Radio Art:

Science Meets Art John Potts, Nigel Helyer, 2022-07-14 This book explores collaboration between artists and scientists and examines the ways in which scientific data and research findings can be communicated translated and transformed using the techniques of contemporary art and information technology Contemporary art forms including installation sculpture painting computer based art Internet art and interactive electronic artworks are able to provide new and creative outlets with expanded audiences for scientific research The book which features 75 illustrations of works created as a result of art science collaboration between scientists and artists is important in the field because it presents a thorough account of the collaboration through the eyes of a leading creative practitioner and a leading cultural theorist It contains a wide range of in detail examples of successful collaborative works that illustrate the breadth and depth of contemporary interdisciplinary creative research approaches

Anatomy of Sound Jacob Smith, Neil Verma, 2016-07-19 This collection of essays examines one of the most important yet understudied media authors of all time Norman Corwin using him as a critical lens to consider the history of multimedia authorship particularly in the realm of sound Known for seven decades as the poet laureate of radio Corwin is most famous for his radio dramas which reached tens of millions of listeners around the world and contributed to radio drama's success as a mass media form in the 1930s and 1940s But Corwin was a pioneer in multiple media including cinema theater TV public service broadcasting journalism and even cantata In each of these areas Corwin had a distinctive approach to sonic aesthetics and mastery of multiple aspects of media production relying in part on his inventive atmospheric effects in the studio both prerecorded and more impressively live in real time From the front lines of World War II to his role as Chief of Special Projects for United Nations Radio and his influence on media today the political and social aspect of Corwin's work is woven into these essays With a foreword by Michele Hilmes and contributions from Thomas Doherty Mary Ann Watson Shawn VanCour David Ossman and others this volume cements Corwin's reputation as perhaps the greatest writer in the history of radio while also showing that his long career is a neglected model of multimedia authorship Provided by publisher

Information Arts Stephen Wilson, 2003-02-28 An introduction to the work and ideas of artists who use and even influence science and technology A new breed of contemporary artist engages science and technology not just to adopt the vocabulary and gizmos but to explore and comment on the content agendas and possibilities Indeed proposes Stephen Wilson the role of the artist is not only to interpret and to spread scientific knowledge but to be an active partner in determining the direction of research Years ago C P Snow wrote about the two cultures of science and the humanities these developments may finally help to change the outlook of those who view science and technology as separate from the general culture In this rich compendium Wilson offers the first comprehensive survey of international artists who incorporate concepts and research from mathematics the physical sciences biology kinetics telecommunications and experimental digital systems such as artificial intelligence and ubiquitous computing In addition to visual documentation and statements by the
