disconnect Automated financial trades produce market collapse Of all the challenges in modern life some of the most vexing come from our relationships with automation a large system does us wrong and there s nothing we can do about it The problem economist Dan Davies shows is accountability sinks systems in which decisions are delegated to a complex rule book or set of standard procedures making it impossible to identify the source of mistakes when they happen In our increasingly unhuman world lives dominated by algorithms artificial intelligence and large organizations these accountability sinks produce more than just aggravation They make life and economy unknowable a black box for no reason In The Unaccountability Machine Davies lays bare how markets institutions and even governments systematically generate outcomes that no one not even those involved in making them seems to want Since the earliest days of the computer age theorists have foreseen the dangers of complex systems without personal accountability In response British business scholar Stafford Beer developed an accountability first approach to management called cybernetics which might have taken off had his biggest client the Chilean government not fallen to a bloody coup in 1973 With his signature blend of economic and journalistic rigor Davies examines what s gone wrong since Beer including what might have been had the world embraced cybernetics when it had the chance The Unaccountability Machine is a revelatory and resonant account of how modern life became predisposed to dysfunction
