People In The Way The Human Aspects Of The Columbia River Project:

People in the Way James Wood Wilson,1973 Becoming British Columbia John Belshaw,2009-07-01 Becoming British Columbia is the first comprehensive demographic history of British Columbia Investigating critical moments in the demographic record and linking demographic patterns to larger social and political questions it shows how biology politics and history conspired with sex death and migration to create a particular kind of society John Belshaw overturns the widespread tendency to associate population growth with progress He reveals that the province has a long tradition of thinking and acting vigorously in ways meant to control and shape biological communities of humans and suggests that imperialism race class and gender have historically situated population issues at the centre of public consciousness in British Columbia A Social Geography of Canada Guy M. Robinson,2013-12-30 This collection of essays focus on subjects which formed the basis of his life s work the changing character of Canadian landscape and society and the urbanization of that society including aspects of its historical evolution its present spacial forms and current social issues An Environmental History of Canada Laurel Sefton MacDowell,2012-07-31 Throughout history most people have associated northern North America with wilderness with abundant fish and game snow capped mountains and endless forest and prairie Canada s contemporary picture gallery however contains more disturbing images deforested mountains empty fisheries and melting ice caps Adopting both a chronological and thematic approach Laurel MacDowell examines human interactions with the land and the origins of our current environmental crisis from first peoples to the Kyoto Protocol This richly illustrated exploration of the past from an environmental perspective will change the way Canadians and others around the world think about and look at Canada Columbia Basin Trust: A Story of People, Power and a Region United Columbia Basin Trust,2021-03-01 Half a century ago the lives of people in the Columbia Basin changed forever when a series of dams altered their homes and landscapes This book is the story of how people took their power back By raising their voices facing challenges and putting in years of hard work the region s residents created Columbia Basin Trust Since 1995 they have supported this exceptional resource as it in turn has supported them Learn how Basin residents and the Trust have travelled this unprecedented path together bringing life to dreams and helping the region flourish Housing and Planning References ,1973

Conservation and Environmentalism Robert C. Paehlke,2013-04-03 Focusing on both problems and solutions this authoritative reference work maintains a healthy balance between science and the social sciences in its coverage of all aspects of the environment The book is arranged alphabetically and is divided into three major sections Ecology Pollution and Sustainability The list of 240 contributors reads like a who s who of the world s leading conservation and environmental professionals Best Reference Source Outstanding Reference Source Routledge Revivals: Energy II (1977) Denton Morrison,2018-01-12 Originally published in 1977 Energy II provides a comprehensive and updated bibliography of energy in the context of the social sciences Following on from the first bibliography published in 1975 this book offers a fully updated bibliography and argues that energy problems are best seen in the context of social phenomena such as social attitudes social behaviours social institutions and structures and populations The book provides a unique list of references that examine energy problems outside of the context of social factors Sensing Changes Joy Parr,2010-07-01 Our bodies are archives of sensory knowledge that shape how we understand the world But if global environmental changes continue at their present unsettling pace how will we make sense of time and place when the air land and water around us are no longer familiar Joy Parr one of Canada s premier historians tackles this question by exploring situations in the recent past when state driven megaprojects such as chemical plants dams nuclear reactors transportation corridors and new regulatory regimes forced people to cope with radical transformations in their work and home environments In each case the familiar was transformed so thoroughly that residents no longer recognized where they lived or by implication who they were Sensing Changes and its associated website <http://megaprojects.uwo.ca> make a key contribution to environmental history and the emerging field of sensory history This study offers a timely prescient perspective on how humans make sense of the world in the face of rapid environmental change Domicide Douglas Porteous,Sandra E. Smith,2001-10-17 Their eyes see rubble former exiles see home Globe and Mail 23 June 2000 Douglas Porteous and Sandra Smith begin their analysis by examining just how important home is to human life and community Using a multitude of case studies of displacement they derive a theoretical framework that addresses the methods effects of and motives for domicile Two case studies of resettlement resulting from hydro electric power development in British Columbia are used to test this framework Porteous and Smith assess the implications of loss of home evaluate current efforts at mitigation suggest better policies to alleviate the suffering of the dispossessed and as a last resort urge resistance against unacceptable projects 1974 Annual Supplement Joan Schmitz Bergholt,2013-12-21 The Canada Year Book ,1974 Conservation and Environmentalism Robert Paehlke,1995 Focusing on problems and solutions this authoritative reference work covers all aspects of the environment from the Everglades to the Himalayas from legislation in Australia to pollution problems in Eastern Europe from tropical rain forests to the Porcupine Caribou herd of the Alaskan and Canadian Arctic Some of the best known environmental professionals from 14 countries around the world have written original articles for this multidisciplinary Encyclopedia including Norman Myers Eugene C Hargrove Reed F Noss Max Oelschlaeger J Baird Callicott George Sessions M S Swaminathan Gilbert F White Michael E Kraft Michael P Cohen Paul Ekins and many others BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Planning in a Human Way Harry Lash,1976 British Columbia in Books Mary Lou Cuddy,James J.
