Building Democracy in the Yugoslav Successor States Sabrina P. Ramet, Christine M. Hassenstab, Ola Listhaug, 2017-05-15 Building democracy in societies that have known only authoritarian rule for half a century is complicated Taking the post Yugoslav region as its case study this volume shows how success with democratisation depends on various factors including establishing the rule of law the consolidation of free media and society's acceptance of ethnic religious and sexual minorities Surveying the seven successor states the authors argue that Slovenia is in a class by itself as the most successful with Croatia and Serbia not far behind The other states Bosnia Herzegovina Macedonia Montenegro and Kosovo are all struggling with problems of corruption poverty and unemployment The authors treat the issue of values as a policy problem in its own right debating the extent to which values have been transformed by changes in education and the media how churches and women's organisations have entered into the policy debate and whether governments have embraced a programme designed to effect changes in values

Democratic Transition in Croatia Sabrina P. Ramet, 2007 With the fall of communism and the breakup of Yugoslavia the successor states have faced a historic challenge to create separate modern democracies from the ashes of the former authoritarian state Central to the Croatian experience has been the issue of nationalism and whether the Croatian state should be defined as a citizens state with members of all nationality groups treated as equal or as a national state of the Croats with a consequent privileging of Croatian culture and language but also with a quota system for members of national minorities Sabrina P Ramet and Davorka Matić have gathered here a series of studies by important scholars to examine the development of Croatia in the aftermath of communism and the war that marred the transition Sixteen scholars of the region discuss the values and institutions central to Croatia's transformation from communism and toward liberal democracy They discuss economic change political parties and the uses of history since 1989 To understand the patterns in Croatia they examine how civic values have been expressed reinforced and sometimes challenged through religion education and the media The implications of nationalism in its various manifestations are treated thematically in all the analyses This book is a companion volume to a similar study on Slovenia edited by Sabrina P Ramet and Danica Fink Hafner and released in fall 2006 Together these two works form an important case study in comparison and contrast between two countries in the same region going through the transition from communism to liberal democracy Scholars and policy makers will find a wealth of material in these two volumes EU Conditionality in the Western Balkans Florian Bieber, 2018-12-07 This volume examines how European institutions the European Union in particular through its policy of conditionality have shaped the post conflict reconstruction of the Western Balkans From state building to democratization and environmental policies this book explores whether and in what ways the EU has been successful in consolidating states and democracy in the Balkans In addition to requiring countries to be ready to join the European Union the EU has also set new conditions in an effort to become the prime international organization involved in stabilizing the Western Balkans after the wars of the 1990s Its record has been mixed the conditions of the EU have often been haphazard and were frequently not followed through In addition enlargement towards the Western Balkans has been slow and marred by open questions over the stability of some countries in the region This volume assesses the EU's struggle to transform the societies through conditionality and whether the offer of EU membership is enough to build stable democracies This book was published as a special issue of Europe Asia Studies

Forging War Mark Thompson, 1999 A fascinating study of the manipulation of the media in the former Yugoslavia The New York Times This study of the political manipulation of the media in Serbia Croatia Bosnia and Herzegovina before and during the war argues that political struggles for media control are early warnings of war and a form of preparation for it Historical Knowledge Production Cultures in Late Socialist Hungary and Croatia Réka Krizmanics, 2024-01-08 Historical Knowledge Production Cultures in Late Socialist Hungary and Croatia Expertise Unsettled offers a comparative study and analysis from the Hungarian case and integrating academic party and popular historiography into a single analytical framework Narratives concerning the history of the interwar period and the Second World War and circumstances of their elaboration are at the forefront of this study R ka Krizmanics argues that even within state socialist Eastern Europe different enabling and restrictive factors were at play and investigates the specificities of late socialism while embedding them in the context of their interwar Stalinist and post Stalinist legacies Expertise Unsettled refers to the growing peril of historians who proved to be often divided among themselves and were increasingly on the defense as a guild when literature cinema and interested non professionals got involved in making and criticizing narratives of the recent past Party history and party historians have been often sidelined in intellectual history but the author argues that their inclusion is crucial both for a more complex understanding of what late state socialism meant for historians and to historicize practices of contemporary post socialist especially illiberal memory regimes
