Colonial Investment in Colonial N.S.W. 1788-1850 Gordon W. Beckett, 2013 The traditional recounting of early Australian Economic History is that Britain decided to settle the continent for strategic advantages and as a source of raw materials for its industry and as an outlet for its trading and the transfer of resources a takeover by the new economic managers The official intention of settling the colony was for peaceful co operative economic development of the new land beneficial to British traditional interests and not intended to undermine or engage in war with the native population and to share what food resources were naturally available The gulf between the two societies was too large to be bridged and the British settlement succeeded while the ancient society was destroyed The destruction of traditional Aboriginal society was recognized by depopulation from an accepted population of about 1 million in 1788 to 250 000 by 1848 whilst an estimated 50% of Aboriginal resources were absorbed by white settlers between 1788 and 1809 The extent and content of British Colonial Investment is discussed as are topics such as the role of Immigration and Foreign Investment the reasons for the colony and the highlights of the British rule in the economy and the colonial economic experiment undertaken by Macquarie

Towards a Twenty-First-Century Feminist Politics of Music Dr Sally Macarthur, 2013-01-28 Towards a Twenty First Century Feminist Politics of Music opens up a new way of thinking about the absence of women s music It does not aim to find a solution in a liberal feminist sense but to discover new potentialities new possibilities for thought and action Sally Macarthur encourages us with the assistance of Deleuze and feminist Deleuzian work to begin the important work of imagining what else might be possible not in order to provide answers but to open up the as yet unknown The power of thought or what Deleuze calls the virtual opens up new possibilities Macarthur suggests that the future for women s new music is not tied to the predictable and known but to futures beyond the already known Previous research concludes that women s music is virtually absent from the concert hall and yet fails to find a way of changing this situation Macarthur finds that the flaw in the recommendations flowing from past research is that it envisages the future from the standpoint of the present and it relies on a set of pre determined goals It thus replicates the present reality so reinforcing rather than changing the status quo Macarthur challenges this thinking and argues that this repetitive way of thinking is stuck in the present unable to move forward Macarthur situates her argument in the context of current dominant neoliberal thought and practice She argues that women have generally not thrived in the neoliberal model of the composer which envisages the composer as an individual autonomous creator and entrepreneur Successful female composers must work with this dominant modernist aesthetic and exploit the image of the neo romantic entrepreneurial creator This book sets out in contrast to develop a new conception of subjectivity that sows the seeds of a twenty first century feminist politics of music Towards a Twenty-First-Century Feminist Politics of Music Sally Macarthur,2016-02-24 Towards a Twenty First Century Feminist Politics of Music opens up a new way of thinking about the absence of women s music It does not aim to find a solution in a liberal feminist sense but to discover new potentialities new possibilities for thought and action Sally Macarthur encourages us with the assistance of Deleuze and feminist Deleuzian work to begin the important work of imagining what else might be possible not in order to provide answers but to open up the as yet unknown The power of thought or what Deleuze calls the virtual opens up new possibilities Macarthur suggests that the future for women s new music is not tied to the predictable and known but to futures beyond the already known Previous research concludes that women s music is virtually absent from the concert hall and yet fails to find a way of changing this situation Macarthur finds that the flaw in the recommendations flowing from past research is that it envisages the future from the standpoint of the present and it relies on a set of pre determined goals It thus replicates the present reality so reinforcing rather than changing the status quo Macarthur challenges this thinking and argues that this repetitive way of thinking is stuck in the present unable to move forward Macarthur situates her argument in the context of current dominant neoliberal thought and practice She argues that women have generally not thrived in the neoliberal model of the composer which envisages the composer as an individual autonomous creator and entrepreneur Successful female composers must work with this dominant modernist aesthetic and exploit the image of the neo romantic entrepreneurial creator This book sets out in contrast to develop a new conception of subjectivity that sows the seeds of a twenty first century feminist politics of music Australia 2009 Fodor's Travel Publications, Inc. Staff,Fodor's,2009 Embrace the local culture as you dive in the Great Barrier Reef watch Aussie Rules football or sip shiraz in McLaren Vale Find choices for every traveler from deep sea fishing and snorkeling to fine dining or just lounging on the beach from book cover Subduction Zones Part II Larry J. Ruff,H. Kanamori,2012-12-06 Subduction zones consume oceanic lithosphere and are an indispensable part of plate tectonics Unlike the oceanic lithosphere production system which can be linked as a nearly continuous albeit sinuous strand around the earth subduction zones are a rather dissociated group and are found in several isolated corners of the world While plate tectonics can predict that subduction zones are required along certain plate boundaries it does not stipulate how subduction zones initiate and develop The preservation of newly created oceanic lithosphere and the propensity for spreading centers to fragment continents leaves a wealth of geological information on the initiation and evolution of spreading On the other hand the subject of subduction initiation has little observational basis To find such observations we need to look at some muddled tectonic regimes The Macquarie Ridge complex presents a natural laboratory for studies of subduction initiation 2 Tectonics of the Macquarie Ridge Complex The Macquarie Ridge complex is a complicated physiographic feature that trends approximately north south between South Island New Zealand and the Pacific Antarctica spreading center This feature consists of a sequence of troughs and ridges with Macquarie Island as the only exposed expression The seismically active Macquarie Ridge complex hereafter MRC is crudely continuous with the Tonga Kermadec New Zealand seismic activity The basic physiographic features and seismicity of the MRC are shown in Figure I The earthquake epicenters generally cluster about the bathymetric expression of the MRC

The Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event Barry D. Webby, Florentin Paris, Mary L. Droser, Ian G. Percival, 2004-04-14 Two of the greatest evolutionary events in the history of life on Earth occurred during Early Paleozoic time The first was the Cambrian explosion of skeletonized marine animals about 540 million years ago The second was the Great Ordovician Biodiversification Event which is the focus of this book During the 46 million year Ordovician Period 489 443 m y a bewildering array of adaptive radiations of Paleozoic and Modern type biotas appeared in marine habitats the first animals arthropods walked on land and the first non vascular bryophyte like plants based on their cryptospore record colonized terrestrial areas with damp environments This book represents a compilation by a large team of Ordovician specialists from around the world who have enthusiastically cooperated to produce this first globally orientated internationally sponsored IGCP International Geological Correlation Program project on Ordovician biotas The major part is an assembly of genus and species level diversity data for the many Ordovician fossil groups The book also presents an evaluation of how each group diversified through Ordovician time with assessments of patterns of change and rates of origination and extinction As such it will become the standard work and data source for biotic studies on the Ordovician Period

Threatened and Recently Extinct Vertebrates of the World Matthew Richardson, 2023-03-09 Habitat loss and degradation are currently the main anthropogenic causes of species extinctions The root cause is human overpopulation This unique volume provides for the very first time a comprehensive overview of all threatened and recently extinct mammals birds reptiles amphibians and fishes within the context of their locations and habitats The approach takes a systematic examination of each biogeographic realm and region of the world both terrestrial and marine but with a particular emphasis on geographic features such as mountains islands and coral reefs It reveals patterns useful in biodiversity conservation helps to put it all into perspective and ultimately serves as both a baseline from which to compare subsequent developments as well as a standardization of the way threatened species are studied

Parliament,1905 Includes various departmental reports and reports of commissions Cf Gregory Serial publications of foreign governments 1815 1931 The Enlightenment, Philanthropy and the Idea of Social Progress in Early Australia Ilya Lazarev,2018-08-06 This book seeks to highlight the influence of the Enlightenment idea of social progress on the character of the civilising mission in early Australia by tracing its presence in the various civilising attempts undertaken between 1788 and 1850. It also represents an attempt to marry the history of the British Enlightenment and the history of settler-Aboriginal interactions. The chronological structure of the book as well as the breadth of its content will facilitate the reader's understanding of the evolution of civilising attempts and their epistemological underpinnings while throwing additional light on the influence of the Enlightenment on Australian history as a whole.
