Notations for a Participatory
Environment

Philip Thiel

Philip Thiel believes that environmental design and research should be based on the shared experience of the users in the context of their environment through the environment. The idea is that design should be primarily concerned with the self-identified and clearly specified needs and preferences of the users. The process is a progressive inquiry into the needs and desires of the participants in the design and provides a mechanism for the implementation of the approach in environmental design and planning research.

The author is a self-identified participant in the process of environmental planning, design, and management. He is a "participant" in the design and planning for the proposed urban and flow design. The process of design is then evolved as a response to the needs of these users as determined by the knowledge of "representative participants" as part of the design process. Design development then proceeds with reference to the experience of these users in order to determine design in the form of a participatory environment.

Muecke, Miriam S. Zach, 2007 Essays on the Intersection of Music and Architecture is a collection of nine texts written by international scholars Most of the essays were originally presented at the interdisciplinary conference Architecture Music Acoustics that took place in Toronto Canada in June 2006 at Ryerson University The texts range from historiographical and theoretical explorations of the relations between music and architecture via translations of architectural spaces into music to analytical case studies of architectural spaces for musical performance The book includes illustrations author biographies and an index Theoretical Perspectives in Environment-Behavior Research Seymour Wapner, 2000 Following upon the Handbook of Japan United States Environment Behavior Research published by Plenum in 1997 leading experts review the interrelationships among theory problem and method in environment behavior research The chapters focus on the philosophical and theoretical assumptions underlying current research and practice in the area and link those assumptions to specific substantive questions and methodologies Experiential Visualization in Architectural Design Media Vincent B.

Canizaro, 2023-10-30 Experimental Visualization in Architectural Design Media How It Actually Works is a theoretical practical and interdisciplinary account of the tools used by architects and designers The book focuses on the how these tools influence their ability to envision and craft the future experiential reality of buildings and environments The book is structured around two parallel sets of questions The first concerns the effects of various media on the designer's understanding of their work in experiential terms The media considered include the process of design build standard media such as scale model building hand drawing drafting and extends into the now dominant digitally based design media of BIM digital modeling and emerging VR technologies such as Enscape The second line of questioning seeks patterns of use and other attributes designers deploy in practice to achieve an experiential and meaningful understanding of their work with and through each medium To answer these questions the author provides a detailed assessment of the pros and cons affordance and constraint of each form of mediation and a set of recommendations documenting how experienced designers enhance their visualization skills to support such experiential design This work is interwoven with interdisciplinary consideration of technology perception media studies history and bolstered by the direct experiences of design professionals This book will be of interest to researchers working in the field of architecture and design as well as practising architects designers and students who are seeking guidance on how to effectively design and consider the experience of their future built environments

Urban Design and Representation Barbara E.A. Piga,Rossella Salerno,2017-03-06 This book explores how environmental urban design can benefit from established and emerging representation and simulation techniques that meet the need for a multisensory approach Bringing together contributions by researchers and practicing professionals that approach the topics discussed from both theoretical and practical perspectives and draw on case study applications it addresses important themes including digital modeling physical modeling mapping and simulation The chapters are linked by their relevance to simple but crucial questions How can representational solutions enhance an urban design approach in which people s well being is considered the primary goal How can one best represent and design the ambiance of places What kinds of technologies and tools are available to support multisensory urban design How can current and future environments be optimally represented and simulated taking into account the way in which we experience places Shedding new light on these key questions the book offers both a reference guide for those engaged in applied research and a toolkit for professionals and students

