People and Computers XV — Interaction without Frontiers Ann Blandford, Jean Vanderdonckt, Phil Gray, 2011-06-27 In 2001 AFIHM and the British HCI Group combined their annual conferences bringing together the best features of each organisation's separate conference series and providing a special opportunity for the French and English speaking HCI communities to interact This volume contains the full papers presented at IHM HCI 2001 the 15th annual conference of the British HCI group a specialist group of the British Computer Society and the 14th annual conference of the Association Francophone d'interaction Homme Machine an independent association for any French speaking person who is interested in Human Computer Interaction Human Computer Interaction is a discipline well suited to such a multi linguistic and multi cultural conference since it brings together researchers and practitioners from a variety of disciplines with very different ways of thinking and working As a community we are already used to tackling the challenges of working across such boundaries dealing with the problems and taking advantage of the richness of the resulting insights interaction without frontiers The papers presented in this volume cover all the main areas of HCI research but also focus on considering the challenges of new applications addressing the following themes Enriching HCI by crossing national linguistic and cultural boundaries Achieving greater co operation between disciplines to deliver usable useful and exciting design solutions Benefiting from experience gained in other application areas Transcending interaction constraints through the use of novel technologies Supporting mobile users

People and Computers XVI - Memorable Yet Invisible Kristine Faulkner, Janet Finlay, Francoise Detienne, 2012-12-06 For the last 20 years the dominant form of user interface has been the Graphical User Interface GUI with direct manipulation As software gets more complicated and more and more inexperienced users come into contact with computers enticed by the World Wide Web and smaller mobile devices new interface metaphors are required The increasing complexity of software has introduced more options to the user This seemingly increased control actually decreases control as the number of options and features available to them overwhelms the users and information overload can occur Lachman 1997 Conversational anthropomorphic interfaces provide a possible alternative to the direct manipulation metaphor The aim of this paper is to investigate users reactions and assumptions when interacting with anthropomorphic agents Here we consider how the level of anthropomorphism exhibited by the character and the level of interaction affects these assumptions We compared characters of different levels of anthropomorphic abstraction from a very abstract character to a realistic yet not human character As more software is released for general use with anthropomorphic interfaces there seems to be no consensus of what the characters should look like and what look is more suited for different applications Some software and research opts for realistic looking characters for example Haptik Inc see <http://www.haptik.com> others opt for cartoon characters Microsoft 1999 others opt for floating heads Dohi Takama Koda 1996 Koda Koda Maes 1996b

Mobile Human-Computer Interaction - Mobile HCI 2004 Stephen Brewster, Mark Dunlop, 2004-09-01

MobileHCI is a forum for academics and practitioners to discuss the challenges and potential solutions for effective human computer interaction with mobile systems and services. It covers the design, evaluation and application of techniques and approaches for all mobile computing devices and services. MobileHCI 2004 was the sixth in the series of conferences that was started at Glasgow University in 1998 by Chris Johnson. We previously chaired the conference in 1999 in Edinburgh as part of INTERACT 1999 and in 2001 in Lille as part of IHM HCI 2001. The last two years saw the conference move to Italy under the chairmanship of Fabio Paternò in Pisa then under Luca Chittaro in Udine. In 2005 the conference will move to Austria to be chaired by Manfred Tscheligi. Each year the conference has its own website hosted by the conference chair; however the address www.mobilehci.org will always point to the next or current conference. The number of submissions has increased every year. This year we received 79 full papers, 63 were received last year from which we accepted the best 25. We had 81 short papers and posters submitted, 59 last year and accepted 20 of these as short papers and 22 as posters. We received 9 workshop, 4 tutorial and 2 panel proposals from which 5, 2 and 2 respectively were accepted.

New Directions in Music and Human-Computer Interaction Simon Holland, Tom Mudd, Katie Wilkie-McKenna, Andrew McPherson, Marcelo M. Wanderley, 2019-02-06. Computing is transforming how we interact with music. New theories and new technologies have emerged that present fresh challenges and novel perspectives for researchers and practitioners in music and human computer interaction HCI. In this collection the interdisciplinary field of music interaction is considered from multiple viewpoints: designers, interaction researchers, performers, composers, audiences, teachers and learners, dancers and gamers. The book comprises both original research in music interaction and reflections from leading researchers and practitioners in the field. It explores a breadth of HCI perspectives and methodologies from universal approaches to situated research within particular cultural and aesthetic contexts. Likewise it is musically diverse from experimental to popular, classical to folk including tango, laptop orchestras, composition and free improvisation.

Eye Tracking Kenneth Holmqvist, Marcus Nyström, Richard Andersson, Richard Dewhurst, Halszka Jarodzka, Joost van de Weijer, 2011-09-22 We make 3 5 eye movements per second and these movements are crucial in helping us deal with the vast amounts of information we encounter in our everyday lives In recent years thanks to the development of eye tracking technology there has been a growing interest in monitoring and measuring these movements with a view to understanding how we attend to and process the visual information we encounter Eye tracking as a research tool is now more accessible than ever and is growing in popularity amongst researchers from a whole host of different disciplines Usability analysts sports scientists cognitive psychologists reading researchers psycholinguists neurophysiologists electrical engineers and others all have a vested interest in eye tracking for different reasons The ability to record eye movements has helped advance our science and led to technological innovations However the growth of eye tracking in recent years has also presented a variety of challenges in particular the issue of how to design an eye tracking experiment and how to analyse the data This book is a much needed comprehensive handbook of eye tracking methodology It describes how to evaluate and acquire an eye tracker how to plan and design an eye tracking study and how to record and analyse eye movement data Besides technical details and theory the heart of this book revolves around practicality how raw data samples are converted into fixations and saccades using event detection algorithms how the different representations of eye movement data are calculated using AOIs heat maps and scanpaths and how all the measures of eye movements relate to these processes Part I presents the technology and skills needed to perform high quality research with eye trackers Part II covers the predominant methods applied to the data which eye trackers record These include the parsing of raw sample data into oculomotor events and how to calculate other representations of eye movements such as heat maps and transition matrices Part III gives a comprehensive outline of the measures which can be calculated using the events and representations described in Part II This is a taxonomy of the measures available to eye tracking researchers sorted by type of movement of the eyes and type of analysis For anyone in the sciences considering conducting research involving eye tracking this book will be an essential reference work
