Yang, Shuxian Ye, 2024-04-04 This book is the first monograph of its kind in the academic world which comprehensively expounds the new methodology of humanities The quadruple evidence method is one which integrates quadruple evidences to open up new horizon for interpretation of ancient culture in the three dimensional manner The first layer of evidence refers to documents passed down from the past the second layer of evidence refers to local written materials the third layer of evidence includes oral legends of anthropology and folklore and etiquette in the living folk customs the fourth layer of evidence refers to those ancient objects and images either unearthed in archaeological excavations or handed down from the past The book consists of theoretical explorations and their applications in individual cases While the first part studies the academic evolution theory and methodological value of the quadruple evidence method the second part in using the method in different cases explores different historical and cultural phenomena in the history of China attempting to extend the frontier of the origin of civilization from the approach of mythological study      Evidences of Prehistoric Inhabitants G.
Major Taber, 1900      The Agrarian History of England and Wales: Volume 1, Prehistory to AD 1042 Stuart Piggott, Joan Thirsk, 2011-04-28 This volume surveys the evolution of the man made landscape in Britain over the period of some three millennia before the Roman conquest      Tropical Forests in Prehistory, History, and Modernity Patrick Roberts, 2019-01-03 In popular discourse tropical forests are synonymous with nature and wilderness battlegrounds between apparently pristine floral faunal and human communities and the unrelenting industrial and urban powers of the modern world It is rarely publicly understood that the extent of human adaptation to and alteration of tropical forest environments extends across archaeological historical and anthropological timescales This book is the first attempt to bring together evidence for the nature of human interactions with tropical forests on a global scale from the emergence of hominins in the tropical forests of Africa to modern conservation issues Following a review of the natural history and variability of tropical forest ecosystems this book takes a tour of human and human ancestor occupation and use of tropical forest environments through time Far from being pristine primordial ecosystems this book illustrates how our species has inhabited and modified tropical forests from the earliest stages of its evolution While agricultural strategies and vast urban networks emerged in tropical forests long prior to the arrival of European colonial powers and later industrialization this should not be taken as justification for the massive deforestation and biodiversity threats imposed on tropical forest ecosystems in the 21st century Rather such a long term perspective highlights the ongoing challenges of sustainability faced by forager agricultural and urban societies in these environments setting the stage for more integrated approaches to conservation and policy making and the protection of millennia of ecological and cultural heritage bound up in these habitats

From Genesis to Prehistory Peter Rowley-Conwy, 2007-11 We are now familiar with the Three Age System the archaeological partitioning of the past into Stone Age Bronze Age and Iron Age This division which amounted at the time to a major scientific revolution was conceived in Denmark in the 1830s Peter Rowley Conwy investigates the reasons why the Three Age system was adopted without demur in Scandinavian archaeological circles yet was the subject of a bitter and long drawn out contest in Britain and Ireland up to the 1870s

The Cambridge History of Africa J. D. Fage, Roland Anthony Oliver, 1975 Volume I examines African prehistory from the time of the first hominids in the Plio Pleistocene up to the spread of iron technology after c 500 BC

Archaeology Dane Castaneda, 2018-02-28 Archaeology is the scientific study of past cultures through analysis of physical remains Essentially physical remains are bones of early people as well as their manufactured tools goods artifacts and the foundations of settlements Archaeologists search for and analyze these remains in order to understand something about the culture of the people that left them Archaeologists often work closely with historians and anthropologists Antiquarianism is the earliest stage of archaeology Named for the process of collecting and displaying historical treasures antiquarianism was generally the domain of wealthy individuals who had the resources to spend time searching for acquiring and displaying artifacts These individuals were motivated by a variety of reasons from nationalism for instance the history of the land of their birth to religious reasons the examination of Biblical manuscripts Note that the beginnings of antiquarianism are ancient and may go back to or further than the Greek historian Herodotus in the fifth century BCE Today archaeology is a precise science Archaeologists tools include radioactive carbon dating and geophysical prospecting The discipline is strongly influenced and even driven by humanities like history and art history However it is at heart intensely methodical and technical But archaeology hasn't always been precise In fact it hasn't always been a science Archaeology originated in 15th and 16th century Europe with the popularity of collecting and Humanism a type of rational philosophy that held art in high esteem The inquisitive elite of the Renaissance collected antiquities from ancient Greece and Rome considering them pieces of art more than historical artifacts The book focuses on the present state of our understanding of archaeology of the early historic period It explores archaeological methods aims objectives and practices It addresses key issues that are traditionally associated with early historic archaeology

Garcea,2001-07-01 Uan Tabu is a rockshelter on the left bank of the central valley of the Wadi Teshuinat which is a main ancient water course in the Tadrart Acacus mountain range It is located in the Fezzan region south western Libya Great Jamahirya The site was discovered by Fabrizio Mori in 1960 and was re excavated and studied by a multi disciplinary team at the beginning of the 1990s It has also remarkable rock art that includes paintings from the Round Head and Pastoral phases Between 1960 and 1963 a trench was dug into the archaeological deposit at the foot of the rock wall The results of the 1960s excavation have never been published before apart from some brief notes They are thoroughly described and discussed in the present volume Between 1990 and 1993 the excavation was resumed and extended The 1990s excavation has been preliminarily published Further information and details are now presented and commented A stratigraphic and cultural correlation between the two excavations is also attempted in this volume Four main archaeological and paedological units were identified and dated They spanned from the Late Pleistocene to the Late Holocene The earliest one dating to the Pleistocene included an Aterian techno complex and was dated to around 61 000 years BP Later during the Early Holocene a pre pastoral occupation occurred since the 10th millennium bp This period was differentiated in two phases characterised by different socio cultural systems 1 during the Early Acacus around 9800 8800 years bp the site was used on a seasonal basis probably during the dry season for practising hunting activities 2 during the Late Acacus around 8800 8600 years bp a more sedentary lifestyle was hypothesised for the inhabitants of the site These two cultural facies comprised the upper three units The fourth phase of occupation of the shelter was only attested to the surface of the site but it could be still considered as an indication of the use of the site during the Late Holocene as late as the 4th millennium bp A dung fill in the wall of the rockshelter dated to the end of this Late Pastoral phase and is the only evidence for domesticated animals History of the Prehistoric Ages Leonard
