Reading Between Texts Danna Nolan Fewell, 1992-01-01 Intertextuality the reading of one text in terms of another is a diverse practice It is a central and prevalent subject in poststructuralist literary theory Reading between Texts is the first book to address intertextuality as it relates specifically to interpretation of the Hebrew Bible The contributors bring together lucid theoretical discussion and sophisticated interpretations from a variety of backgrounds offering biblical scholars and students a helpful and thorough introduction to the issues and possibilities of intertextuality The Literary Currents in Biblical Interpretation series explores current trends within the discipline of biblical interpretation by dealing with the literary qualities of the Bible the play of its language the coherence of its final form and the relationships between text and readers Biblical interpreters are being challenged to take responsibility for the theological social and ethical implications of their readings This series encourages original readings that breach the confines of traditional biblical criticism

Inventions of Reading Clayton Koelb, 2019-06-30 Where do writers of fiction get their ideas Clayton Koelb here takes issue with those who regard inspiration or imitation as primary forces influencing literary invention He finds that another mechanism which he calls rhetorical construction underlies much fiction and some nonfiction as well Rhetorical construction Koelb says is a way of producing writing out of reading The rhetorical writer begins by discovering an interpretive crux in a familiar text a passage from the Bible for example or a commonplace expression and then proceeds to imagine a fictional situation in which all the meanings of the passage contradictory though they may seem may be realized According to Koelb inventions of reading do not stop with the discovery of the eternal and inevitable deconstructibility of language they somehow generate an urge to put language back together through the invention of a fictional world Among the texts he discusses are writings by Boccaccio Rabelais Goethe Schiller Kleist Hawthorne Hans Christian Andersen Nietzsche Kafka Calvino and Flannery O Connor

Gillam, 2002 Reading Rhetorically is an aims based rhetoric reader that teaches students how to read rhetorically and to write about what they have read with rhetorical insight The collection which organizes its selections by rhetorical aims or purposes offers readings for rhetorical analysis so that students can apply rhetorical processes in their own writing Two important features distinguish this reader from others 1 emphasis on reading as an interactive process of composing meaning and 2 emphasis on academic writing as a process in which writers engage with other texts Reading Rhetorically teaches students how to see texts positioned in a conversation with other texts how to recognize their bias or perspective and how to analyze texts for both content and method

Lyon, 2004-06-11 The relationship between an author's and an audience's intentions is complex but need not preclude mutual engagement This philosophical investigation challenges existing literary and rhetorical perspectives on intention and offers a new framework for understanding the negotiation of meaning It describes how an audience's intentions affect their interpretations shows how audiences negotiate meaning when faced with a writer's undecipherable intentions and defines the scope of understanding within rhetorical situations Introducing a concept of intention into literary analysis that supersedes existing rhetorical theory Arabella Lyon shows how the rhetorics of I A Richards Wayne Booth and Stanley Fish as well as the hermeneutics of Hans Georg Gadamer fail to account for the complex interactions of author and audience Using Kenneth Burke s concepts of form motive and purpose she builds a more complex notion of intention than those usually found in literary studies then employs her theory to describe how philosophers read Wittgenstein s narratives metaphors and reversals in argument Lyon argues that our differences in intention prevent consistency in interpretations but do not stop our discussions deliberations and actions She seeks to acknowledge difference and the communicative problems it creates while demonstrating that difference is normal and does not end our engagement with each other Intentions combines recent work in philosophy literary criticism hermeneutics and rhetoric in a highly imaginative way to construct a theory of intention for a postmodern rhetoric It recovers and renovates central concepts in rhetorical theory not only intention but also deliberation politics and judgment

Remaking Transitional Justice in the United States James Edward Beitler III, 2012-11-09 Remaking Transitional Justice in the United States The Rhetoric of the Greensboro Truth and Reconciliation Commission explores rhetorical attempts to authorize the Greensboro Truth and Reconciliation Commission a grassroots U S based truth commission created in 2004 to redress past injustices in the city Through detailed rhetorical analyses the book demonstrates that the development of the field of transitional justice has given rise to a transnational rhetorical tradition that provides those working in the field with series of enabling constraints The book then shows how Greensboro stakeholders attempted to reaccentuate this rhetorical tradition in their rhetorical performances to construct authority and bring about justice even as the tradition shaped their discourse in ways that limited the scope of their responses Calling attention to the rhetorical interdependence among practitioners of transitional justice this study offers insights into the development of transitional justice in the United States and in grassroots contexts in other liberal democracies The volume is a relevant guide to scholars and practitioners of transitional justice as it brings into relief mechanisms of transitional justice that are frequently overlooked namely rhetorical mechanisms It also speaks to any readers who may be interested in the communicative strategies tactics that may be employed by grassroots transitional justice initiatives

Cunningham, 2020-01-01 Understanding Rhetoric A Guide to Critical Reading and Argumentation is a composition textbook that outlines three essential skills rhetoric argument and source based writing geared towards newcomers and advanced students alike Though comprehensive in its coverage the book's focus is a simple one how to move beyond a gut reaction while reading to an articulation of what is effective and what is not while explicitly answering the most important question of Why This text gets at this central concern in two fundamental ways First the text teaches composition as a cumulative process coaching you how to question challenge and expand on not just the readings you hold in your hands but also how to interrogate the internal processes of writing and thinking The book's blend of composition methods detail the cross point of product and process to turn reading and writing from a matter of coming up with answers to questions to learning what type of questions need to be asked in the first place The right questions the text argues are fundamentally rhetorical in nature Second the content of the practice based chapters is framed into a larger mesh of intellectual history to show how the writing and thinking you are doing today is continuous with a long history of writing instruction that goes back to the ancient world This book provides equal representation from classical and contemporary theory with the recognition that theory cannot be fully grasped without practice and practice cannot be fully understood without its theoretical antecedent After all you can't
