The book examines the changing place identity around the stations from political religious ritual cultural and gendered perspectives revealing a Chinese semi religious community with varying motivations and in constant dialogue with its surroundings The group developed its own normative code and hierarchy and it offered both economic and religious benefits according to local models Yet the developing political situation also meant it had to solve the question of anti foreignism to be able to continue its existence Legal Reforms and Deprivation of Liberty in Contemporary China Elisa Nesossi, Sarah Biddulph, Flora Sapio, Susan Trevaskes, 2016-06-03 The volume presents an extensive investigation into the process of reforms of detention

From Ah Q to Lei Feng Wendy Larson, 2008-10-16 When Freudian sexual theory hit China in the early 20th century it ran up against competing models of the mind from both Chinese tradition and the new revolutionary culture Chinese theorists of the mind both traditional intellectuals and revolutionary psychologists steadily put forward the anti Freud a mind shaped not by deep interiority that must be excavated by professionals but shaped instead by social and cultural interactions Chinese novelists and film directors understood this focus and its relationship to Mao s revolutionary ethos and much of the literature of twentieth century China reflects the spiritual qualities of the revolutionary mind From Ah Q to Lei Feng investigates the continual clash of these contrasting models of the mind provided by Freud and revolutionary Chinese culture and explores how writers and filmmakers negotiated with the implications of each model Work, Class, and Power in the Borderlands of the Early American Pacific Evan Lampe, 2013-12-12 This book traces the history of working people who helped established the foundation of the American empire in the Pacific from its origins after the American Revolution to its coming of age in the 1840s and 1850s Beginning with the expeditions of the Columbia and the Lady Washington Lampe argues that the early American Pacific can best be considered through the interaction of four major locations connected through the networks of trade the merchant ship the Northwest Coast Honolulu and Canton Guangzhou In each of these locations the labors of a diverse population of working people was harnessed in the critical labors of empire building including the transportation of goods The central question that the consideration of working people in the Pacific economy during this period is Lampe argues the role of power applied on these laborers by an international capitalist class emerging alongside the Pacific commercial empires Lampe also finds that this power was not uncontested and emerged in response to the activities of labor Working people on the ship and in the port cities found ways to secure their piece of the profitable trade often through illicit means Companion to Historiography Michael Bentley, 2006-02-27 This Companion presents a clear thematic overview of historiography explored through a series of stimulating and wide ranging articles Compiled by experts in the field the Companion is fully indexed for ease of access Teachers of the Inner Chambers Dorothy Ko,1994 This pathbreaking work argues that literate gentry women in 17th century Jiangnan far from being oppressed or silenced created a rich culture and meaningful existence within the constraints of the Confucian system Momentous socioeconomic and intellectual changes in 17th century Jiangnan provided the stimulus for the flowering of women s culture The most salient of these changes included a flourishing of commercial publishing the rise of a reading public a new emphasis on emotions the promotion of women's education and more generally the emergence of new definitions of womanhood The author reconstructs the social emotional and intellectual worlds of 17th century women and in doing so provides a new way to conceptualize China's past one offering a more realistic and complete understanding of the values of Chinese culture and the functioning of Chinese society Postmodernism & a Sociology...(c), In the fifth volume in the Studies in American Sociology Series Stanford M Lyman offers commentaries on and critiques of postmodernism poststructuralism and deconstruction posing questions concerning theoretical and epistemological problems arising from what appears to be a nouvelle vague Postmodernism poststructuralism and deconstructionism are interrelated aspects of the newest theoretical development in sociology and the social sciences This new wave of thought challenges virtually all paradigms currently in use In this his fifth volume in the Studies in American Sociology Series Stanford M Lyman offers commentaries on and critiques of this new perspective posing questions concerning theoretical and epistemological problems arising from what appears to be a nouvelle vague Among the basic themes and issues explored are the allegation that modernity has defaulted on the promise of the Enlightenment the question of whether the rational basis for knowledge and action is still valid the controversy over the place of metanarratives and macrosociological outlooks and newer concerns over race gender sexual preferences the self and the Other Professor Lyman provides empirically based and historically specific analyses of the relation of the race question to the problem of otherness and to the legal construction of racial identity in American court proceedings Focusing on the issues of citizenship affecting European Middle Eastern and Asian immigrants African Americans and the special cases of the Chinese and Native Americans he relates major public problems to the modern as well as the postmodern perspectives on justice The debate over assimilation and multiculturalism the dynamics of gender specific emotions as expressed in six decades of Hollywood films and the postmodern approach to deviance are each examined He also offers proposals for a social science attuned to but critical of postmodernism and poststructuralism Such a sociology might offer a perspective that treats the drama of social relations in the routine as well as the remarkable aspects of everyday life Professor Lyman provides not only a new understanding of postmodernism but also a program of how to proceed with respect to its challenges Bound to Emancipate Angelina Chin, 2012-03-29 Emancipation a defining feature of twentieth century China society is explored in detail in this compelling study Angelina Chin expands the definition of women s emancipation by examining what this rhetoric meant to lower class women especially those who were engaged in stigmatized sexualized labor who were treated by urban elites as uncivilized rural threatening and immoral Beginning in the early twentieth century as a result of growing employment opportunities in the urban areas and the decline of rural industries large numbers of young single lower class women from rural south China moved to Guangzhou and Hong Kong forming a crucial component of the service labor force as shops and restaurants for the new middle class started to develop Some of these women worked as prostitutes teahouse waitresses singers and bonded household laborers At the time the concept of women's emancipation was high on the nationalist and modernizing agenda of progressive intellectuals missionaries and political activists The metaphor of freeing an enslaved or bound woman's body was ubiquitous in local discussions and social campaigns in both cities as a way of empowering women to free their bodies and to seek marriage and work opportunities Nevertheless the highly visible presence of sexualized lower class women in the urban space raised disturbing questions in the two modernizing cities about morality and the criteria for urban citizenship Examining various efforts by the Guangzhou and Hong Kong political participants to regulate women s occupations and public behaviors Bound to Emancipate shows how the increased visibility of lower class women and their casual interactions with men in urban South China triggered new concerns about identity consumption governance and mobility in the 1920s and 1930s Shedding new light on the significance of South China in modern Chinese history Chin also contributes to our understanding of gender and women s history in China Beyond the Asylum Claire E. Edington, 2019-04-15 This book is a must read for any specialist in the history of colonial and post colonial psychiatry as well as a fantastic case study for those interested in the social history of European colonialism more generally Choice Claire Edington's fascinating look at psychiatric care in French colonial Vietnam challenges our notion of the colonial asylum as a closed setting run by experts with unchallenged authority from which patients rarely left She shows instead a society in which Vietnamese communities and families actively participated in psychiatric decision making in ways that strengthened the power of the colonial state even as they also forced French experts to engage with local understandings of and practices around insanity Beyond the Asylum reveals how psychiatrists colonial authorities and the Vietnamese public debated both what it meant to be abnormal as well as normal enough to return to social life throughout the early twentieth century Straddling the fields of colonial history Southeast Asian studies and the history of medicine Beyond the Asylum shifts our perspective from the institution itself to its relationship with the world beyond its walls This world included not only psychiatrists and their patients but also prosecutors and parents neighbors and spirit mediums as well as the police and local press How each group interacted with the mentally ill with each other and sometimes in opposition to each other helped decide the fate of those both in and outside the colonial asylum God's Chinese Son Jonathan D.
