Remembering History:

History Matters Why Remembering the Past Remains the Foundation of a Free Society Mark Carl, 101-01-01

Reclaiming Home, Remembering Motherhood, Rewriting History Marie Drews, Verena Theile, 2009-05-05

Reclaiming Home Remembering Motherhood Rewriting History African American and Afro Caribbean Women s Literature in the Twentieth Century offers a critical valuation of literature composed by black female writers and examines their projects of reclamation memory and revision As a collection it engages black women writers efforts to create more inclusive conceptualizations of community gender and history conceptualizations that take into account alternate lived and written experiences as well as imagined futures Contributors to this collection probe the realms of gender studies postcolonialism and post structural theory and suggest important ways in which to explore connections between home motherhood and history across the multifarious narratives of African American and Afro Caribbean experiences Together they argue that it is through their female characters that black women writers demonstrate the tumultuous processes of deciphering home and homeland of articulating the complexities of mothering relationships and of locating their own personal history within local and national narratives Essays gathered in this collection consider the works of African American women writers Pauline Hopkins Toni Morrison Jessie Redmon Fauset Audre Lorde Lalita Tademy Lorene Cary Octavia Butler Zora Neale Hurston and Sherley Anne Williams alongside the works of black women writers from the Caribbean Jamaica Kincaid and Gis le Pineau Guyana Grace Nichols and Cuba Mar a de los Reyes Castillo Bueno Cognitive Ecologies and the History of Remembering E. Tribble, N. Keene, 2011-04-05 This book unites research in philosophy and cognitive science with cultural history to re examine memory in early modern religious practices Offering an ecological approach to memory and culture it argues that models derived from Extended Mind and Distributed Cognition can bridge the gap between individual and social models of memory Search History Eugene Lim, 2021-10-05 Search History oscillates between a wild cyberdog chase and lunch date monologues as Eugene Lim deconstructs grieving and storytelling with uncanny juxtapositions and subversive satire Frank Exit is dead or is he While eavesdropping on two women discussing a dog sitting gig over lunch a bereft friend comes to a shocking realization Frank has been reincarnated as a dog This epiphany launches a series of adventures interlaced with digressions about AI generated fiction virtual reality Asian American identity in the arts and lost parents as an unlikely cast of accomplices and enemies pursues the mysterious canine In elliptical propulsive prose Search History plumbs the depths of personal and collective consciousness questioning what we consume how we grieve and the stories we tell ourselves Remembering 1916 Richard S. Grayson, Fearghal McGarry, 2016-03-03 A pioneering analysis of how the Easter Rising and the Battle of the Somme have been remembered in Ireland since 1916 Remembering America Lawrence R. Samuel, 2015-11 American history is ubiquitous underscoring everything from food to travel to architecture and design It is also emotionally charged frequently crossing paths with political and legal issues In Remembering America

Lawrence R Samuel examines the place that American history has occupied within education and popular culture and how it has continually shaped and reflected our cultural values and national identity The story of American history Samuel explains is not a straight line but rather one filled with twists and turns and ups and downs its narrative path as winding as that of the United States as a whole Organized around six distinct eras of American history ranging from the 1920s to the present Samuel shows that our understanding of American history has often generated struggle and contention as ideologically opposed groups battled over ownership of the past As women and minorities gained greater power and a louder voice in the national conversation our perspectives on American history became significantly more multicultural bringing race gender and class issues to the forefront These new interpretations of our history helped to reshape our identity on both a national and an individual level Samuel argues that the fight for ownership of our past combined with how those owners have imparted history to our youth crucially affects who we are Our interpretation and expression of our country's past reflects how that self identity has changed over the last one hundred years and created a strong sense of our collective history one of the few things Americans all have in common

Remembering War J. M. Winter, 2006-01-01 This is a masterful volume on remembrance and war in the twentieth century Jay Winter locates the fascination with the subject of memory within a long term trajectory that focuses on the Great War Images languages and practices that appeared during and after the two world wars focused on the need to acknowledge the victims of war and shaped the ways in which future conflicts were imagined and remembered At the core of the memory boom is an array of collective meditations on war and the victims of war Winter says The book begins by tracing the origins of contemporary interest in memory then describes practices of remembrance that have linked history and memory particularly in the first half of the twentieth century The author also considers theaters of memory film television museums and war crimes trials in which the past is seen through public representations of memories The book concludes with reflections on the significance of these practices for the cultural history of the twentieth century as a whole

Remembering the Year of the French Guy Beiner, 2007 Delving into the folk history found in Ireland's oral traditions this work reveals alternate visions of the Irish past and brings into focus the vernacular histories folk commemorative practices and negotiations of memory that have gone unnoticed by historians

The Oxford Handbook of Oral History Donald A. Ritchie, 2011 The Oxford Handbook of Oral History brings together 40 authors on five continents to address the evolution of oral history the impact of digital technology the most recent methodological and archival issues and the application of oral history to both scholarly research and public presentations

We Are What We Remember Laura Mattoon D'Amore, Jeffrey Meriwether, 2013-01-16 Commemorative practices are revised and rebuilt based on the spirit of the time in which they are re created Historians sometimes imagine that commemoration captures history but actually commemoration creates new narratives about history that allow people to interact with the past in a way that they find meaningful As our social values change race gender religion sexuality class our commemorations do too We Are What We

Remember The American Past Through Commemoration analyzes current trends in the study of historical memory that are particularly relevant to our own present our biases our politics our contextual moment and strive to name forgotten overlooked and denied pasts in traditional histories Race gender and sexuality for example raise questions about our most treasured myths where were the slaves at Jamestowne How do women or lesbians protect and preserve their own histories when no one else wants to write them Our current social climate allows us to question authority and especially the authoritative definitions of nation patriotism and heroism and belonging How do we uncommemorate things that were miscommemorated in the past How do we repair the damage done by past commemorations The chapters in this book contributed by eighteen emerging and established scholars examine these modern questions that entirely reimagine the landscape of commemoration as it has been practiced and studied before
