and policies pertinent to intercultural relations like intercultural communication competence and affirmative action policies are presented in the form of concrete characters in situated realities encouraging case learners to consider the particulars people as well as the principles ethics and laws For the case learner the highest level of thinking is required core concepts must be learned synthesized applied and critically examined in discussing the case Fostering Collateral Creativity in School Mathematics Sergei Abramovich,Viktor Freiman,2023-10-03

This book explores the topic of using technology both physical and digital to motivate creative mathematical thinking among students who are not considered mathematically advanced The book reflects the authors experience of teaching mathematics to Canadian and American teacher candidates and supervising several field based activities by the candidates It consists of eight chapters and an Appendix which includes details of constructing computational learning environments Specifically the book demonstrates how the appropriate use of technology in the teaching of mathematics can create conditions for the emergence of what may be called collateral creativity a notion similar to Dewey s notion of collateral learning Just as collateral learning does not result from the immediate goal of the traditional curriculum collateral creativity does not result from the immediate goal of traditional problem solving Rather mathematical creativity emerges as a collateral outcome of thinking afforded by the use of technology Furthermore collateral creativity is an educative outcome of one s learning experience with pedagogy that motivates students to ask questions about computer generated or tactile derived information and assists them in finding answers to their own or the teacher s questions This book intends to provide guidance to teachers for fostering collateral creativity in their classrooms The Muse that Sings Ann McCutchan,2003

The Muse That Sings is a unique behind the scenes look at both twentieth century music and the nuts and bolts of creative work Here twenty five of America s leading composers from Adams to Zorn from Bolcom to Vierk talk candidly about their craft their motivations their difficulties and how they how proceed from musical idea to finished composition While focusing on the process and the stories behind specific works the composers also touch on topics that will interest anyone involved in creative work They discuss teachers and mentors the task of revision relationships with performers and the ongoing struggle for a balance between freedom and discipline They reveal sources of inspiration artistic goals and the often unexpected ways their musical ideas develop Some describe personal tonal systems others discuss the impact of computers and other electronic tools on their work still others reflect philosophically on the inner impulses and outer influences that continue to drive them While serious music has a reputation for being difficult and inaccessible The Muse That Sings provides a powerful antidote The composers in this book speak clearly and thoughtfully in response to key questions of concern to all readers interested in contemporary music Each interview has been edited to stand alone as a concise meditation on muse and technique and the book includes selected discographies as well as brief biographical sketches Anyone with an interest in twentieth century music or in the creative process will find this lively collection a valuable source of inspiration and insight Bible Lessons for Little Beginners Mrs.

Nehaniv,Kerstin Dautenhahn,2001-07-25 Cognitive Technology Instruments of Mind Cognitive Technology is the study of the impact of technology on human cog tion the externalization of technology from the human mind and the pragmatics of tools It promotes the view that human beings should develop methods to p dict analyse and optimize aspects of human tool relationship in a manner that respects human wholeness In particular the development of new tools such as virtual environments new computer devices and software tools has been too little concerned with the impacts these technologies will have on human cog tive and social capacities Our tools change what we are and how we relate to the world around us They need to be developed in a manner that both extends human capabilities while ensuring an appropriate cognitive t between organism and instrument The principal theme of the CT 2001 conference and volume is declared in its title Instruments of Mind Cognitive Technology is concerned with the interaction between two worlds that of the mind and that of the machine In science and engineering this teraction is often explored by posing the question how can technology be best tailored to human cognition But as the history of technological developments has consistently shown cognition is also fashioned by technology Technologies as diverse as writing electricity generation and the silicon chip all illustrate the profound and dynamic impact of technology upon ourselves and our conceptions of the world Catalog of Copyright Entries, Third Series ,1969

Christian Economics Dale Anthony Pivarunas,2018-11-12 How is the Christian mandate to love your neighbor as yourself to be applied in business economics and politics In what way does God want people to act within their jobs their businesses and their business transactions treat tenants other businesses subordinates and their employees market their products and services and set prices monitor the quality and safety of their products and services and so on Christian Economics promotes justice fairness balance cooperation and mutual respect within business economics and politics and is based on three principles good is to be done and promoted and evil is to be avoided love your neighbor as yourself and treat each and every human being with absolute dignity Every business strategy every business policy and every business transaction needs to be based on these three principles Leonard Bernstein and His Young People's Concerts Alicia Kopfstien-Penk,2015-01-22 Leonard Bernstein touched millions of lives as composer conductor teacher and activist He frequently visited homes around the world through the medium of television particularly through his fifty three award winning Young People's Concerts 1958-1972 which at their height were seen by nearly ten million in over forty countries. Originally designed for young viewers but equally attractive to eager adults, Bernstein's brilliance as a teacher shined brightly in his televised presentations. And yet despite the light touch of the maestro, the innocence of his audience and the joyousness of each show's topic, the turbulence of the times would peek through. In this first in-depth look at the series, Alicia Kopfstein Penk's Leonard Bernstein and His Young People's Concerts illustrates how the cultural, social, political, and musical upheavals of the long sixties impacted Bernstein's life and his Young People's Concerts. Responding to trends in corporate sponsorship, censorship, and arts programming from the Golden Age of Television into the 1970s, the Young People's Concerts would show the impact of and reflect the social and cultural politics of the Cold War, Vietnam, the Civil Rights and Women's Movements, and the Counterculture. Bernstein cheerfully bridged classical and popular tastes, juxtaposing the Beatles with Mozart, even as he offered personal televised pleas for peace and unity. At the same time, the concerts reflect Bernstein's troubled relationship as a professional musician with the dominance of atonality and his quest to nurture American music. Anyone who enjoys the oeuvre of Leonard Bernstein has watched his Young People's Concerts or is passionate about the history of the long sixties will find in Leonard Bernstein and His Young People's Concerts a story of all three captured in this monumental study.

Multiple Paths to Ministry Lance R. Barker, B. Edmon Martin, 2004-01-01. Changing Models of Ministry. Education. In a rapidly changing church landscape, how should ministers be prepared to serve in diverse contexts? Multiple Paths to Ministry affirms the continued role of seminaries and divinity schools yet also asserts that American Protestantism can no longer rely on graduate theological schools as the sole educational institutions charged with ministerial preparation. The essayists in Multiple Paths to Ministry researched the graduate theological education programs of the Episcopal Church, the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, the Presbyterian Church USA, the United Church of Christ, the United Church of Canada, and the United Methodist Church, from which they share powerful models for successful ministerial preparation. Contributors include Janet Silman, Carol Bell, Isaac McDonald, Richard Sales, Bert Affleck, Minka Shura, Sprague Glenn, Miller Ken, McFayden, and Thomas Ray.
