the design subprocess both in development or maintenance and the importance of the decisions and artefacts in the overall result Another topic is the spectrum of views an architecture language has to offer and that there are different architectures to be regarded from abstract and static to detailed technical and specific Part II then discusses important topics on the architecture level It deals with adaptability especially for embedded systems with integrating styles pattern notations with different reuse forms and how to find them with the role of architectures for integrating different existing systems and with reverse and reengineering of legacy systems Next Part III covers architecture modeling and its relation to surrounding activities as well as architectures to surrounding other results The single chapters are on transformation between requirements and architectures architectures and programming architectures and project management and organization as well as architectures and their relations to quality assurance or documentation Eventually Part IV summarizes the main messages and presents open problems both for every single chapter and across chapters Every chapter focuses on a specific problem it addresses a question it answers the attention it demands a message it conveys and further open questions it raises The chapters are mostly independent which implies a certain redundancy yet it allows lecturers and their students to either use the book as the basis of teaching software architecture or design or to just pick those aspects that need special attention in a more advanced course
