Gruesomeness in American Horror Films, 1931-1936 Jon Towlson,2016-09-12 Critics have traditionally characterized classic horror by its use of shadow and suggestion Yet the graphic nature of early 1930s films only came to light in the home video DVD era Along with gangster movies and sex pictures horror films drew audiences during the Great Depression with sensational content Exploiting a loophole in the Hays Code which made no provision for on screen gruesomeness studios produced remarkably explicit films that were recut when the Code was more rigidly enforced from 1934 This led to a modern misperception that classic horror was intended to be safe and reassuring to audiences The author examines the 1931 to 1936 happy ending horror in relation to industry practices and censorship Early works like Murders in the Rue Morgue 1932 and The Raven 1935 may be more akin to The Texas Chain Saw Massacre 1974 and Hostel 2005 than many critics believe mind of your favorite Caped Crusader and his never ending war on crime A Study Guide for Joy Harjo's "Grace" Gale, Cengage Learning, 2016 Architecture, Festival and the City Jemma Browne, Christian Frost, Ray Lucas, 2018-10-26

Historically the urban festival served as an occasion for affirming shared convictions and identities in the life of the city. Whether religious or civic in nature these events provided tangible expressions of social, cultural, political and religious cohesion, often reaffirming a particular shared ethos within diverse urban landscapes. Architecture has long served as a key aspect of this process, exhibiting continuity in the flux of these representations through the parading of elaborate ceremonial floats, the construction of temporary buildings, the dressing of existing urban space, the alternative occupations of the everyday, and the construction of new buildings and spaces which then become a part of the background fabric of the city. This book examines how festivals can be used as a lens to examine the relationship between city and citizen and questions whether this is fixed through time or has been transformed as a response to changes in the modern urban condition. Architecture Festival and the City looks at the multilayered nature of a diverse selection of festivals and the way they incorporate both orderly, authoritative and disorderly, subversive components. The aim is to reveal how the civic nature of urban space is utilised through festival to represent ideas of belonging and identity. Recent political and social gatherings also raise questions about the relationship of these events to ritual and whether traditional practices can serve as meaningful references in the twenty first century. The Last Word: Collected Poetry and Prose Volume 1 (1962-1976) Ribitch

Martin, 2019. Poetry Fiction. Ribitch was a surrealist artist, poet, photographer and storyteller. For the first time ever his complete writings have been collected in two volumes, a project he started and his friends and family finished. Together with Volume 2, this collection encompasses 50 years of his creative expression. Batman's Villains and Villainesses Marco Favaro, Justin F. Martin, 2023-09-12. While much of the scholarship on superhero narratives has focused on the heroes themselves, Batman's Villains and Villainesses: Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Arkham's Souls takes into view the depiction of the villains and their lives, arguing that they often function as proxies for larger societal and philosophical themes. Approaching Gotham's villains from a number of disciplinary backgrounds, the essays in this collection highlight how the villains' multifaceted backgrounds, experiences, motivations and behaviors allow for in-depth character analysis across varying levels of social life. Through investigating their cultural and scholarly relevance across the humanities and social sciences, the volume encourages both thoughtful reflection on the relationship between individuals and their social contexts and the use of villains inside and outside of Gotham as subjects of pedagogical and scholarly inquiry.
