Learning for Specialized Domains provides an exploration of the latest developments in technology enhanced learning and the processing of languages for specific purposes. It combines theoretical and applied research from an interdisciplinary angle covering general issues related to learning languages with computers, assessment, mobile assisted language learning, the new language massive open online courses, corpus based research and computer assisted aspects of translation. The chapters in this collection include contributions from a number of international experts in the field with a wide range of experience in the use of technologies to enhance the language learning process. The essays have been brought together precisely in recognition of the demand for this kind of specialised tuition offering state of the art technological and methodological innovation and practical applications. The topics covered revolve around the practical consequences of the current possibilities of mobility for both learners and teachers as well as the applicability of updated technological advances to language learning and teaching particularly in specialized domains. This is achieved through the description and discussion of practical examples of those applications in a variety of educational contexts. At the beginning of each thematic section readers will find an introductory chapter which contextualises the topic and links the different examples discussed. Drawing together rich primary research and empirical studies related to specialized tuition and the processing of languages

Technology Enhanced Language Learning for Specialized Domains will be an invaluable resource for academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education, computer assisted language learning, languages and linguistics and language teaching. Bridging the Knowledge Divide Stewart Marshall, Wanjira Kinuthia, Wallace Taylor, 2009-04-01. In many international settings, developing economies are in danger of declining as the digital divide becomes the knowledge divide. This decline attacks the very fabric of cohesion and purpose for these regional societies, delivering increased social, health, economic and sustainability problems. The examples in this book will provide leaders, policy developers, researchers, students and community with successful strategies and principles of ICT use in education to address these needs. This book will discuss how educational technology can be used to transform education and assist developing communities to close the knowledge divide. It will provide comprehensive coverage of educational technology in development in different professions and parts of the world. The book will provide examples of best practice, case studies and principles for educators, community leaders, researchers and policy advisers on the use of educational technology for development. In particular, it will provide examples of how education can be provided more flexibly in order to provide access to hitherto disadvantaged communities and individuals. AN EMPIRICAL ANALYSIS OF VARIOUS ECONOMIC ISSUES IN INDIA, Mr. SRI GURURAGHAVENDRA

K M, 2024-05-18. The agriculture industry plays a major role in the overall economic growth of the world. However, there is limited discussion on the management of agricultural waste in the published literature. It could be related to the fact that agriculture industry is not regulated as the municipal solid waste (MSW), the MSW mainly governed by public entities such as municipalities and hence the generation and management data are collected, recorded and analyzed in the public domain.
