Khandker, M. A. Baqui Khalily, 1996 Spanish edition Pobreza Desigualdad y Formaci3 n del Capital Humano en Am rica Latina 1950 2025 Latin America is marked by wide inequality in income and entrenched poverty This paper argues that the main reason these conditions persist is the lack of adequate education for new generations The author cites several factors economic growth and structural transformation of the economy the convergence of regional per capita income and the diminishing rates of return on education that have combined to lower the region s areas of inequality To bring the region quickly out of poverty the report recommends that universal basic education be given to all young people in the next two decades See also the English edition Stock No 13630 ISBN 0 8213 3630 4 Saving Across the World Klaus Schmidt-Hebbel, Luis Serven, 1997-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 349 The Bank s approach to water resources development has shifted from one of construction activities to one of improved management quality creating a new generation of water related projects and the need for new evaluation procedures This paper addresses the methodology for economic evaluation of this new group of projects and draws on the experience of the recently approved Mexico Water Resources Management project

A Poverty Profile of Cambodia Nicholas M. Prescott, Menno Pradhan, 1997-01-01 China is in the throes of two transitions from a command economy to a market based one and from a rural agricultural society to an urban industrial one So far both transitions have been spectacularly successful China is the fastest growing economy in the world with per capita incomes more than quadrupling since 1978 achieving in two generations what took other countries centuries Although swift growth and structural change have resolved many problems they also have created new challenges employment insecurity growing inequality stubborn poverty mounting environmental pressures rising costs of food self sufficiency and periods of macroeconomic instability stemming from incomplete reforms Unmet these challenges could undermine the sustainability of growth and China s promise could fade China 2020 a seven volume set examines China s recent history where it is today and the path it should follow during the first two decades of the 21st century The volume in the set entitled Financing Health Care Issues and Options for China assesses the state of health care in China and addresses the problems facing the sector in terms of financial access to health care efficiency and total cost Although the health sector is in relatively good condition today this study asserts the need to promptly make policy changes to ensure universal health care coverage by either the public or the private sector over the next two decades Chapters focus on the effects of reduced public health spending on rural populations the likely increase in health costs as the population ages the harmful effects of tobacco use and fee for service provider systems Mobilizing Domestic Capital Markets for Infrastructure Financing , 1997 World Bank Technical Paper No 369 Hydropower and irrigation projects involving reservoirs can displace thousands of people from their traditional lands and deprive them of their livelihoods If poorly planned they can also lead to environmental degradation Solutions to these problems must be found solutions that are technically feasible sustainable environmentally appropriate and acceptable to the people who are resettled This paper explains how the planned integrated development of fishery ecosystems in reservoirs not only can mitigate the negative social consequences of dam construction but also can enhance the economic benefits from hydropower and irrigation projects in many developing countries The paper draws on the success of fish farming efforts in the Saguling and Cirata reservoirs in Java which attests to the potential for creating employment in reservoirs that are in place and under construction around the world
