Kaboré,2012-11-28 Could regional integration be a first step toward joining the global market In a context where liberalizing trade has not produced the expected gains in developing countries and growth in global trade has not led to the expected economic growth an alternative solution has emerged This new paradigm suggests that trade liberalization should be accompanied by public investment However by its very nature trade liberalization leads to a reduction in revenues from duties and taxes which means that the available resources for public investments will also be reduced There are now solid arguments for encouraging the less developed countries to first emphasize regional integration before trying to access the global market This book explores the issues linked to regional integration in West Africa and presents empirical data about the experiences in West African Economic and Monetary Union WAEMU countries to converge their economies It also examines how these efforts which make a major contribution to regional integration influence poverty reduction in the economic and monetary community It will be of interest to researchers working in this area Elias T Ayuk is Director of the United Nations University Institute for Natural Resources in Africa in Accra Ghana and was formerly a senior program specialist at the International Development Research Centre Samuel T Kabor is a researcher lecturer at the Faculty of Economics and Management at the University of Ouagadougou II BurkinaFaso Canada s International Development Research Centre IDRC supports research in developing countries to promote growth and development IDRC also encourages sharing this knowledge with policymakers other researchers and communities around the world The result is innovative lasting local solutions that aim to bring choice and change to those who need it most Elias T Ayuk is Director of the United Nations University Institute for Natural Resources in Africa in Accra Ghana and was formerly a senior program specialist at the International Development Research Centre Samuel T Kabor is a researcher lecturer at the Faculty of Economics and Management at the University of Ouagadougou II Burkina Faso Canada s International Development Research Centre IDRC supports research in developing countries to promote growth and development IDRC also encourages sharing this knowledge with policymakers other researchers and communities around the world The result is innovative lasting local solutions that aim to bring choice and change to those who need it most

Rotberg, 2010-07-28 Since 1990 more than 10 million people have been killed in the civil wars of failed states and hundreds of millions more have been deprived of fundamental rights The threat of terrorism has only heightened the problem posed by failed states When States Fail is the first book to examine how and why states decay and what if anything can be done to prevent them from collapsing It defines and categorizes strong weak failing and collapsed nation states according to political social and economic criteria And it offers a comprehensive recipe for their reconstruction The book comprises fourteen essays by leading scholars and practitioners who help structure this disparate field of research provide useful empirical descriptions and offer policy recommendations Robert Rotberg's substantial opening chapter sets out a theory and taxonomy of state failure. It is followed by two sets of chapters: the first on the nature and correlates of failure; the second on methods of preventing state failure and reconstructing those states that do fail. Economic jump starting, legal refurbishing, elections, the demobilizing of ex combatants and civil society are among the many topics discussed. All of the essays are previously unpublished. In addition to Rotberg, the contributors include David Carment, Christopher Clapham, Nat J. Colletta, Jeffrey Herbst, Nelson Kasfir, Michael T. Klare, Markus Kostner, Terrence Lyons, Jens Meierhenrich, Daniel N. Posner, Susan Rose Ackerman, Donald R. Snodgrass, Nicolas van de Walle, Jennifer A. Widner, and Ingo Wiederhofer.

Development Aid George Mavrotas, Mark McGillivray, 2009-01-15. This book addresses several gaps in knowledge of aid allocation and effectiveness and provides new analytical insights. Topics covered include the interface between aid allocation and perceptions of aid effectiveness, the year on year volatility of aid, and evaluation of the country level impacts of aid.

Adjustment in Africa World Bank, 1994. This is the second title in the World Bank Policy Research Reports. The first was the headline making The East Asian Miracle, which discusses the economic situation in Africa as it has evolved over the past several decades. To reverse the economic decline that began in the 1970s, many sub-Saharan African countries have undertaken efforts to restructure their economies. This has included liberalizing trade, deregulating markets and prices, privatizing public enterprises, and strengthening management of the financial and public sectors. Implementation has been uneven in different countries, and even those countries that have attempted major reforms have not achieved policies that are considered sound by international standards. A key finding is that improving policies paid off in higher GDR and sectoral growth rates, which are vital to reducing poverty, but in countries where policies deteriorated, economic performance worsened. The report also shows that despite the importance of reforming economic policies, countries need to invest more in human capital and infrastructure, expand their institutional capacity, and develop better governance.

