Population Growth, Shifting Cultivation, and Unsustainable Agricultural Development Andrew Keck, Narendra P. Sharma, Gershon Feder, 1994-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper 234 This study of a microregion of Madagascar illustrates the important relationships between population growth unsustainable agriculture and natural resource decline It shows how agricultural development has been ha

Beyond Market Liberalization: Welfare, Income Generation and Environmental Sustainability in Rural Madagascar Bart Minten, Manfred Zeller, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 Most African countries experienced dramatic agricultural market reforms over the 1990s This has resulted in significant changes in the operation of the agricultural markets and consequently in income generation and welfare of rural households In the case of Madagascar the results suggest that market reforms and corresponding adjustments in rural markets have had an average positive effect on food security for the rural households However richer households seemed to have benefited more than the poorer households This text provides a study of the market reforms focusing particularly in the changes brought to welfare income and environmental sustainability in rural areas The study aims to be of particular interest to economists and those involved in development and environmental issues

Landscape, Memory and History Pamela J. Stewart, Andrew Strathern, 2003-05-20 How do people perceive the land around them and how is that perception changed by history This book explores this question from an anthropological angle assessing the connections between place space identity nationalism history and memory in a variety of different settings around the world Taking historical change and memory as key themes it is a broad study that will appeal to a readership across the social sciences Contributors from North America Australia New Zealand Taiwan and Europe explore a wide variety of case studies that includes seascapes in Jamaica the Solomon Islands the forests of Madagascar Aboriginal and European notions of landscape in Australia place and identity in 19th century maps and the bogs of Ireland contemporary concerns over changing landscapes in Papua New Guinea and representations of landscape and history in the poetry of the Scottish Borders

Soil Health and Land Use Management Maria C. Hernandez Soriano, 2012-01-25 Soils play multiple roles in the quality of life throughout the world not only as the resource for food production but also as the support for our structures the environment the medium for waste disposal water and the storage of nutrients A healthy soil can sustain biological productivity maintain environmental quality and promote plant and animal health Understanding the impact of land management practices on soil properties and processes can provide useful indicators of economic and environmental sustainability The sixteen chapters of this book orchestrate a multidisciplinary composition of current trends in soil health Soil Health and Land Use Management provides a broad vision of the fundamental importance of soil health In addition the development of feasible management and remediation strategies to preserve and ameliorate the fitness of soils are discussed in this book Strategies to improve land management and relevant case studies are covered as well as the importance of characterizing soil properties to develop management and remediation strategies. Moreover, the current management of several environmental scenarios of high concern is presented while the final chapters propose new methodologies for soil pollution assessment.

A Guide to the World Bank, 2003 The World Bank Group works in more than 100 developing economies and is one of the world's largest sources of development assistance. In 2002 the institution provided US 19.5 billion in loans to its client countries. This guide reviews the organisation's history, objectives and operations and looks at the five institutions that make up the World Bank Group: the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (IBRD), the International Development Association (IDA), the International Finance Corporation (IFC), the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency (MIGA) and the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID).

Case Studies in War-to-peace Transition Nat J. Colletta, Markus Kostner, Ingo Wiederhofer, 1996 World Bank Discussion Paper No 331 With the assistance of Emilio Mondo Taimi Sitari and Tadesse A Woldu Provides a detailed analysis of the intricate nature of the political, economic and sociocultural issues that arise during the transition from war to peace in Ethiopia, Namibia and Uganda. These countries offer a unique range of conditions and program models as well as a variety of successes and failures from which to learn. A recently released overview, The Transition from War to Peace in Sub-Saharan Africa (Stock no 13581, ISBN 0 8213 3581 2) is based on these country studies and a synthesis of reports of demobilization and reintegration programs in several other countries.

Hottest of the Hotspots Benjamin Neimark, 2023-11-28 Continually recognized as one of the hottest of all the world's biodiversity hotspots, the island of Madagascar has become ground zero for the most intensive market-based conservation interventions on Earth. This book details the rollout of market conservation programs, including the finding of drugs from nature or bioprospecting, biodiversity offsetting and the selling of blue carbon credits from mangroves. It documents the tensions that exist at the local level and provides a voice for community workers many times left out of environmental policy discussions, ultimately in the hope of offering critiques that build better conservation interventions with perspectives of the locals.

Evolution of Agricultural Services in Sub-Saharan Africa Venkatachalam Venkatesan, Jacob Kampen, 1998-01-01 This paper traces the evolution of World Bank support to agricultural services, particularly agricultural extension and research in Sub-Saharan Africa. It describes the Bank's experience with the implementation of national programs in agricultural extension and research and how these are evolving to face the problems of the future. The paper concludes that participation of the beneficiaries in the design and implementation of programs is critical and will ensure the programs converge towards rural development.

Public and Private Agricultural Extension Dina Umali-Deininger, Lisa A. Schwartz, 1994-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper 236 Agricultural support services play an important role in increasing agricultural productivity. Given the importance of agriculture to developing countries, governments have taken the lead in providing such services
