and forest utilization and equity in both forest rich and forest poor contexts A copublication of Resources for the Future RFF and the Center for International Forestry Research CIFOR Forests in Landscapes Stewart Maginnis, Jeffrey A Sayer, 2013-06-17 At last a really useful book telling us how all the rhetoric about ecosystem approaches and sustainable forest management is being translated into practical solutions on the ground CLAUDE MARTIN WWF INTERNATIONAL For too long foresters have seen forests as logs waiting to be turned into something useful This book demonstrates that forests in fact have multiple values and managing them as ecosystems will bring more benefits to a greater cross section of the public JEFFREY A MCNEELY CHIEF SCIENTIST IUCN This book demonstrates that ecosystem approaches and sustainable forest management are neither alternative methods of forest management nor are they simply complicated ways of saying the same thing They are both emerging concepts for more integrated and holistic ways of managing forests within larger landscapes in ways that optimize benefits to all stakeholders ACHIM STEINER AND IAN JOHNSON FROM THE FOREWORD Recent innovations in Sustainable Forest Management and Ecosystem Approaches are resulting in forests increasingly being managed as part of the broader social ecological systems in which they exist Forests in Landscapes reviews changes that have occurred in forest management in recent decades Case studies from Europe Canada the United States Russia Australia the Congo and Central America provide a wealth of international examples of innovative practices Cross cutting chapters examine the political ecology and economics of forest management and review the information needs and the use and misuse of criteria and indicators to achieve broad societal goals for forests A concluding chapter draws out the key lessons of changes in forest management in recent decades and sets out some thoughts for the future This book is a must read for practitioners researchers and policy makers concerned with forests and land use It contains lessons for all those concerned with forests as sources of people s livelihoods and as part of rural landscapes Published with IUCN and PROFOR Poverty and Decentralisation in Kutai Barat Michaela Haug, 2007-01-01 Human Health and Forests Carol J. Pierce Colfer, 2012-05-04 Hundreds of millions of people live and work in forests across the world One vital aspect of their lives yet largely unexamined is the challenge of protecting and enhancing the unique relationship between the health of forests and the health of people This book written for a broad audience is the first comprehensive introduction to the issues surrounding the health of people living in and around forests particularly in Asia South America and Africa Part I is a set of synthesis chapters addressing policy public health environmental conservation and ecological perspectives on health and forests including women and child health medicinal plants and viral diseases such as Ebola SARS and Nipah Encephalitis Part II takes a multi lens approach to lead the reader to a more concrete and holistic understanding It features case studies from around the world that cover important issues such as the links between HIV AIDS and the forest sector and between diet and health Part III looks at the specific challenges to health care delivery in forested areas including remoteness and the integration of traditional medicine with modern health care The generous use of boxes with specific examples adds layers of depth to the analyses The book concludes with a synthesis designed for use by practitioners and policymakers to work with forest dwellers to improve their health and their ecosystems This book is a vital addition to the knowledge base of all professionals academics and students working on forests natural resources management health and development worldwide Published with CIFOR and People and Plants International Managing Forests and Water for People under a Changing Environment Ge Sun, Kevin Bishop, Silvio Ferraz, Julia Jones, 2020-05-13 Forests cover 30% of the Earth's land area or nearly four billion hectares Enhancing the benefits and ecosystem services of forests has been increasingly recognized as an essential part of nature based solutions for solving many emerging global environmental problems today A core science supporting forest management is understanding the interactions of forests water and people These interactions have become increasingly complex under climate change and its associated impacts such as the increases in the intensity and frequency of drought and floods increasing population and deforestation and a rise in global demands for multiple ecosystem services including clean water supply and carbon sequestration Forest watershed managers have recognized that water management is an essential component of forest management Global environmental change is posing more challenges for managing forests and water toward sustainable development New science on forest and water is critically needed across the globe The International Forests and Water Conference 2018 Valdivia Chile <http://forestsandwater2018.cl> a joint effort of the 5th IUFRO International Conference on Forests and Water in a Changing Environment and the Second Latin American Conference on Forests and Water provided a unique forum to examine forest and water issues in Latin America under a global context This book represents a collection of some of the peer reviewed papers presented at the conference that were published in a Special Issue of Forests Sustainability Indicators in Practice Agnieszka Latawiec, Dorice Agol, 2016-01-29 A unique book which reflects the multifaceted nature of sustainability by bringing together authors from interdisciplinary backgrounds The book highlights the opportunities and challenges associated with applying sustainability indicators in different socio cultural and geographical settings It presents a range of possible solutions to common challenges associated with the use of indicators in practice Mental Health Issues in Southeast Asia Regions: Looking Back and Moving Forward Kit-Aun Tan, Shian-Ling Keng, Mansor Abu Talib, 2023-08-15 Biological Diversity Louise E. Buck, Charles C. Geisler, John Schelhas, Eva Wollenberg, 2001-06-21 We live in a world of wide pendulum swings regarding management policies for protected areas particularly as they affect the involvement of local people in management Such swings can be polarizing and halt on the ground progress There is a need to find ways to protect biodiversity while creating common ground and building management capacity through Urban Resilience for Risk and Adaptation Governance Grazia Brunetta, Ombretta Caldarice, Nicola Tollin, Marti Rosas-Casals, Jordi Morató, 2018-08-02 This book brings together a series of theory and practice essays on risk management and adaptation in urban contexts within a resilient and multidimensional perspective The book proposes a transversal approach with regard to the role of spatial planning in promoting and fostering risk management as well as institutions challenges for governing risk particularly in relation to new forms of multi level governance that may include stakeholders and citizen engagement The different contributions focus on approaches policies and practices able to contrast risks in urban systems generating social inclusion equity and participation through bottom up governance forms and co evolution principles Case studies focus on lessons learned as well as the potential and means for their replication and upscaling also through capacity building and knowledge transfer Among many other topics the book explores difficulties encountered in and creative solutions found community and local experiences and capacities organizational processes and integrative institutional technical approaches to risk issue in cities