Regions and Development Sheila Page, 2020-12-15. At the 1996 EADI Conference, the papers presented in the World Trade and Trade Policy workshop looked at the new trends in regionalism from a variety of points of view for different institutions. They considered the effects of regions, their implications for policy and performance in the developing countries, and for international economic institutions, and tried to interpret them in terms of economic and political theory.

The CFA Franc Zone Ms. Anne Marie Gulde, Mr. Charalambos G. Tsangarides, 2008-04-02. About one third of countries covered by the IMF's African Department are members of the CFA franc zone. With most other countries moving away from fixed exchange rates, the issue of an adequate policy framework to ensure the sustainability of the CFA franc zone is clearly of interest to policymakers and academics. However, little academic research exists in the public domain. This book aims to fill this void by bringing together work undertaken in the context of intensified regional surveillance and highlighting the current challenges and the main policy requirements if the arrangements are to be carried forward. The book is based on empirical research by a broad group of IMF economists with contributions from several outside experts.

NBER Macroeconomics Annual 1991

Olivier Blanchard, Stanley Fischer, 1991 This is the sixth in a series of annuals from the National Bureau of Economic Research that are designed to stimulate research on problems in applied economics to bring frontier theoretical developments to a wider audience and to accelerate the interaction between analytical and empirical research in macroeconomics Olivier Blanchard and Stanley Fischer are both Professors of Economics at MIT Contents Pitfalls and Opportunities What Macroeconomists Should Know about Unit Roots John Y Campbell and Pierre Perron Markups and the Business Cycle Julio Rotemberg and Michael Woodford Privatization in Eastern Europe Incentives and the Economics of Transition Jean Tirole The EMS the EMU and the Transition to a Common Currency Kenneth A Froot and Kenneth S Rogoff Growth Macroeconomics and Development Stanley S Fischer Recessions as Reorganizations Robert E Hall Developing a Sustainable Economy in Cameroon Aloysius Ajab Amin, 2008 Developing a Sustainable Economy in Cameroon is an ambitious effort as the authors try to set a blue print for Cameroon's economy In the 1980s facing economic crisis and as dictated by the structural adjustment programme Cameroon sharply cut public investment expenditures before later cutting government consumption which were followed by privatisation liquidation of public companies and reduction in the size of the public sector All these measures are believed to have had devastating effects on the economy Given the performance of the economy so far the authors suggest that much more effort with a strong commitment of the main stakeholders is required to guarantee sustainable economic development in Cameroon Truly very few countries in Africa possess such enormous human and natural resources as Cameroon does This volume brings out the challenges Cameroon faces in its quest for development as well as for designing appropriate strategies for addressing those development challenges Alternative Exchange Rate Strategies and Fiscal Performance in Sub-Saharan Africa Mrs. Stefania Bazzoni, Mr. Karim A. Nashashibi, 1993-08-01 This paper investigates the relationship between fiscal performance in 28 sub-Saharan African countries over the 1980-91 period with movements in the exchange rates the terms of trade and other macroeconomic aggregates It finds that the tax base in most of these countries is heavily dependent on imports and import substitutes Consequently an overvaluation of the exchange rate in countries which adopted a fixed exchange rate strategy undermines the tax base and results in a widening of the fiscal deficit when the purpose of the strategy is to restore the real exchange rate to its equilibrium through fiscal contraction Those countries which pursued a variable exchange rate strategy failed in attaining price stability but exchange rate adjustment was critical in contributing to other macroeconomic objectives particularly fiscal balance competitiveness and growth
