Madhres Or Survival:

Mothers Under Fire: Mothering in Conflict Areas Tatjana Takseva, 2015-07-01 Mothers Under Fire Mothering in Conflict Areas examines the experiences of women mothering in conflict areas The aim of this collection is to engage with the nature and meaning of motherhood and mothering during times of war and or in zones experiencing the threat of war The essays in the collection reflect diverse disciplinary perspectives through which scholars and field practitioners reveal how conflict shapes mothering practices One of the unique contributions of the collection is that it highlights not only the particular difficulties mothers face in various geographic locations where conflict has been prevalent but also the ways in which mothers display agency to challenge and negotiate the circumstances that oppress them The collection raises awareness of the needs of women and children in areas affected by military and or political violence worldwide and provides a basis for developing multiple policy frameworks aimed at improving existing systems of support in local contexts Kristen P Williams Clark University

Food Autonomy in Chicago Pancho McFarland, 2025-04-15 Through eighteen years of field research dialogues with colleagues deep involvement in the food movement community in Chicago and introspection Pancho McFarland asks Is the loosely connected network of Black and Indigenous land stewards and food warriors in Chicago an anticolonial force for the liberation of all our relations This examination of a sector of the food autonomy movement in Chicago provides important new ways of understanding race relations gender sexuality spirituality pedagogy identity and their importance to the dynamics of social movements Additionally the book explores how revolutionary culture principles and organization of American Indigenous diasporan Africans anarchist Mexicans and others have been adopted adapted or rejected in our food movement In this autoethnography of the food movement McFarland argues that at our best we work to establish a new society like that theorized and enacted by Indigenous and Black anarchists However the forces of Wetiko colonialism capitalism heteropatriarchy and white supremacy make the work of BIPOC food warriors difficult Wetiko s conceptual categories including race gender sexuality and citizenship influence our worldviews and affect our behaviors These limitations and our responses to them are captured in the dialogues and chapters of Food Autonomy in Chicago

Las Madres Dennis Raphael Garcia, 2024-11-29 Las Madres is an incredible story of generational resilience and transformation with family and community at its heart Dennis Raphael Garcia deftly writes the tale of three generations of women in his family recounting the difficult challenges each of them faced in their lifetimes as they pursued the same goal the advancement of the well being of their families from poverty to success Las Madres focuses on Candelaria Garcia who was born in Mexico her daughter Rafaela and Rafaela s daughter Irene the author s mother Each of these Latina women followed a separate path on their journey to security and freedom from want Though they traveled with apprehension and uncertainty into unknown places and arenas they were courageous patient and steadfast in their pursuit Las Madres dispels any notion that immigrants and their families who come to the United States are given a life of ease Very few people living on the high plains of Kansas in 1900 had it easy especially Mexican railroad workers and their families Their journeys remind readers that there is no one true path to achieve an end Las Madres will inspire readers especially Latina women to continue the pursuit of their dreams Maintenance Dredging of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway Laguna Madre, Nueces, Kleberg, Kenedy, Willacy and Cameron Counties ,2003

Queering Families Tamara Lea Spira,2025 Envisioning queer futures where we lovingly wager everything for the world s children the planet and all living beings against all odds and in increasingly precarious times Queering Families traces the shifting dominant meanings of queer family from the late twentieth century to today With this book Tamara Lea Spira highlights the growing embrace of normative family structures by LGBTQ movements calling into question how many queers once deemed unfit to parent have become contradictory agents within the US empire s racial and colonial agendas Simultaneously Queering Families celebrates the rich history of queer reproductive justice from the radical movements of the 1970s through the present led by Black decolonial and queer of color feminist activists Ultimately Spira argues that queering reproductive justice impels us to build communities of care to cherish and uphold the lives of those who defying normativity s violent stranglehold are deemed to be unworthy of life She issues the call to lovingly wager a future for the world s children the planet and all living beings against all odds and in increasingly perilous times dictatorship Argentina and Uruguay and develops a theoretical framework for bringing these two fields of study together through the concept of critical junctures The Women's Movement In Latin America Jane Jaquette, 2018-03-09 For those interested in democratic transition and consolidation social movements and gender politics this volume is the most comprehensive up to date and probing analysis available of how women's groups are helping to reshape Latin America The contributors document and assess the remarkable wave of women's political participation in Latin America over the past two decades The first five case studies on Brazil Argentina Uruguay Chile and Peru examine the origins evolution and goals of women's organizations as they worked together to end authoritarian rule and elaborate how women's groups have adapted in the 1990s to the day to day realities of democratic politics In the 1990s the challenge has shifted from mobilizing opposition to the very different task of working with parties and government bureaucracies in order to maintain and implement their agendas The chapters on Nicaragua and Mexico broaden our understanding of political transitions Seven case studies vividly illustrate the variety of women's movements in the region ranging from the communal kitchens movements to human rights groups Each author discusses the strategies and debates of the feminist movements in question and records their political successes and failures Jaquette's introductory and concluding essays provide a comparative framework highlighting the innovative ways in which Latin American women are making gender a political issue Mothers United Andrea

Dyrness, 2013-11-30 In urban American school systems the children of recent immigrants and low income parents of color disproportionately suffer from overcrowded classrooms lack of access to educational resources and underqualified teachers The challenges posed by these problems demand creative solutions that must often begin with parental intervention But how can parents without college educations American citizenship English literacy skills or economic stability organize to initiate change on behalf of their children and their community In Mothers United Andrea Dyrness chronicles the experiences of five Latina immigrant mothers in Oakland California one of the most troubled urban school districts in the country as they become informed and engaged advocates for their children's education These women who called themselves Madres Unidas Mothers United joined a neighborhood group of teachers and parents to plan a new small and autonomous neighborhood based school to replace the overcrowded Whitman School Collaborating with the author among others to conduct interviews and focus groups with teachers parents and students these mothers moved from isolation and marginality to take on unfamiliar roles as researchers and community activists while facing resistance from within the local school district Mothers United illuminates the mothers journey to create their own space centered around the kitchen table that enhanced their capacity to improve their children's lives At the same time Dyrness critiques how community organizers teachers and educational policy makers despite their democratic rhetoric repeatedly asserted their right as experts reproducing the injustice they hoped to overcome A powerful inspiring story about self learning consciousness raising and empowerment Mothers United offers important lessons for school reform movements everywhere