Surface and Apparition Yeseung Lee, 2020-11-12 Surface is one of the most intensely debated topics in recent arts humanities and social science scholarship The changing technologies which manufacture the actual and virtual surfaces of today are radically altering our perception of thresholds and borders In contrast to the responses to preceding industrial revolutions contemporary concerns with surface seem preoccupied with its function of mediation or passage rather than with that of separation or boundary In Surface and Apparition each chapter explores a different meaning and function of the material and immaterial qualities of surface Case studies include various surfaces from computer screens artisanal engines and glass architecture to gauzy veils the planetary surface of supply chain capitalism and spatial embodiment in street markets International scholars of design architecture film media fine art fashion textiles silversmithing woodworking and archival practices account for how the material and the immaterial draw attention to each other in both their everyday and artistic practice Each chapter addresses particular systems from the human body to manually operated tools and machines materials for instance cloth wood and light modes of attention movement and engagement Surface therefore functions in this book as a multidisciplinary method for attending to critical issues concerning human creative and technological endeavours

Functionalism Revisited Jon Lang, Walter Moleski, 2016-12-05 A range of current approaches to architecture are neglected in our contemporary writings on design philosophies This book argues that the model of function and the concept of a functional building that we have inherited from the twentieth century Modernists is limited in scope and detracts from a full understanding of the purposes served by the built environment It simply does not cover the range of functions that buildings can afford nor is it tied in a conceptually clear manner to our contemporary concepts of architectural theory Based on Abraham Maslow's theory of human motivations and following on from Lang's widely used text Creating Architectural Theory The Role of the Behavioral Sciences in Environmental Design Lang and

Moleski here propose a new model of functionalism that responds to numerous observations on the inadequacy of current ways of thinking about functionalism in architecture and urban design Copiously illustrated the book puts forward this model and then goes on to discuss in detail each function of buildings and urban environments Bauhaus and the City Laura Colini, Frank Eckardt, 2011 Some of the contents Rereading Bauhaus S Parker Building stories Bauhaus and the narrative of modernity M Miles The wreck of hope criticality as salvage G Gilloch Critical theory and Bauhaus Re reading S de Rudder The Bauhaus and the city as white spot How Gropius lost his reputation on the streets of New York N Huber Tracing transdisciplinary Research Urban laboratories from Weimar to the American West F Eckardt Bauhaus and the New Frankfurt Limited opportunities limited concepts J Clammer Asia coming to Bauhaus an untold story re reading the City L Marcus The syntax of space J R Short liquid cities Understanding the urban Postmodern M Breicocoli The influx of the neo liberal city L Nyka Transforming public urbanism M Vaattovaara How develop sustainable urban regeneration process M Cremaschi New neighbourhoods in Europe M Lopez Participatory planning in conflict the case study of Medellin Deep Listening Pauline Oliveros, 2005 Offers a guide to ways of listening and sounding providing insights and perspectives for artists students teachers meditators and anyone interested in how consciousness may be affected by profound attention to the sonic environment Deep Listening is a practice created by composer Pauline Oliveros in order to enhance her own as well as other s listening skills She teaches this practice worldwide in workshops retreats and in her Deep Listening classes at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and Mills College Deep Listening practice is accessible to anyone with an interest in listening Undergraduates with no musical training benefit from the practices and successfully engage in creative sound projects From publisher description Architecture and Spatial Culture John Peponis, 2024-03-19 Built space supports our daily habits and our membership of communities organizations institutions or social formations Architecture and Spatial Culture argues that architecture matters because it makes the settings of our life intelligible so that we can sustain or creatively transform them As technological and social innovations allow us to overcome spatial constraints to communication cooperation and exchange so the architecture of embodied experience reflects independent cultural choices and human values The analysis of a wealth of examples from urban environments to workplaces and museums shows that built space functions pedagogically inducing us to specific ways of seeing understanding and feeling and supporting distinct patterns of cooperation and life in common Architecture and Spatial Culture is about the principles that underpin the design and inhabitation of space It also serves as an introduction to Space Syntax a descriptive theory used to model the human functions of layouts Thus it addresses architects students of architecture and all those working in disciplines that engage the design of the built environment and its social effects International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home , 2012-10-09 Available online via SciVerse ScienceDirect or in print for a limited time only The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home Seven Volume Set is the first international reference work for housing scholars and professionals that uses studies in economics and finance
