Essays on the Awareness of Loss in Contemporary Albanian Literature Bavjola Gami Shatro, 2024-05-29

Essays on the Awareness of Loss in Contemporary Albanian Literature Voices that Come from the Abyss is the first scholarly monograph on the concept of loss in Albanian poetry and life writing of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. It represents the first academic contribution to an international audience dedicated to three women writers that personified loss in communist Albania and two eminent poets who wrote representative and outstanding poetry on the meaning of loss in Albanian literature. Through the work of these three politically persecuted women writers and two modern poets, this book analyzes loss in relation to pain, grief, memory, death, freedom, and love, inquiring on the meeting point between life writing and poetry and the point where they part ways. The book explores the work of Musine Kokalari, the first Albanian woman writer and political dissident; Bedi Pipa, the first woman known to have authored a diary in Albanian literature; Drita Lomo, author of a diary and poetry written in secret in political exile under communism; Fatos Arapi, the Albanian poet who has been awarded the most important international literary prize to date and who has elaborated on the ethical implications of freedom, grief, and death in relation to personal loss; Ali Podrimja, a cornerstone of contemporary Albanian poetry, author of a volume that marked a definite turn to modernity in Albanian poetry in the Republic of Kosovo and to date one of the best volumes of poetry written in the history of Albanian literature; and Lum Lumi, where he explores the depth of grief, pain, loss, and love. The works of these five authors bring forth the necessity to re-visit the history of Albanian literature and promote interdisciplinary and comparative studies beyond Albanian literature. Shatro studies the unique traits of their life writing, the specific link between different literary genres, and the exceptional capacity of poetry to carry loss to the point of articulating the unsaid, thus giving a voice to silence. She argues that through diary, memoir, epistolary, and poetry, all five authors provide different views of loss and its challenging ethical implications in relation to death, memory, and freedom.

Dickinson's Nerves, Frost's Woods William Logan, 2018-06-05

In Dickinson's Nerves, Frost's Woods, William Logan, the noted and often controversial critic of contemporary poetry, returns to some of the greatest poems in English literature. He reveals what we may not have seen before and what his critical eye can do with what he loves. In essays that pair different poems—Ozymandias, On First Looking into Chapman's Homer, In a Station of the Metro, The Red Wheelbarrow, After great pain a formal feeling comes, and Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening, among others—Logan reconciles history and poetry to provide new ways of reading poets ranging from Shakespeare and Shelley to Lowell and Heaney. In these striking essays, Logan presents the poetry of the past through the lens of the past, attempting to bring poems back to the world in which they were made. Logan's criticism is informed by the material culture of that world, whether postal deliveries in Regency London, the Metro lighting in 1911 Paris, or the wheelbarrows used in 1923. Deeper knowledge of the poet's daily existence lets us read old poems afresh, providing a new way of understanding poems now.

encrusted with commentary Logan shows that criticism cannot just root blindly among the words of the poem but must live partly in a lost world in the shadow of the poet's life and the shadow of the age
