Kerr, 2007 Canadian society is rapidly changing This concise up to date volume masterfully captures this change Edited by two of Canada's leading demographers Roderic Beaujot and Don Kerr this book is an exciting entry in Canadian population studies drawing from a variety of disciplines including sociology geography economics history and epidemiology The Changing Face of Canada is an essential text for demography courses across the country Each reading has been meticulously edited and concisely ordered into five essential sections fertility mortality international migration domestic migration and population distribution population aging population composition Vital issues include the role of immigration in Canada's future the deteriorating economic welfare of immigrants globalization undocumented migration and unwanted refugees Aboriginal population change implications of unprecedented low fertility and the astonishing demographic transformation of Canadian cities

Demography and the Global Business Environment Marcus, Alfred A.,Islam, Mazhar,2021-11-23 Alfred A Marcus and Mazhar Islam examine how demographic changes introduce new challenges for businesses with a focus on how the world today is divided between disproportionately old and young nations Taking a broad international perspective the book illustrates how demography affects underlying conditions in nations presenting the risks and opportunities for businesses as well as a set of concrete obligations they owe to the nations in which they operate The New Neighborhood Senior Center Joyce Weil,2014-11-03 In 2011 seven thousand American baby boomers those born between 1946 and 1964 turned sixty five daily As this largest U S generation ages cities municipalities and governments at every level must grapple with the allocation of resources and funding for maintaining the quality of life health and standard of living for an aging population In The New Neighborhood Senior Center Joyce Weil uses in depth ethnographic methods to examine a working class senior center in Queens New York She explores the ways in which social structure directly affects the lives of older Americans and traces the role of political social and economic institutions and neighborhood processes in the decision to close such centers throughout the city of New York Many policy makers and gerontologists advocate a concept of aging in place whereby the communities in which these older residents live provide access to resources that foster and maintain their independence But all aging in place is not equal and the success of such efforts depends heavily upon the social class and availability of resources in any given community Senior centers expanded in part by funding from federal programs in the 1970s were designed as focal points in the provision of community based services However for the first wave of boomers the role of these centers has come to be questioned Declining government support has led to the closings of many centers even as the remaining centers are beginning to rebrand to attract the boomer generation However The New Neighborhood Senior Center demonstrates the need to balance what the boomers want from centers with the needs of frailer or more vulnerable elders who rely on the services of senior centers on a daily basis Weil challenges readers to consider what changes in social policies are needed to support or supplement senior centers and the functions they serve Encyclopedia of Aging and Public Health Sana Loue,Martha Sajatovic,2008-01-16 Americans are living longer and the elder population is growing larger To meet the ongoing need for quality information on elder health the Encyclopedia of Aging and Public Health combines multiple perspectives to offer readers a more accurate and complete picture of the aging process The book takes a biopsychosocial approach to the complexities of its subject In depth introductory chapters include coverage on a historical and demographic overview of aging in America a guide to biological changes accompanying aging an analysis of the diversity of the U S elder population legal issues commonly affecting older adults and the ethics of using cognitively impaired elders in research From there over 425 entries cover the gamut of topics trends diseases and phenomena Specific populations including ethnic minorities custodial grandparents and centenarians Core medical conditions associated with aging from cardiac and pulmonary diseases to Parkinson's and Alzheimer's Mental and emotional disorders Drugs vitamins alternative medicine Disorders of the eyes feet and skin Insomnia and sleep disorders malnutrition and eating disorders Sexual and gender related concerns And a broad array of social and political issues including access to care abuse neglect veterans affairs and assisted suicide Entries on not quite elders concerns e g midlife crisis menopause are featured as well And all chapters and entries include references and resource lists The Encyclopedia has been developed for maximum utility to clinicians social workers researchers and public health professionals working with older adults Its multidisciplinary coverage and scope of topics make this volume an invaluable reference for academic and public libraries
