Dictatorship, State Planning, and Social Theory in the German Democratic Republic Peter C. Caldwell, 2003-03-27 The introduction of state planning and party dictatorship dramatically altered the environment for social theory in the German Democratic Republic But social thought did not disappear By the mid 1950s East German social theorists discovered the basic contradictions of state socialism that would eventually lead to its collapse the inability of the plan to function without markets and its inability to permit markets the inability of the party state to guarantee the rule of law and yet also the need for a regular system of rules in a modern industrial society and the contradictory philosophical claims of a Marxist Leninist philosophy that rejected idealism and Marxist Leninist dogma with its idealistic claim to know the laws of social modernization Making use of archival sources Caldwell examines the articulation of these analyses their subsequent suppression by party authorities in the late 1950s and their return under the guise of cybernetics in the 1960s Law in the Service of Legitimacy Catherine Warrick,2016-12-05 Using gender and law in the political system of Jordan as a means of investigating broader issues surrounding the relationship between culture and political legitimacy this volume offers an in depth treatment of the laws that define limit and expand women s rights Arguing that gender issues aren t simply a special topic in politics but an indicator and symbol of the character of the political system as a whole the significance of the politics of legitimacy as played out in issues of gender and law is not only about the content of policies and competition of interests but about the power to determine the nature of the political system itself

African American Perspectives on Political Science Wilbur Rich,2007-01-15 Race matters in both national and international politics Starting from this perspective African American Perspectives on Political Science presents original essays from leading African American political scientists Collectively they evaluate the discipline its subfields the quality of race related research and omissions in the literature They argue that because Americans do not fully understand the many faceted issues of race in politics in their own country they find it difficult to comprehend ethnic and racial disputes in other countries as well In addition partly because there are so few African Americans in the field political science faces a danger of unconscious insularity in methodology and outlook Contributors argue that the discipline needs multiple perspectives to prevent it from developing blind spots Taken as a whole these essays argue with great urgency that African American political scientists have a unique opportunity and a special responsibility to rethink the canon the norms and the directions of the discipline
