Remaking of Modern Europe from the Outbreak of the French Revolution to the Treaty of Berlin, 1789-1878 Sir John Arthur Ransome Marriott, 1919 The Great War and the Making of the Modern World Jeremy Black, 2011-03-17

This new work demonstrates how the outcome of the First World War has formed the modern world we live in today The First World War was the Great War for its leading participants In revisiting the events of 1914 1918 a century on Jeremy Black considers how we now look at the impact of the conflict across the globe and how it came to be World War I in our consciousness For millions both soldiers and civilians the conflict proved fatal The suffering and loss of the war provides much of its resonance and significance but this book seeks to throw light beyond this not least in asking how it ended in victory and defeat Casting aside the conventional narrative Jeremy Black returns to a vast range of original sources and investigates not only the key events of the war but its consequences in restructuring the old order As its significance has changed with time and not only with the loss of first hand testimony Black considers the struggle not only in its historical context but through its memorialisation today State, Power and Politics in the Making of the Modern Middle East Roger Owen, 2013-01-11 Roger Owen has fully revised and updated his authoritative text to take into account the latest developments in the Middle East This book continues to serve as an excellent introduction for newcomers to the modern history and politics of this fascinating region This third edition continues to explore the emergence of individual Middle Eastern states since the fall of the Ottoman Empire at the end of the First World War and the key themes that have characterized the region since then Making Enemies Mary Patricia Callahan, 2003 The Burmese army took political power in Burma in 1962 and has ruled the country ever since The persistence of this government even in the face of long term nonviolent opposition led by activist Aung San Suu Kyi who was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1991 has puzzled scholars In a book relevant to current debates about democratization Mary P Callahan seeks to explain the extraordinary durability of the Burmese military regime In her view the origins of army rule are to be found in the relationship between war and state formation Burma's colonial past had seen a large imbalance between the military and civil sectors That imbalance was accentuated soon after formal independence by one of the earliest and most persistent covert Cold War conflicts involving CIA funded Kuomintang incursions across the Burmese border into the People's Republic of China Because this raised concerns in Rangoon about the possibility of a showdown with Communist China the Burmese Army received even more autonomy and funding to protect the integrity of the new nation state The military transformed itself during the late 1940s and the 1950s from a group of anticolonial guerrilla bands into the professional force that seized power in 1962 The army edged out all other state and social institutions in the competition for national power Making Enemies draws upon Callahan's interviews with former military officers and her archival work in Burmese libraries and halls of power Callahan's unparalleled access allows her to correct existing explanations of Burmese authoritarianism and to supply new information about the coups of 1958 and 1962 The Making of the Modern Mediterranean, 2019-07-09 Studies of the pivotal historic place of the Mediterranean have long been dominated by specialists of its northern shores that is by European historians The seven leading authors in this groundbreaking volume challenge views of Mediterranean space as shaped by European trajectories and in doing so they challenge our comfortable notions Drawing perspectives from the Mediterranean's eastern and southern shores they ask anew What is the Mediterranean What are its borders its defining characteristics What forces of nature politics culture or economics have made the Mediterranean and how long have they or will they endure Covering the sixteenth century to the twentieth this timely volume brings the early modern world into conversation with the modern world in new ways demonstrating that only recently can we differentiate the north and south into separate cultural and political zones The Making of the Modern Mediterranean Views from the South offers a blueprint for a new generation of readers to rethink the world we thought we knew Modern African Conflicts Timothy J. Stapleton, 2022-06-30 An essential resource for students or general readers interested in post colonial Africa this encyclopedia provides coverage of different regions countries wars battles factions leaders and foreign powers Armed conflict represents a substantial part of African history since around 1960 yet this history is either insufficiently taught or overshadowed by negative stereotypes about African tribal warfare This encyclopedia provides concise historical information on conflicts that occurred in post colonial Africa The entries cover all the regions of Africa North West Central East and Southern the Cold War and post Cold War periods a range of important leaders various types of conflicts from civil wars and insurgencies to conventional military engagements involvement of foreign powers and such themes as airpower women and war and genocide All The Pasha's Men: Mehmed Ali, His Army And The Making Of Modern Egypt Khaled Fahmy, 2002 Basing his work on previously neglected archival material the author demonstrates how Mehmed Ali sought to develop the Egyptian economy and armies not as a means of gaining independence but to further his hereditary rule over Egypt
