

Why did Durkheim study “primitive” society to understand religion?

- Simplicity allows for analysis of “essential” features.
- These societies are different enough from our own experience that we are able to see important features.
- Durkheim looked for “the elements which constitute that which is permanent and human in religion; they form all the objective contents of the idea which is expressed when one speaks of religion in general.”

Religion In Primitive Society

Edward Norbeck

Religion In Primitive Society:

Religion in Primitive Culture Edward Burnett Tylor, 1970 The author argues that religion had been used to explain things that occurred in the world He saw that it was important for religions to have the ability to explain why and for what reason things occurred in the world For example God or the divine gave us sun to keep us warm and give us light He argues that animism is the essential foundation of all religions Animism is the belief in spirits inhabiting and animating beings or souls existing in things To the author the fact that 19th century religious practitioners continued to believe in spirits showed that they were no more advanced than primitive societies For him this implied that religious practitioners do not understand the ways of the universe and how life truly works because they have excluded science from their understanding of the world By excluding scientific explanation he asserts that contemporary religious practitioners are rudimentary He perceived the modern religious belief in God as a survival of primitive ignorance However he did not believe that atheism was the logical end of cultural and religious development but instead a highly minimalist form of monotheist deism He therefore posited an anthropological description of the gradual elimination of paganism and disenchantment but not secularization Adapted from Wikipedia Religion In Primitive Society Edward Norbeck, 2025-08-05 Religion in Primitive Society is a foundational work in the anthropology of religion offering a lucid and comparative examination of spiritual belief systems among non literate and pre industrial cultures Edward Norbeck explores how early societies conceived of the supernatural organized rituals and used religion as a framework for interpreting the natural and social world Drawing on extensive ethnographic sources and his own fieldwork Norbeck examines diverse phenomena animism ancestor worship magic taboo shamanism and myth making within societies ranging from the Pacific Islands to Central Africa Rather than reducing religion to superstition Norbeck treats it as a dynamic and adaptive force that helps communities make sense of uncertainty establish social cohesion and define moral codes His analysis is both anthropological and humanistic acknowledging the richness and complexity of belief systems that have too often been dismissed Religion in Primitive Society is essential reading for students of anthropology comparative religion and anyone seeking to understand the roots of human spirituality The Meaning and Function of Religion in Primitive Society , Religion in Primitive Cultures Wilhelm Dupré, 2011-10-10 Since its founding by Jacques Waardenburg in 1971 Religion and Reason has been a leading forum for contributions on theories theoretical issues and agendas related to the phenomenon and the study of religion Topics include among others category formation comparison ethnophilosophy hermeneutics methodology myth phenomenology philosophy of science scientific atheism structuralism and theories of religion From time to time the series publishes volumes that map the state of the art and the history of the discipline Religion in Primitive Society Edward Norbeck, 1961 Discussion of religious beliefs and practices in societies includes references to Aboriginal Australians Religion in Primitive Society Donald M. Anderson, 1961 Religion in Primitive Society Wilson Dallam Wallis, 1939 Primitive Culture : Religion in Primitive

Society Edward Burnett Tylor (Sir),1958 Early Modern Social Theory Murray E. G. Smith,1998 Early Modern Social Theory Selected Interpretive Readings is a collection of essays that illuminates the course of development of modern social thought from the Enlightenment to the 1920s The essays focus on the most prominent social theorists including Smith Durkheim Marx and Engels and Weber Each essay has been chosen to provide the main contributions of the theorist and the political and economic context in which he worked The editor a noted scholar in the field has written clear concise introductions to each section and provided a glossary of frequently used philosophical terms The collection includes two famous feminist critiques of the literature by Rosalind Sydie and Lise Vogel as well as papers by Tom Bottomorw on Max Weber Anthony Giddens on the division of labour and essays by Mandel and Trotsky on Marx Religions of Primitive Peoples Daniel Garrison Brinton,1899
