Winning Tennis with the Tactical Point Control System John Ruder, 2019-01-18 Tennis is not a game for the faint of heart. It is one of the few sports where a player must not only keep score but also act as both umpire and referee. A tennis match has no time clock, no halftime, no timeouts, no substitutions, and can last anywhere from thirty minutes to four hours. During that time, players may run over five miles and hit well over a thousand shots. In the end, both the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat rest solely upon the player's shoulders. So what can a player do today to win more games than not? John Ruder relies on thirty-five years of coaching and teaching tennis to share a Tactical Point Control System that breaks the tennis point into four distinct phases, teaches competitors how to play in each phase, provides a checkpoint system that allows players to discover why they are winning or losing each point, and shares guidance on how to develop a game plan that enables players to better compete against opponents of all levels. Winning Tennis with the Tactical Point Control System shares a simple and effective game plan that allows tennis players to excel in the game and score points against their toughest opponents.

Gardens of Gold Jamon Alex Halvaksz, 2020-08-31 This is a soya bean. The Biangai villager explained a money bean. Since the start of colonial gold mining in the early 1920s, the Biangai villagers of Elauru and Winima in Papua New Guinea have moved away from planting yams and other subsistence foods to instead cultivating coffee and other cash crops and dishing for tradable flakes of gold. Decades of industrial gold mining land development conservation efforts and biological research have wrought transformations in the landscape and entwined traditional Biangai gardening practices with Western capital disrupting the relationship between place and person and the social reproduction of a community Drawing from extensive ethnographic research Jamon Halvaksz examines the role of place in informing indigenous relationships with conservation and development How do Biangai make meaning with the physical world Collapsing Western distinctions between self and an earthly other Halvaksz shows us it is a sense of place grounded in productive relationships between nature and culture that connects Biangai to one another as placepersons and enables them to navigate global forces amid changing local and regional economies Centering local responses along the frontiers of resource extraction Gardens of Gold contributes to our understanding of how neoliberal economic practices intervene in place based economies and identities

A Lady of Quality & His Grace of Osmonde

Frances Hodgson Burnett, 2019-01-06 A Lady of Quality Set in the 17th century England the novel relates the life of young Clorinda girl raised by her harsh and utterly disreputable father He forces to wear boys clothes teaches her to ride horse like a man her language is crass and her behavior is unconventional for a lady Tired of such life Clorinda decides she must change if she wants to attract a decent man and provide a decent life for herself When she does meet a man she thinks is good for her the trouble appears in the form of a former lover she no longer wants His Grace of Osmonde is the sequel to A Lady of Quality Duke Gerald of Osmond is a well built handsome gracious and kind nobleman who has all the gifts nature can bestow When he sets his eyes on Clorinda for the first time she is a gorgeous mess the swearing boisterous tomboy daughter of a reckless and wasteful father Gerald is patient knowing that fate and nature will tame her and bring them together but he also fears that his futur bride will be ruined by the world before she settles with him
