Remaking The Economic Institutions Of Socialism China And Eastern Europe:

Remaking the Economic Institutions of Socialism Victor Nee, David Stark, 1989 To what extent can contemporary socialist economies be reformed by the introduction of markets The question is usually debated in either a Chinese or an East European context this collection of eleven essays is unique in taking the first steps toward a comparative analysis Twenty years of experience with reforms in Hungary and a decade of experimentation with reforms in China provide a critical mass of evidence for analyzing the problems endemic to centrally planned economies and the dilemmas faced in efforts to reform them In reflecting on the Chinese and East European experiences these essays trace the shift from a conception of reform as a mix of planning and markets within the state sector to a socialist mixed economy with implications for the emergence of new social groups and autonomous social organizations The essays exemplify a new perspective in the study of state socialism that changes the focus from ideologies to economic institutions examining how the activities of subordinate groups place limits on the power of state elites The authors include scholars who have shaped debates in Eastern Europe and whose work is now stimulating much discussion in China as well as representatives of a younger generation of economists sociologists and political scientists writing on the basis of field research recently conducted in factories cities and villages in China and Eastern Europe The contributors are Wlodzimierz Brus Walter D Connor Zhiren Lin Victor Nee Susan Shirk David Stark Ivan Szelenyi and Martin King Whyte An introductory essays surveys recent theories and research on state socialism and outlines a new institutional perspective for understanding the dilemmas of partial reforms the political cycles of reform and retrenchment and the role of subordinate groups in stimulating changes outside the state sector Eastern European Capitalism in the Making Elena A. Iankova, 2002-09-09 Publisher Description The Politics of the Postcommunist World Stephen White, Daniel Nelson, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2001 This series brings together the most significant journal articles to appear in the field of comparative politics since the 1970s The aim is to render accessible to teachers researchers and students an extensive range of essays as a basis for understanding established terrain and new ground Adaptation And Transformation In Communist And Post-communist Systems Sabrina Petra Ramet, 2019-03-04 This book tackles different aspects of the adaptive and transformative process in communist and post communist systems in Eastern Europe offering competing models which locate the explanatory variable in different places and account for the unfolding of change in different ways Comparative Economic Transformations Yu-Shan Wu, 1994 This pathbreaking work attempts to understand China's economic policies by examining the political logic behind economic reforms in authoritarian command economy states from the wholly original perspective of property rights Commodifying Communism David L. Wank, 1999 Commodifying Communism is an ethnographically grounded account of the institutional organization and political consequences of China's historically unprecedented market growth Drawing upon almost two years of ethnographic fieldwork this book challenges conventional views of post communist emerging markets being tied to the retreat of the state David Wank shows how entrepreneurs running private trading companies in Xiamen City Fujian Province one of China's five special economic zones maximize profit and security through patron-client networks with local state agents The book examines how processes of opportunity exchange expectations and advantage are constrained by both statist and popular institutions in market clientelism It also considers the implications of market clientelism for the dynamism of China's emerging market economy relative to Eastern European post-communist economies and its political consequences for state-society and center-local relations Postsocialist Pathways David Stark, Laszlo Bruszt, 1998-02-28 This book first published in 1998 analyzes democratization and economic change in the postsocialist societies of East Central Europe

China's Emergent Political Economy Christopher A. McNally, 2007-09-12 Pt 1 Setting the stage part 2 Firms finance innovation and international competitiveness part 3 State capital and political interests part 4 China in the global capitalist system China's Domestic Private Firms: Anne S. Tsui, Yanjie Bian, 2014-12-18 One of the most important outcomes of market reforms in China over the past 20 years has been the emergence of a significant domestic private sector which now accounts for almost a third of China's GDP and is by far the country's most important source of employment growth This book is the first in-depth analysis of the management and operation of these domestic private firms which are defined as companies or organizations created by PRC citizens including township enterprises and collectives The book provides a comprehensive and multidisciplinary perspective on the factors important to the successful operation and growth of these firms It begins with a review of the literature on the topic in three different disciplines economics sociology and management each followed by several chapters covering recent developments in these areas Featuring contributions by distinguished scholars and China experts the work concludes with an insightful chapter on the future of China's public sector in the global economy Transforming Mozambique M. Anne Pitcher, 2002-11-14 Many of the economic transformations in Africa have been as dramatic as those in Eastern Europe Yet much of the comparative literature on transitions has overlooked African countries This 2002 study of Mozambique's shift from a command to a market economy draws on a wealth of empirical material including archival sources interviews political posters and corporate advertisements to reveal that the state is a central actor in the reform process despite the claims of neo-liberals and their critics Alongside the state social forces from World Bank officials to rural smallholders have also accelerated thwarted or shaped change in Mozambique M Anne Pitcher offers an intriguing analysis of the dynamic interaction between previous and emerging agents ideas and institutions to explain the erosion of socialism and the politics of privatization in a developing country She demonstrates that Mozambique's political economy is a heterogeneous blend of ideological and institutional continuities and ruptures
