

THE PORTABLE STEPHEN CRANE

Edited and with an Introduction and Notes by JOSEPH KATZ

This book collects all the finest writings of one of the key figures in modern American literature. Included alongside the authoritative texts are the universally known The Red Badge of Courage, and both pioneer magazine novels, Maggie: A Girl of the Streets—in the 1890's privately published by the author—and George's Mother. The book is divided into five parts, each containing letters, sketches, stories, and journalism arranged around the major work to show the development as well as the entire range of Crane's art. The first section, "The World of Maggie," depicts the life of the slum dweller in New York as seen in two novels and eight related pieces, including "Above All Things," a reviewer's essay published here for the first time in book form. In "The World of Henry Fleming," The Red Badge of Courage is accompanied by "An Episode of War" and "The Veteran"; and "The World of Shipwreck" shows how the raw materials of Crane's disastrous filibustering adventure were used to form his also masterpiece, "The Open Boat." The six stories in "A World of Ironies" include "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky," "The Blue Hotel," and two Whilomville Stories; finally, "A World in Miniature" presents a generous selection of Crane's poetry, as printed in definitive texts.

Nineteen of Crane's best tales and sketches are collected in all, including the entire contents of The Monster and Other Stories. The editor has provided a helpful critical introduction, a Crane chronology, a detailed bibliographical and text-note, and informative notes to the individual works.

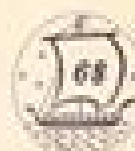

JOSEPH KATZ has taught at Ohio State University and Kent State University, and teaches English at the University of South Carolina. He is the editor of, among other books, The Poems of Stephen Crane: A Critical Edition; Stephen Crane: "The Blue Hotel," "The Red Badge of Courage"; and Stephen Crane in the West and Mexico, and he is editor of The Stephen Crane Newsletter.

Portable Stephen Crane:

The Portable Stephen Crane Stephen Crane, 1977-07-28 A man is born into the world with his own pair of eyes and he is not responsible for his vision he is merely responsible for his quality of personal honesty In the course of his tragically abbreviated career Stephen Crane 1871 1900 saw things that his contemporaries preferred to overlook the low life of New York's Irish slums the tedium brutality and chaos that were the true conditions of the Civil War the ambiguous contract that binds a terrified man to his killer and the damned to their human judges He communicated what he saw with the same laconic factuality that characterized his journalism and in the process laid the foundations for the unblinking realism of Hemingway and Dos Passos The Portable Stephen Crane allows us to appreciate the full scope and power of this writer's vision It contains three complete novels Maggie A Girl of the Streets George's Mother and Crane's masterpiece The Red Badge of Courage nineteen short stories and sketches including The Blue Hotel and The Open Boat a barely fictionalized account of his own escape from shipwreck while covering the Cuban revolt against Spain the previously unpublished essay Above All Things letters and poems plus a critical essay and notes by the noted Crane scholar Joseph Katz CLASSICS

Enlightenment of the 18th century also called the Age of Reason was so named for an intellectual movement that shook the foundations of Western civilization. In championing radical ideas such as individual liberty and an empirical appraisal of the universe through rational inquiry and natural experience, Enlightenment philosophers in Europe and America planted the seeds for modern liberalism, cultural humanism, science and technology, and laissez faire Capitalism. This volume brings together works from this era with more than 100 selections from a range of sources. It includes examples by Kant, Diderot, Voltaire, Newton, Rousseau, Locke, Franklin, Jefferson, Madison, and Paine that demonstrate the pervasive impact of Enlightenment views on philosophy and epistemology as well as on political, social, and economic institutions.

Evolution and "the Sex Problem" Bert Bender, 2004. A noteworthy investigation of the Darwinian element in American fiction from the realist through the Freudian eras. Theories of sexual selection and of the emotions are essential elements in American fiction from the late 1800s through the 1950s, particularly during the Freudian era and the years surrounding the Scopes trial. The Sex Problem and what resulted was a great diversity of American narratives aligned with either Darwinian or a number of anti-Darwinian theories of evolution. Included are intriguing discussions of works by Frank Norris, Jack London, Stephen Crane, Theodore Dreiser, Gertrude Stein, Willa Cather, Sherwood Anderson, F. Scott Fitzgerald, five writers of the Harlem Renaissance, John Steinbeck, and Ernest Hemingway. Among the ideas explored are Darwin's theory of common descent, the question of man's place in nature, the possibility of evolutionary progress, the issues of heredity and eugenics, the Darwinian basis of Freud's theory of sexual repression, the quandary of male violence and the role of female choice in sexual selection, the power of and the problems of racial and sexual selection, the power of and the problems of racial and sexual difference, and the ecological problems that arose directly from Darwin's theory of evolution. America's major narratives of human life and love and will be appreciated by literary scholars and readers interested in Darwinism and culture.