Novel Ecosystems Richard J. Hobbs, Eric S. Higgs, Carol Hall, 2013-01-07 Land conversion climate change and species invasions are contributing to the widespread emergence of novel ecosystems which demand a shift in how we think about traditional approaches to conservation restoration and environmental management They are novel because they exist without historical precedents and are self sustaining Traditional approaches emphasizing native species and historical continuity are challenged by novel ecosystems that deliver critical ecosystems services or are simply immune to practical restorative efforts Some fear that by raising the issue of novel ecosystems we are simply paving the way for a more laissez faire attitude to conservation and restoration Regardless of the range of views and perceptions about novel ecosystems their existence is becoming ever more obvious and prevalent in today s rapidly changing world In this first comprehensive volume to look at the ecological social cultural ethical and policy dimensions of novel ecosystems the authors argue these altered systems are overdue for careful analysis and that we need to figure out how to intervene in them responsibly This book brings together researchers from a range of disciplines together with practitioners and policy makers to explore the questions surrounding novel ecosystems It includes chapters on key concepts and methodologies for deciding when and how to intervene in systems as well as a rich collection of case studies and perspective pieces It will be a valuable resource for researchers managers and policy makers interested in the question of how humanity manages and restores ecosystems in a rapidly changing world A companion website with additional resources is available at www.wiley.com/go/hobbs_ecosystems

Environmental Management in Organizations John Brady, 2013-06-17 Twenty years ago environment and sustainable development issues were marginal concerns for businesses and public bodies requiring a relatively narrow range of personnel knowledge and skills Today these issues are key operational concerns for all but the smallest organizations and apply to all sectors the private public and voluntary sectors Managing them requires a growing army of environmental professionals to manage them with knowledge of a rapidly developing body of regulatory measures Environmental Management in Organizations provides the basic resource needed by organizations and the managers they employ on the issues and on the management tools performance measures and communication strategies

Culture and Conservation Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, Helen Kopnina, 2015-11-19 Today there is growing interest in conservation and anthropologists have an important role to play in helping conservation succeed for the sake of humanity and for the sake of other species Equally important however is the fact that we as the species that causes extinctions have a moral responsibility to those whose evolutionary unfolding and very future we threaten This volume is an examination of the relationship between conservation and the social sciences particularly anthropology It calls for increased collaboration between anthropologists conservationists and environmental scientists and advocates for a shift towards an environmentally focused perspective that embraces not only cultural values and human rights but also the intrinsic value and rights to life of nonhuman species This book demonstrates that cultural and biological diversity are intimately interlinked and equally threatened by the industrialism that endangers the planet's life giving processes The consideration of ecological data as well as an expansion of ethics that embraces more than one species is essential to a well rounded understanding of the connections between human behavior and environmental wellbeing This book gives students and researchers in anthropology conservation environmental ethics and across the social sciences an invaluable insight into how innovative and intensive new interdisciplinary approaches questions ethics and subject pools can close the gap between culture and conservation

The Forest and the City Cecil C. Konijnendijk, 2018-03-12 Amsterdamse Bos Bois de Boulognes Epping Forest Hong Kong's country parks Stanley Park throughout history cities across the world have developed close relationships with nearby woodland areas In some cases cities have even developed and in some cases are promoting a distinct forest identity This book introduces the rich heritage of these city forests as cultural landscapes and shows that cities and forests can be mutually beneficial Essential reading for students and researchers interested in urban sustainability and urban forestry this book also has much wider appeal For with city forests playing an increasingly important role in local government sustainability programs it provides an important reference for those involved in urban planning and decision making public affairs and administration and even public health From providers of livelihoods to healthy recreational environments and from places of inspiration and learning to a source of conflict the book presents examples of city forests from around the world These cases clearly illustrate how the social and cultural development of towns and forests has often gone hand in hand They also reveal how better understanding of city forests as distinct cultural and social phenomena can help to strengthen synergies both between cities and forests and between urban society and nature Latin America and the Caribbean ,2003 Sustainable Development and Human Security in Africa Louis A. Picard,Terry F. Buss,Taylor B. Seybolt,Macrina C. Lelei,2015-04-22 Many new development initiatives have been introduced in Africa over the past few decades Each of these has been heralded as marking a new era in the continent s development However many of these initiatives have failed to produce sustained results due to numerous challenges including most importantly the lack of good governance The Africa P
