Morbus Kitahara Roman:

Morbus Kitahara Christoph Ransmayr, 1995 Ein Endzeitepos aus einer Zeit der Söhne Vergeltung und Rache nach dem großen europäischen Krieg Die geschlagenen Feinde sollen zurückkehren auf die Felder der Vergangenheit Morbus Kitahara Christoph Ransmayr, 1998 Landvermessung: Morbus Kitahara : Roman, 2005 Victims and Perpetrators: 1933-1945 Laurel Cohen-Pfister, Dagmar Wienroeder-Skinner, 2012-03-12 This volume examines the politics of history and memory in Germany today through a review and analysis of seminal developments in the current discourse on 1933-1945 An interdisciplinary work this book examines questions of representing the past from the perspective of literary studies social psychology film studies history and cultural studies Themes include transgenerational memory and remembrance the air war and German literature commemoration and silences transnational reconciliation and historical consciousness in the German present The collected essays make clear that as the current discourse contributes toward an historically informed differentiated understanding of individuals' roles in the Third Reich and World War Two victim and perpetrator identities cannot be defined as exclusive from one another The discourse emphasizes personal over collective experience and answers questions of responsibility and guilt on the individual level Traces of Trauma in W. G. Sebald and Christoph Ransmayr Dora Osborne, 2017-12-02 Both W. G. Sebald 1944-2001 and the Austrian author Christoph Ransmayr 1954 were born too late to know directly the violence of the Second World War and the Holocaust but these traumatic events are a persistent presence in their work In a series of close readings of key prose texts Dora Osborne examines the different ways in which the traces of a traumatic past mark their narratives By focusing on the authors' use of visual and topographical tropes she shows how blind spots and inhospitable places configure signs of past violence but ultimately resist our understanding Whilst links between the two authors are well documented this book offers the first full length study of Sebald and Ransmayr and their complicated relation to the traumatic traces of National Socialism Dora Osborne is Lecturer in German at the University of Nottingham The New Georgics, 2016-09-12 The human condition in rural provincial locations is once again gaining status as a subject of European high fiction after several decades in which it was dismissed on aesthetic and ideological grounds This volume is one of the first attempts to investigate perspectives on local cultures values and languages both systematically and in a European context It does so by examining the works of a variety of authors including Hugo Claus Llamazares Bergounioux and Millet Buffalino and Consolo and also several Soviet authors who paint a grim picture of a collectivized and thus ossified rurality How do these themes relate to the ongoing trend of globalization How do these works which are often experimental connect in their form topics language and ideological subtext to the traditional rural or regional genres Far from naively celebrating a lost Eden most of these new Georgics reflect critically on the tensions in contemporary peripheral rural or regional cultures to the point of parodying the traditional topoi and genres This book is of interest to those wishing to reflect on the dynamics and conflicts in contemporary European rural culture Hinter den
