Policies And Strategies In Marginal Regions Summary And Evaluations:

Rural Areas Between Regional Needs and Global Challenges Walter Leimgruber, Chang-yi David Chang, 2019-01-01

This book provides an up to date account of the many processes shaping and transforming rural space in various parts of the world. The various case studies focus on the multi functionality of the rural world and the driving forces behind it. The book demonstrates that rural areas are no longer simply characterized by an agricultural economy and instead accommodate multiple complementary activities. It also touches upon two major changes that have taken place. The first is the process of ruralization which has led to the clear distinction between town and countryside becoming blurred. Urban traits have penetrated rural areas and rural traits have invaded towns. The second change is that rural areas are increasingly seen as multi functional providers not only of food and other natural resources but also locations for the generation of renewable energy: wind farms, solar farms, biogas and regions for the preservation of biodiversity. These transformations have resulted in a new understanding and self image of rural areas and their populations.

Policies and Strategies in Marginal Regions Roser Majoral, Chul-Woo Lee, Walter Leimgruber, 2018-03-31. This title was first published in 2003. Bringing together both theoretical arguments and empirical case studies from Eastern and Western Europe, the Middle East, North Africa, Australia, Korea, Siberia and North America, this volume presents a broad overview of the research and debates taking place on the topics of marginality and marginal regions. It shows how the range of themes discussed in relation to marginal regions has widened. Marginality is no longer limited to purely economic considerations but now encompasses subjects such as culture, society, geopolitics and the environment. In addition, attention has increasingly been paid to questions of scale. The emphasis placed upon micro marginality in a number of studies demonstrates the wide applicability of this concept. Also, marginality is not necessarily the final state of a process; there is always the possibility for a reversal of the situation depending on a new perception and evaluation of resources. For example, dealing with this range of issues, the book is divided into five main sections: economic factors and processes, management policies and conservation, settlement dynamics, perception and awareness, and socio cultural issues.

Regional and Local Economic Development Cliff Hague, Carrie Breitbach, 2017-08-24. From the growth of a multi billion dollar high technology corridor in Malaysia to conflict over housing development in Chicago, the practice of regional and local economic development around the world is both dynamic and diverse. Regional and Local Economic Development introduces the theory behind economic development and provides examples of successful and less successful practice. This broad ranging new text shows how government, private industry and individuals combine to achieve economic development. It examines the development of policies and practices in recent decades such as eco industrial parks, place marketing and social enterprises and analyzes the ways in which contemporary regional economies are changing. It also summarizes the key academic debates and reviews the main concepts which inform policy making. Truly global in scope with case studies from over 30 countries, this book will be welcomed by students and
