Renaissance Literature And Its Formal Engagements:

Renaissance Literature and its Formal Engagements M. Rasmussen, 2016-04-30 What might a self conscious turn to formal analysis look like in Renaissance literary studies today after theory and the new historicism The essays collected here address this question from a variety of critical perspectives as part of a renewed willingness within literary and cultural studies to engage questions of form Essays by Paul Alpers Douglas Bruster Stephen Cohen Heather Dubrow William Flesch Joseph Loewenstein Elizabeth Harris Sagaser and Mark Womack together with an introduction of Mark David Rasmussen and an afterword by Richard Strier Women's Work in Early Modern English Literature and Culture Michelle M.

Dowd, 2009-04-13 Dowd investigates literature's engagement with the gendered conflicts of early modern England by examining the narratives that seventeenth century dramatists created to describe the lives of working women New Formalist Criticism F. Bogel, 2013-11-19 New Formalist Criticism defines and theorizes a mode of formalist criticism that is theoretically compatible with current thinking about literature and theory New formalism anticipates a move in literary studies back towards the text and in so doing establishes itself as one of the most exciting areas of contemporary critical theory Feminist Formalism and Early Modern Women's Writing Lara Dodds, Michelle M. Dowd, 2022 Feminist Formalism and Early Modern Women's Writing reexamines the relationship between gender and form in early modern women's writing in essays that elaborate the specific literary strategies of women writers that examine women's debts to and appropriations of different literary genres and that offer practical suggestions for the teaching of women's texts in several different contexts Contributors explore the possibility of feminist formalism a methodology that both attends to the structural rhetorical and other formal techniques of a given text and takes gender as a central category of analysis This collection contends that feminist formalism is a useful tool for scholars of the early modern period and for literary studies more broadly because it marries the traditional questions of formalism including questions of style genre and literary history with the political and cultural concerns of feminist inquiry Contributors reposition works by important women writers such as Margaret Cavendish Hester Pulter Mary Wroth and Katherine Philips as central to the development of English literary tradition By examining a variety of texts written by women including recipes emblems exchanges and poetry Feminist Formalism and Early Modern Women's Writing contributes to existing scholarship on early modern women's writing while extending it in new and important directions Staging the Superstitions of Early Modern Europe Andrew D. McCarthy, 2016-04-01 Engaging with fiction and history and reading both genres as texts permeated with early modern anxieties desires and apprehensions this collection scrutinizes the historical intersection of early modern European superstitions and English stage literature Contributors analyze the cultural mechanisms that shape preserve and transmit beliefs They investigate where superstitions come from and how they are sustained and communicated within early modern European society It has been proposed by scholars that once enacted on stage and thus brought into contact with the literary dramatic perspective belief systems that had been preserved and reinforced by historical literary texts underwent a drastic change By highlighting the connection between historical literary and literary dramatic culture this volume tests and explores the theory that performance of superstitions opened the way to disbelief New Formalisms and Literary Theory V. Theile, L. Tredennick, 2013-04-11 Bringing together scholars who have critically followed New Formalism's journey through time space and learning environment this collection of essays both solidifies and consolidates New Formalism as a burgeoning field of literary criticism and explicates its potential as a varied but viable methodology of contemporary critical theory Islam and Early Modern English Literature Benedict S. Robinson, 2015-12-17 This book traces the process through which authors like Spenser Shakespeare and Milton adapted rewrote or resisted romance mapping a world in which new cross cultural contacts and religious conflicts demanded a rethinking of some of the most fundamental terms of early modern identity The Poetics of Conversion in Early Modern English Literature Molly Murray, 2009-10-15 Christians in post Reformation England inhabited a culture of conversion Required to choose among rival forms of worship many would cross and often recross the boundary between Protestantism and Catholicism This study considers the poetry written by such converts from the reign of Elizabeth I to that of James II concentrating on four figures John Donne William Alabaster Richard Crashaw and John Dryden Murray offers a context for each poet's conversion within the era's polemical and controversial literature She also elaborates on the formal features of the poems themselves demonstrating how the language of poetry could express both spiritual and ecclesiastical change with particular vividness and power Proposing conversion as a catalyst for some of the most innovative devotional poetry of the period both canonical and uncanonical this study will be of interest to all specialists in early modern English literature Beyond the Cloister Jenna Lay, 2016-07-12 Representations of Catholic women appear with surprising frequency in the literature of post Reformation England Playwrights and poets from William Shakespeare to Andrew Marvell invoke the figure of the nun to powerful and often perplexing effect and works that never directly address female Catholicism such as Christopher Marlowe's Hero and Leander share a discourse with contemporary debates regarding the status of recusant women Catholic Englishwomen whether living in convents on the European continent or as recusants in their own country contributed to these debates but even as their writings addressed the central religious and political issues of their time their contributions were effaced and now are largely forgotten Exploring the writings of Catholic women in conversation with those of Shakespeare Marvell Marlowe Donne and other canonical authors Beyond the Cloister shows that nuns and recusants were centrally important to the development of English literature The defining narratives of early modern England cast nuns as the relics of an unenlightened past and equated Catholic femininity with the dangerous charms of the Whore of Babylon With careful attention to literary figurations of Catholic femininity and to the vibrant manuscript culture in the English convents Jenna Lay reveals a far more complex reality Through their use of tropes figures generic patterns and literary allusions Catholic women produced politically incendiary and rhetorically powerful lyrics prayers polemics and hagiographies Drawing on the insights of religious studies historical formalism and feminist criticism Beyond the Cloister offers a reassessment of crucial decades in the development of English literary history The Work of Form Elizabeth Scott-Baumann, Ben Burton, 2014 The Work of Form investigates ways of reading early modern poetry which unite historical and formal approaches Essays explore a wide range of meanings of form drawing on early modern literary theory as well as practice to expand definitions and understandings of early modern poetic form
