Lessons Learned in Disaster Mental Health Armen Goenjian,Alan Steinberg,Robert Pynoos,2022-05-26 This fascinating book provides a comprehensive overview of the extensive post disaster mental health recovery program implemented after the 1988 Armenian earthquake Covering the program's evolution from the initial acute phase of clinical fieldwork to its expansion as a three year teaching and training program for local therapists to the building of mental health clinics in devastated cities. Featuring poignant memoirs detailing the daily challenges and rewards of working in the trenches, the book presents a conceptual framework that can guide post disaster clinical and research efforts, lessons learned from this work and other disasters, and highlights recent advances in disaster psychiatry. This school based intervention program has informed subsequent disaster response efforts in many countries and has provided clinically relevant cutting edge research findings from longitudinal and treatment outcomes studies conducted over 25 years. Essential reading for psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers, and other mental health professionals and those working for relief organizations following disasters. Disaster Mental Health Services Diane Garaventa Myers, David F. Wee, 2005. This text assists mental health clinicians and traumatologists in making the bridge between their clinical knowledge and skills and the unique complex, chaotic and highly political field of disaster. It combines information from prior research with the authors' practical experience in the field. Children and Disasters Norma Gordon, Norman L. Farberow, Carl A. Maida, 2013-06-17. When disaster strikes, survivors suddenly find themselves in a world that has become confusing and unfamiliar. Such traumatic events impose severe psychological strain on every member of a community, but children are a particularly vulnerable group requiring special attention. Children and Disasters addresses the needs of this specific population by examining the impact of major disasters on the mental health and emotional functioning of children. The programs described in this book are designed to provide early intervention to children and families undergoing stress reactions to a catastrophic event. The authors offer interventions aimed at enhancing the skills of mental health professionals, educators, and peer counselors in responding to the intensified demands of disasters. These intervention approaches provide information regarding the event itself, reinforce the legitimacy of the anxieties and fears that children and their families are experiencing, and encourage the expression of feelings in group and individual settings for the younger child through drawing and play. Furthermore, they build on the coping capacity of individuals and their families and provide concrete coping skills and techniques to alleviate stress reactions. The intervention model can be applied to programs for individual children and their families, multi-family groups, and groups for children in mental health, educational, and community settings. The practical, hands-on approach to program design makes this book an attractive resource for mental health professionals, social workers, rehabilitation specialists, professional and volunteer counselors, and suicide intervention workers. It will also be useful for school personnel, including teachers, school counselors, and administrators, as well as federal and state emergency planners and coordinators. Responses to Iben Browning's Prediction of a 1990 New Madrid, Missouri, Earthquake Geological Survey (U.S.), 1993. U.S. Geological Survey Circular, 1992. Psychological Debriefing Beverley Raphael, John Wilson, 2000-10-12. A balanced critical review of psychological debriefing by an eminent international team published in 2000.
