Western and Northern Territories of Poland Zachodnia Agencja Prasowa,1959 Western and Northern Poland Henryk Rechowicz,1972 The Polish Wild West Beata Halicka,2020-05-12 The incorporation of German territories east of the Oder and Western Neisse rivers into Poland in 1945 was linked with the difficult process of an almost total exchange of population and involved the taking over of a region in which the Second World War had effected an enormous level of destruction The contemporary term Polish Wild West not only alluded to the reigning atmosphere of chaos and survival of the fittest in the Polish German borderland but was also associated with a new kind of freedom and the opportunity to start everything anew The arrival in this region of Polish settlers from different parts of Poland led to Poles Germans and Soviet soldiers temporarily coming into contact with one another Living together in this war damaged space was far from easy On the basis of ego documents the author recreates the beginnings of the shaping of this new society one affected by a repressive political system internal conflicts and human tragedy In distancing oneself from the until recently dominant narratives concerning expellees in Germany or pioneers of the Recovered Territories in Poland Beata Halicka tells the story of the disintegration of a previous cultural landscape and the establishment of one which was new in a colourful and vivid manner and encompassing different points of view Uprooted Gregor Thum,2011-08-08 How a German city became Polish after World War II With the stroke of a pen at the Potsdam Conference following the Allied victory in 1945 Breslau the largest German city east of Berlin became the Polish city of Wrocław Its more than six hundred thousand inhabitants almost all of them ethnic Germans were expelled and replaced by Polish settlers from all parts of prewar Poland Uprooted examines the long term psychological and cultural consequences of forced migration in twentieth century Europe through the experiences of Wrocław s Polish inhabitants In this pioneering work Gregor Thum tells the story of how the city s new Polish settlers found themselves in a place that was not only unfamiliar to them but outright repellent given Wrocław s Prussian German appearance and the enormous scope of wartime destruction The immediate consequences were an unstable society an extremely high crime rate rapid dilapidation of the building stock and economic stagnation This changed only after the city s authorities and a new intellectual elite provided Wrocław with a Polish founding myth and reshaped the city s appearance to fit the postwar legend that it was an age old Polish city Thum also shows how the end of the Cold War and Poland s democratization triggered a public debate about Wrocław s amputated memory Rediscovering the German past Wrocław s Poles reinvented their city for the second time since World War II Uprooted traces the complex historical process by which Wrocław s new inhabitants revitalized their city and made it their own Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,Library of Congress. Un-Polish Poland, 1989 and the Illusion of Regained Historical Continuity Tomasz Kamusella, 2017-08-21 This book discusses historical continuities and discontinuities between the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth interwar Poland the Polish People's Republic and contemporary Poland The year 1989 is seen as a clear point break that allowed the Poles and their country to regain a natural historical continuity with the Second Republic as interwar Poland is commonly referred to in the current Polish national master narrative In this pattern of thinking about the past Poland Lithuania nowadays roughly coterminous with Belarus Latvia Lithuania Poland Russia's Kaliningrad Region and Ukraine is seen as the First Republic However in spite of this politics of memory Geschichtspolitik regarding its borders institutions law language or ethnic and social makeup present day Poland in reality is the direct successor to and the continuation of communist Poland Ironically today's Poland is very different in all the aforementioned aspects from the First and Second Republics Hence contemporary Poland is quite un-Polish indeed from the perspective of Polishness defined as a historical that is legal social cultural ethnic and political continuity of Poland Lithuania and interwar Poland
