose argumentative texts cannot be overstated and yet very little attention has been allocated to the equally important topic of how argumentation is or can be taught in the L2 context Thus this volume shifts attention to teachers and argumentative writing instruction especially within increasingly common multimodal and digital literacy settings While doing so it provides a comprehensive wide ranging view of the L2 argumentative writing landscape within an instructional lens Part I of the volume is topic oriented and focuses on explorations of important issues and perspectives while Part II features several chapters reporting classroom based studies of a variety of instructional approaches that expand our understanding of how argumentative writing can be taught The book will be of value to pre service and in service teachers in varying instructional contexts as well as teacher educators and L2 writing scholars researchers Thinking Across Cultures Donald M. Topping,Doris C. Crowell,Victor N.

Kobayashi,2013-09-05 This volume compares and contrasts contemporary theories of cognition modes of perception and learning from cross cultural perspectives The participants were asked to consider and assess the question of whether people from different cultures think differently Moreover they were asked to consider whether the same approaches to teaching and development of thinking will work in all cultures as well as they do in Western literate societies

Reading, Writing, and Thinking in Education, 1989 Teaching Writing Christina Russell McDonald, Robert L. McDonald, 2002 Teaching Writing Landmarks and Horizons edited by Christina Russell McDonald and Robert L. McDonald is designed to present an overview of some of the major developments in the establishment of composition studies as a field during the past thirty five years The essays are theoretically grounded but are focused on pedagogy as well Divided into two parts the first presents nine landmark essays selected and introduced by distinguished composition scholars and the second brings together eight new essays by emerging scholars

Naming What We Know Linda Adler-Kassner, 2015-06-01 Naming What We Know examines the core principles of knowledge in the discipline of writing studies using the lens of threshold concepts concepts that are critical for epistemological participation in a discipline The first part of the book defines and describes thirty seven threshold concepts of the discipline in entries written by some of the field's most active researchers and teachers all of whom participated in a collaborative wiki discussion guided by the editors These entries are clear and accessible written for an audience of writing scholars students and colleagues in other disciplines and policy makers outside the academy Contributors describe the conceptual background of the field and the principles that run throughout practice whether in research teaching assessment or public work around writing Chapters in the second part of the book describe the benefits and challenges of using threshold concepts in specific sites first year writing programs WAC WID programs writing centers writing majors and for professional development to present this framework in action Naming What We Know opens a dialogue about the concepts that writing scholars and teachers agree are critical and about why those concepts should and do matter to people outside the field

Signs, Genres, and Communities in Technical Communication M. Jimmie Killingsworth, Michael Gilbertson, 2018-12-20 This important new text invites readers to step back from their busy professional lives and look at technical communication philosophically to ask fundamental questions such as what does it mean to communicate and how do language and graphics the signs or tools of the technical communicator relate to action in a technological world Through this excursion in the theory of technical discourse you will discover a fresh approach to reports manuals and proposals produced and consumed daily in business government and research organizations around the world The authors examine familiar genres in two relatively new ways

Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works

Thinking Strategies for Student Achievement Denise D. Nessel, Joyce M. Graham, 2006-08-10 This revised edition offers 30 specific strategies readily integrated into daily lesson plans to help K 12 students extend their thinking capabilities and raise their achievement levels
